GLYNN ASKS AID TO CLEAN STATE

Invites Chamber of Commerce to Help Him by Investigating Its Departments.

PROMISES BUSINESS RULE

Tax and Banking Law Reforms on His Programme—Budget to End "Pork Barrel."

WE'LL HELP, SAYS CHOATE

Jokes About Wilson's Mexican Policy, but Praises President at Commerce Dinner.

Gov. Martin H. Glynn called upon the members of the Chamber of Commerce at the 145th annual dinner last night in the Waldorf-Astoria to enlist with him under the banner of efficiency and economy to give the State a business administration. With upraised hand and in a ringing voice that reached every corner of the grand ballroom, he pledged himself to the welfare of the people. Then he asked for volunteers, saying that it was his intention, if the business men would stand by him, to appoint a commission of from fifteen to twenty-five from their membership to make a thorough investigation of all State departments with the end in view of bringing about a thorough reorganization which would place them on a business basis.

Joseph H. Choate, who followed the Governor, told Mr. Glynn to take his pick and that every man selected would serve.

"I'll take you all," the Governor replied.

Gov. Glynn said he believed that many hundreds of thousands of dollars could be saved in this way.

"I have no ambition at present, except to serve the people of New York," he said. "Help me to put the roads and the canals on a good basis; help me to do away with sinecures, and, though I go out of office on Jan. 1, 1915, I will go out content that I have done something for my fellow-men."

Mr. Choate, in a forty-minute address, talked about the Mexican situation, the tariff, and other national problems. He did not know, he said, just what the Mexican policy was, and doubted if even Mr. Wilson had any very definite idea of it. But he added that the President undoubtedly had information which others knew nothing of, and that, come what may, it was the duty of every American citizen to stand by the President through thick and thin. He scouted the war rumors.

Finds Some Reason to Rejoice.

The dinner was the largest that the organization has held for years, and there were present representatives of most of the great business interests of the city and State. Gov. Glynn's frank and determined address, which seemed to be generally taken as another slap at Tammany politics and Murphyism, evoked a great outburst of applause.

John Claflin, President of the chamber, presided, and the others at the speakers' table were James Talcott, Capt. Albert Gleaves, U. S. N., Augustus D. Juilliard, A. Barton Hepburn, Bishop David H. Greer, Senator Root, Mr. Choate, Gov. Glynn, Alton B. Parker, Jacob H. Schiff, Dr. John H. Finley, Major Gen. Thomas H. Barry, U. S. A., and Charles R. Miller. The ballroom was decorated with American flags and banners bearing the seals of all of the States.

In his preliminary remarks Mr. Claflin said in part:

"We come together this evening in a spirit of unrestrained thanksgiving. We have heard of crop failures throughout the country, we have been threatened with severe business depression, we have noted the dangers of international finance, and we have felt that war clouds—European, Oriental, and American—might indirectly or directly result in storm to us. But we come now to this Nov. 20 with 19 per cent. of our average national crops assured us with business proceedings about as usual, with the conditions of international and national finance gradually improving, and with the prospect of general peace except in Mexico, becoming more favorable throughout the world. And so we rejoice in our own seasons with a some what qualified joy. And so we

Mr. Claflin then introduced, and spoke in his address of, Choate, who was greatly honored in being invited at it was at his first dinner, he said, and because, because, Governor, he said. He had doubted all other invitations, but felt it to be as much his duty to be present and talk to the members of the Chamber of Commerce as it was to be present and talk to the members of the Chamber of Commerce as it was his duty to be in the executive chamber tomorrow of Commerce as it was his duty. And," he said, as Governor of this State, I pledge to-night every atom of energy I have and every cent in the State treasury to lend to aid honesty in the business interests of this great empire State. My hand in my head to aid honesty in business and to lend to aid honesty in the business interests of this great empire State."

Mr. Choate, in a forty-minute address, talked about the Mexican situation, the tariff, and other national problems. He did not know, he said, just what the Mexican policy was, and doubted if even Mr. Wilson had any very definite idea of it. Welcomes the British Cruisers.

The President does not interpret the sending of two British warships to the Mexican coast as a sign of British interference. He feels rather that their presence will relieve the American squadron, divided between Vera Cruz and Tuxpam, of the grave responsibility of guarding English rights in a territory where evidently the lives are very feeble to every one connected with Lord Cowdray's holdings. It was at first reported that three British cruisers would go to Vera Cruz, but the British Embassy explained to-day that the State Department had been informed yesterday that only two cruisers were going—one to Tampico, near Tuxpam, and one to Puerto Mexico, south of Vera Cruz.

The British oil interests, which few days ago seemed likely to be threatened by the approach of the revolutionists to Tampico, have again been thrust into the foreground of the Mexican situation. The request made then by representatives of the British oil syndicate has now been formally renewed through an appeal by Lord Cowdray, in London, to Ambassador Page. To-day the State Department received the Ambassador's dispatch conveying the wish that the United States would afford all possible protection to the oil properties at Tampico, Tuxpam, and in the oilfields inland which are threatened by rebel leaders for the purpose of levying tribute for the Carranza cause. While Great Britain and other foreign powers have expressed their willingness to rely upon the United States for protection, practically all the European powers have ships in Mexican waters to look after their citizens and their property interests. It is known that no agreement for a concert of action or the landing of a joint force has been reached or broached. The British ships will probably be commanded by Captains who will act under independent orders from the home Government.

Some slight anxiety arose to-day in navy circles as to this move on the part of Great Britain because of the possibility of confusion in the matter of rank. If an Admiral were sent in command of the British ships he would rank Rear Admiral Fletcher, and in the remote contingency of an expeditionary force real friction might ensue.

Oil Properties Are Threatened.

That there is some immediate peril to the oil tanks at Tampico and Tuxpam was indicated by the information from Rear Admiral Fletcher that at the request of Rear Admiral Bousb he had sent the battleship New Hampshire to Tuxpam. This movement was made without instruction from Washington and without knowledge of the Washington authorities until after the New Hampshire was on her way. The Louisiana is already at Tuxpam, and there was keen speculation to-day to understand why the New Hampshire was needed there unless some impending danger to the oil works was threatened. The New Hampshire had started for Tuxpam before the State Department received notice that the British vessels were being sent, and that Lord Cowdray had asked for protection by this Government of his oil properties in Mexico. The Nebraska and the cruiser Wheeling are at Tampico, the Rhode Island, Michigan, New Jersey, Chester, and the Tacoma are at Vera Cruz.

Secretary Bryan said to-day that he had communicated to the Navy Department the request of Lord Cowdray that his properties be protected by the United States forces in Mexican waters. The communication was telegraphed to Admiral Fletcher last night. Admiral Fletcher has already been instructed by Secretary Daniels as to his authority for landing marines or bluejackets to protect Americans or foreigners and their property. Secretary Bryan said to-day that he did not care to say whether instructions had been sent to Admiral Fletcher to land a force to guard the oil properties. From the nature of the property to be protected and the fact that the tanks might be set on fire by a very small force of irresponsible men, it is believed that Admiral Fletcher, through the United States Consular officials, is keeping a careful watch. Some of the oil properties are several miles inland, and a protecting force could not reach them, even if unopposed, in less than a day's march.

The British oil interests in Mexico under the control of Lord Cowdray are centred at Tampico under the name of the Compania Mexico de Petroleo El Aguila, better known as the Mexican Eagle Oil Company, which also has refineries at Tuxpam. While these interests are British owned, most of the employes of the company at Tampico and Tuxpam, it is said here, are Americans. Dr. Charles Willard Hayes, well known in Washington by reason of his twenty-four years of service with the United States Geological Survey, is First Vice President and General Manager of the Aguila Company at Tampico. Dr. Hayes was chief geologist of the United States Geological Survey on Oct. 10, 1911, when he resigned his post under the Government to become the General Manager in charge of the Cowdray oil interests, with headquarters at Tampico.

The State Department was advised today of the sailing from Yokohama of the Japanese battleship Izumo, which, it was announced last week, had been ordered to proceed to Mexican waters on the Pacific Coast. The Izumo will probably take station at Mazatlan, which port she will reach in about three weeks. The British cruisers going to Puerto Mexico will be the most modern, relatively fast ships, and will make 18 knots or more, probably reaching their destination by Saturday night.

When the British and Japanese cruisers, now on their way, reach Mexican waters, the foreign powers will be represented there by seven war vessels, while the United States already has fifteen ships of various tonnages off the two coasts. There are two German cruisers—the Hertha and the Bremen—at Vera Cruz, and one small vessel, the Nuernberg, is on the Pacific Coast.

The British will have two cruisers—the Berwick and the Lancaster—on the Atlantic side by to-morrow, while the whole West Indian Squadron is within easy call. France has sent the battleship Conde to Vera Cruz, and the Japanese cruiser, Izumo, is sailing for Mazatlan.

No estimate is obtainable here of the number of foreigners left in Mexico. The State Department consistently declines to make public the number even of Americans in the danger zone. Unofficial statements, however, have been made that 1,500 Americans are in the City of Mexico, while a still larger number is thought to be scattered through the country. Thousands of foreigners of all nationalities have left the country, but when the German Minister recently advised the exodus of his countrymen it was estimated that many hundreds of them were still in their colonies.

INSURES MEXICO BUILDINGS.

Lloyd's Writing Many Policies Against Rioting and Civil War.

LONDON, Nov. 20.—A surprisingly large amount of business is being offered to Lloyd's in connection with the Mexican trouble. Many of the large public buildings and business premises in Mexico City have been insured at a premium of 5¼ per cent. for six months against risks of damage from rioters or through a civil war or bombardment. Some of the underwriters are fighting rather shy of business at this figure.

The liability of Lloyd's for shipping losses during the recent storms on the great lakes is calculated at $7,500,000.

HUERTA GUARDED AS CONGRESS OPENS

Diplomats' Attendance Held by Mexicans to Disprove Agreement with Us.

LITTLE ENTHUSIASM SHOWN

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 20.—Guarded by troops which lined the avenues of approach to the Chamber of Deputies and with a personal escort of his crack regiment, the Twenty-ninth, President Huerta this evening entered the Chamber to address the newly convoked Congress.

Practically no applause greeted him until a member from Jalisco started a cheer by shouting: "Long live the defender of our national dignity!"

Thereupon cheers broke forth in the galleries, and some from the floor.

President Huerta occupied the place at the left of Señor Tamariz, the Speaker, Gen. Blanquet, who in accordance with usage, should have been on the floor of the House, having a seat at the President's left. Blanquet wore no sword, thus complying with the regulation of the Chamber that no side arms are allowed. He wore his uniform, however, with an empty scabbard.

At the back of the platform sat the members of Gen. Blanquet's staff and such members of Gen. Huerta's staff as had not been elected to the Chamber.

President Huerta took about ten minutes to read his message, which was not applauded until he had finished.

Speaker Tamariz answered in a speech about three minutes long. He was applauded when he acclaimed "the defender of the national dignity, President Huerta," and said that the Chamber was with the President when he was acting in this rôle.

The whole session passed off without any commotion, all the members being attentive, but undemonstrative. The absence of all the Catholic Party members with the exception of Tamariz was noticeable. It is understood that he intended to plead illness, but was warned against such action. It is believed that the consequences might have been serious if he had refused to attend the session.

All the members of the Diplomatic Corps of any importance were present except Nelson O'Shaughnessy, the American Chargé. Mr. O'Shaughnessy received instructions from his Government some time ago not to attend the opening of Congress. The attendance of the other members was commented upon by politicians and officials here, who say that this indicates that Europe is not supporting the American policy.

No Street Demonstration for Huerta

Dispatch to the Associated Press.

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 20.—Guarded by Federal troops, who lined the streets between the National Palace and the Chamber of Deputies, President Huerta early this evening entered the building in which his new Congress was convened in joint session, awaiting the delivery of his long-expected message. The crowds in the streets were small and undemonstrative.

His face showing none of that whimsical humor which sometimes characterizes its expression, the President read his message to the newly elected Senators and Deputies. Few Mexican Presidents have read at the formal opening sessions of Congress shorter communications, and few have confined themselves so closely to one subject.

The document was nothing more than a brief explanation of his motives for dissolving the old Congress, most of the members of which are now in the penitentiary, accused of sedition.

In his reply to the message, the President of the Chamber, Señor Tamariz, assured Gen. Huerta of the whole-hearted co-operation of Congress.

"If ever there should reign in Congress a patriotic ideal," he said, "it ought to predominate now as never before, and above all other sentiment."

To the Congress he said:

"Without doubt upon your work depends largely that the country with the aid of its good sons should make a supreme effort in order not to fall in the ruin and humiliation which threaten it. On this account, you come here animated by the purest patriotism, prepared to lay aside ambitions, personal interests, and even political resentments and rancor in order to work unitedly for a supreme ideal—the preservation of our nationality."

Promises Backing to President.

In that part of his address, directed to President Huerta, he said:

"You have made a call upon the patriotism of the Senators and Deputies composing the Congress. I believe I interpret faithfully the ideas and purposes of the members of both houses in assuring you that all are resolved to comply with their duty, and that love for the fatherland will be the sentiment that will inspire and govern us in our proceedings.

"We should above all work for conciliation and concord, making a constant effort within the province of our action to bring about union and peace, not only within our own assemblies, but also throughout the whole republic, and were we not disposed to accomplish a really national work, we should not have responded to your call.

"Mr. President, you have taken the oath and have solemnly promised to place the national dignity above every ambition and paltry interest. In this course we shall always be with you. You may depend upon our decided co-operation in your noble and supreme effort to preserve the integrity and autonomy of the nation, which you have maintained to this day.

"You may depend also upon our assistance in all the efforts you may make inward the work of peace and the unification of all Mexicans."

Not all the Congressmen were present. Twenty-seven of them failed to put in an appearance, and most of these were members of the Catholic Party, to which Tamariz belongs. It had been announced that the Catholic members had held a meeting and decided not to participate in the session, and this gave rise to the baseless rumor that the Speaker himself would not preside.

The new Congress showed many faces familiar during the days of Porfirio Diaz—so many that the exiled ruler would have felt entirely at home had he stepped into the Chamber.

The Congress is composed for the most part of a quiet lot of men, representative of the older and more conservative element, and Gen. Huerta appeared to realize this while reading to them his message in a grim, straightforward manner, such as had not been observed in the Chamber in recent years.

Gen. Huerta drove from the Palace to the Chamber through files of soldiers, most of whom were detailed from the crack Twenty-ninth Regiment, whose men participated in the coup d'état at the Palace in February. He entered the building, while the bands were playing the national air.

President a Stern Figure.

Acknowledging the plaudits and vivas of the Congressmen and spectators, as he moved down the aisle, by a series of military salutes, instead of the grave bows which characterized his old chief, Porfirio Diaz, Gen. Huerta looked a stern figure. Like the Congressmen, he was in evening clothes, the only touch of rank being the tri-colo. across his breast.

The only country not represented was the United States. Nelson O'Shaughnessy, the Chargé d'Affaires, acting under instructions, was absent from the session.

Sir Lionel Carden, the British Minister, was a few minutes late, and his delay in arriving gave rise to the rumor that he, too, had been instructed to absent himself.

It was a carefully selected audience. Tickets were necessary for admission to the building, and part of the space was occupied by police and plain clothes men. There were a few empty chairs.

In the entire audience there were perhaps ten women, but none representative of the city's fashionable element, in contrast to the days when the women of high society planned long ahead of time to obtain seats.

A technical violation of the law created comment. Gen. Huerta's staff filed in, wearing side arms. It is specifically provided that no armed soldiers shall ever appear on the floor of the House, and custom has ordained that officers, appearing in uniform, must do so with empty scabbards.

But the swords in evidence at the sides of the members of Gen. Huerta's staff appeared to emphasize the fact that this is a military administration.

Outside the building, throughout the session, a strong force of soldiers guarded all the approaches; patrols rode the streets for several blocks around, and still other troops were stationed in small detachments further out.

The Congress held a short preliminary session before the arrival of Provisional President Huerta, when the Speaker, Eduardo Tamariz, formerly Minister of Public Instruction, formally declared open the second period of the twenty-sixth Mexican Congress.

Señor Tamariz is the Catholic Deputy whose nomination as Minister of Public Instruction by Provisional President Huerta was opposed by the Liberal Party in the last Congress and this opposition was cited by Gen. Huerta in his previous defense of his action in dissolving Congress as one of the contributory causes to the step he had taken. His selection as Speaker is regarded as a further rebuke to the Deputies of the old Congress imprisoned by Huerta.

Still Think He May Resign.

It is regarded here to-day as not entirely impossible that Provisional President Huerta, after having, through the ratification of the new Congress, relieved himself from the danger of being called to account for his acts by some future Administration, might be brought to the point of self-elimination through the efforts of the foreign powers supporting the United States Government.

The Provisional President is said by those believed to be in a position to know to have been persuaded that he must resign and to have named Manuel Garza Aldape, former Minister of the Interior, as the man he desired to succeed him, when the insistence of John Lind, the personal representative of President Wilson, upon the abolition of the new Congress caused him to change his attitude and reject the idea of resigning.

Mr. O'Shaughnessy, the American Chargé, stated early to-day that he had not received any fresh indication from the State Department at Washington as to his future action.

Much interest is expressed among the general public as to the intentions of the United States Government at this crisis in the affairs of Provisional President Huerta's relations with the new Congress after receiving the notification that the United States would view it with disfavor.

CALLED CARRANZA'S BLUFF.

Hale Did Not Ask Him to Return for New Negotiations.

Special to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

NOGALES, Ariz., Nov. 20.—It has leaked out to-night that Gen. Carranza's all and two days' sojourn at Magdalena had purposes other than those of fulfilling social obligations. It is asserted on the authority of a Mexican official here, who was not speaking for publication, that the plan was to remain within easy reach of Nogales in the hope, if not the expectation, that William R. Hale would make overtures for the Constitutionalist leader's return to conference. In other words, Gen. Carranza made a bluff, and Dr. Gale called it.

Americans arriving to-night from Empalme, near Guaymas, which is within the Federal lines, report that W. S. Felix, an American citizen and employe of the railroad, who left Empalme for this place several days ago, was arrested by Constitutionalist soldiers on reaching their lines, and is still incarcerated on the charge of firing upon the rebels. Felix's friends say that the charge is ridiculous, and is only a pretext to hold him because he is a half-breed, his mother being a Mexican. They have succeeded in getting his case before the American Consul at Hermosillo, Louis Hostetter, who is taking steps to help Felix.

It is also reported on the same authority that Gen. Ojeda's Federal forces at and near Guaymas are throwing up defensive earthworks, presaging preparations for holding the city. It is said that they are far from demoralized, as recently reported from Constitutionalist sources.

MAGDALENA, Sonora, Nov. 20.—Gen. Carranza stayed in this little town to-night and purposes to leave here early to-morrow for Hermosillo. After a short stop there he intends to proceed south and enter upon a vigorous campaign in Sinaloa.

Gen. Gilberto Camacho, commander of the Constitutionalist forces in Puebla, reported to Gen. Obregon progress to-day. Carranza to-night. He said he had 8,000 men in the field, had taken eight towns, and was preparing to lay siege to Mexico City when revolutionists from other States supplied support.

Gen. Obregon and Gen. Francisco Villa said he had executed only seven Federal officers captured last week in Juarez.

DOUGLAS, Ariz., Nov. 20.—The reason for Gen. Carranza's abrupt departure from Nogales was that Dr. William Rayard Hale proposed that the Constitutionalists lay down their arms and submit to an election being held, according to Constitutionalists here. Gen. Carranza, they said to-day, realized that it was impossible to comply with these conditions and left Nogales without seeking further negotiations looking toward recognition of the rebels by the American Government.

BROWNSVILLE, Texas, Nov. 20.—Demoralized Federal troops, driven out of Victoria, the capital of Tamaulipas, when the Constitutionalists captured that city on Tuesday, were again encountered by rebels yesterday between Tula and Tampico and defeated in a one-sided battle, with a loss of thirty killed and forty-five captured, according to official reports received at Matamoras, Mexico, to-day from Gen. Pablo Gonzales, the rebel commander.

Gen. Gonzales said that Gen. Aguilar and Gen. Arzamendi, commanders of the defeated Federals, had abandoned their troops and were fleeing to Tampico.

Gonzales also reported that he was preparing for a simultaneous attack upon two cities, one of which is believed to be Tampico.

GLYNN ASKS AID TO CLEAN STATE

He Calls for Volunteers.

Just as his thousand or more auditors were settling back expecting to hear a semi-humorous address, Gov. Glynn turned his talk in another channel. He said that he hoped he would not be nicknamed "The Scolder" or "The Wrangler" if he suggested that the business men of the State and the country should more willingly than they are now or have been in the past to sacrifice their private interests and hold public office.

"I do not believe," he said, "that the business men have taken their proper place in running our government or in writing our laws. I believe we could well afford to imitate England in this respect. If we had more business men in office the country would be better off.

"Now, I come before you to-night with a proposition. Not long ago Senator Aldrich said he could save the United States Government millions of dollars every year if he could run it on business principles. I believe what he said was true, and I know that New York State could save much money if business men were allowed to overhaul and bring up to date the antiquated and overlapping system which to-day prevails in many of our State departments.

"I would consider it the biggest thing that I could do in my administration if I could inaugurate this system. And I tell you to-night that if there are enough prominent business men in this State of all political parties who are willing to devote their time and their services to serve on a commission to devise a business system for New York State similar to the one that Senator Aldrich proposed for the United States Government, I will be pleased to name them as a commission to overhaul and improve the system upon which New York's business is conducted. I am sure that if this dinner to-night will give birth to this movement, it will save in the years to come the taxpayers of New York State a princely sum.

"I would like to inaugurate such a movement, and in that desire to-night I beg the assistance of every member of this body, and of every business man in the State. I have the power of appointment, and I will exercise that power of appointment if I can find enough prominent business men in this State willing to volunteer under the banner of efficiency and economy.

To Revise Tax and Banking Laws.

"For the first time in the history of the State we are going to inaugurate in Albany this Winter a budget system similar to that which has prevailed in England. Eventually this budget system will wipe out the supply bill which has been the pork barrel for the government of this State. It would wipe out this Winter if it were not for the deficiencies in the different departments which were inherited from a vicious system of years standing. The great benefit of this movement may not be felt completely this Winter, but if continued it will bring about a saving which will merit the approval of every business man in the State.

"We have on foot at Albany two other projects which I am sure will meet the approbation of this body. One is to revise our tax laws, which have not kept step with the march of progress. In the last fifty years New York has made no important change in its tax laws. We are away behind some of the smaller States of this Union in our taxation system. Our system is archaic, and we are going to try to improve it so that it will be worthy of the dignity and prominence of this Commonwealth. We have under way a revision of the banking laws which, if we can complete before the next Legislature adjourns, we hope will provide a model banking system for every other State in the Union.

Common Sense Solves All Problems.

"My friends, a word more and I am through. We are entering on a new era in politics. The humanitarian element is going to play a larger part in our public questions in the next twenty years than it has in the last generation. This sociological trend of thought, prominent to-day in all walks of life, is going to upset many traditions and rewrite many precedents. This situation was bound to come with the ascendency of manhood suffrage, and those who try to stop it are playing the foolish part of old King Canute when he tried to bid the waves of the ocean to recede from their shore.

"Some men fear this new movement, many business men dread it; but to my way of thinking they see ghosts where there are only shadows. And to those who hold this fear I would say that history offers the consolation that the people at large, the populace, have at no time been guilty of a fault in which the representative few have not been equally guilty at some other time; that the representative few have never exhibited a virtue which the people of the populace have not displayed on some other occasion. The old theory of the flow and the ebb, the positive and the negative, the balance and the counter-balance running through all nature. Thought runs in cycles the ages through, and the brains of mankind seldom lose their centre of gravity. Important problems, tremendous problems, appalling problems, face us to-day; but common sense, common courage, mutual forbearance, and the golden rule will solve our problems of to-day just as they have solved all problems since man was man.

Gov. Glynn's plan, as he has outlined it, is to appoint a commission of twenty-five members of the Chamber and from them to select an Executive Committee of nine to carry on the burden of the actual investigations. The findings of the Executive Committee would then be submitted to the general commission. He hopes in this way to devise some means to eliminate politics from the management of the departments. If it is found that Constitutional amendments are needed, it is his desire to have a comprehensive plan to take before the next Constitutional Convention.

Stand by Wilson, Says Choate.

Joseph H. Choate, former Ambassador to the Court of St. James's, received a warm welcome when introduced by Mr. Claflin. He said that he did not intend to make a serious address, but shortly was discussing National problems. First, however, he referred to the Chamber of Commerce as "a great pillar of commercial integrity, morality, and a success" since its foundation.

He complimented Gov. Glynn on his address. Of President Wilson's Mexican policy he said:

"Well, what is the most stirring question to-day that agitates the hearts of the American people? Its name has been mentioned several times, but it really is Mexico. What are we going to do with Mexico, or what is Mexico going to do with us? I should like very much to discuss the question of the policy of the United States of America in regard to Mexico. I think I could occupy the whole evening with that, if I only knew what that policy was. (Laughter.) At best, there is only one man who knows what that policy is, and he very wisely keeps his own counsel and won't tell. And I am not sure that even he knows. (Renewed laughter.) I am not sure that we are not all drifting with him at our head from day to day, and even from hour to hour, waiting, waiting, like Micawber, to see what may turn up.

"It is a very trying situation; it is a very dangerous situation; but one thing I know, and for one thing I appeal to the heart and head of every gentleman present in this chamber to-night, that in this trying situation there is but one duty for all of us, and that is to stand by the President of the United States. (Applause.)

"You may call it diplomatic business; you may call it Executive business, but it is fair to assume that the President is in possession of information vastly superior to that which even all of the members of the Chamber of Commerce of the State possess. He knows what he is talking about. He knows what he is aiming at. One thing we are sure of, that he is for peace; that he is for preserving peace at all hazards, and that by no act of his shall this nation be plunged into a destructive and a dreadful war. (Applause.) He is entitled to that from us without regard to party and without regard to creeds. We must stand by our President through thick and through thin, and we shall come out right in the end.

"I would discourse more largely on the Mexican question if I understood it better. I have talked with Mr. Root here, foremost in the Senate of the United States, and he has been unable to enlighten me."

This sally brought laughter and applause. Continuing, Mr. Choate said:

Finds Fun in the Income Tax.

"This President of ours has been in office now for nine months, and he has been working very hard, with the most honest purpose in the world, with, as I believe, no desire in his heart except to serve the American people with the best of his ability, and he has accomplished a great deal. He has passed a bill for the reformation of the tariff. I do not know whether that is a sore or joyful subject in this company (laughter,) but for one I think he has done exceedingly well in that business. He has satisfied the yearnings of the American people that have been suppressed for the last twenty years. Then he has mixed it up with the income tax. That, you know, is one of the most popular subjects before us to-day. (Laughter.) Mr. Root tells me that notwithstanding all the urgent purpose of Congress to avoid discrimination, they have brought to time upon the domestic relation, upon the conjugal relation, a very serious discrimination, that if a husband and his wife live together they can have only an exemption of $4,000, but if they live separately and apart—and keep quarrelling—they can have two exemptions of $4,000 each."

Outlook Bright to Him.

Mr. Choate said that he had been told Wall Street was rather blue, but that he did not believe it.

"I believe there never was a time when the prospects of the people of the United States were brighter and greater than they are to-day," he said. "I think what he thought, and closed his address with a short talk about conditions in New York, first asking in mock dread if any Tammany representatives were present. The election of another reform administration, he said, would resurrect the character and raise the credit of the whole corporate body.

"You can't do better than that," he said. "We have a common enemy, a public enemy—I don't know whether its representatives are here to-night—if there are any Tammany Hall men here to-night I wish they would stand up and be counted; if they would only stand up and be counted it would be perfectly delightful—like Huerta, they are in danger of being starved out. Four years more of such an administration as we have had in the last four years is sure to bring safety to the people, and to put the finances, the character, and the credit of this city upon a basis that shall be unfailing."

Alton B. Parker said that Gov. Glynn occupied the most trying position a New York Governor ever occupied, but that if he followed out the course indicated he would win the confidence and affection of the people of the State because he would render a service such as had not been rendered for a long time.

Dr. John H. Finley spoke of the brilliant address made by Mortimer Schiff as Chairman of the Committee on Commercial Education, which culminated in the recent announcement of a gift of $700,000 for the erection of a building to be used for a college of business and administration. Dr. Finley pointed to Jacob H. Schiff when he mentioned the gift and said he was not sure but that he was siding to the side of "anonymity," but Mr. Schiff smilingly shook his head.

Among those who sent regrets were John Wanamaker, Mayor Riine, and Rear Admiral Robert E. Peary. On the seating list were Robert Adamson, Joseph Bairoch, Augustus Belmont, Cornelius N. Bliss, Jr., Thatcher M. Brown, James G. Cannon, Starling W. Childs, Henry Clews, Robert C. Clowry, Henry P. Davison, Joseph P. Day, M. Hartley Dodge, Frank N. Doubleday, Abram I. Elkus, Samuel W. We Want to Find These People Within an hour's walk of City Hall Square are hundreds—maybe thousands—of business men who are looking for just such a machine as the Ellis.

We want to find these people.

They want an adding machine. But they want more. They want a machine that will do their adding, the billing, write the cash book and journal, the monthly statements, and a lot of other things that a straight adding machine cannot do.

The Ellis is that machine.

May we put one in your office on trial?

MEXICANS DEMAND WE YIELD MADEROS

Gen. Maas, Commander at Vera Cruz, Asks Our Consul to Surrender Them.

WASHINGTON IS INFORMED

Freed from Prison Wednesday, They Took Refuge Under Our Flag, Expecting to Sail Away.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

VERA CRUZ, Nov. 20.—Gen. Maas has asked the American Consulate to surrender Evaristo and Daniel Madero, who took refuge there after the Government had granted them liberty from prison under a small bail.

Consul Canada has asked Washington for instructions as to whether he shall deliver the men or not.

The Morro Castle sailed this afternoon with very few American passengers.

VERA CRUZ, Nov. 20.—Evaristo Madero, Daniel Madero, Seandro Aguilar, Andres Aguilar, Antonio de la Paz and Santro Moro, all relatives of the late President Madero, took refuge in the American Consulate here this afternoon. All were released yesterday from the fortress de San Juan Ulloa, where they were incarcerated several weeks ago charged with sedition.

On their release from prison they went to a local hotel where the wives of the two Maderos were stopping. It was the intention of the entire party to sail for Havana this afternoon on board the steamship Morro Castle, their release having been effected on nominal bail bonds and their travelling being that the Government would oppose no objection to their departing from the country.

The Morro Castle was watched closely by secret police through the day until she sailed at 5:30 o'clock this afternoon. Just before sailing time the Maderos presented themselves at the American Consulate and said that they had received word that a warrant was out for the arrest of themselves as relatives and that all of them were to be taken to Mexico City. They requested Consul Canada to give them asylum, and the Consul acquiesced.

The Consulate notified Washington and is awaiting instructions as to further action in the case.

ALDAPE SAILS FROM HAVANA.

Bound for Paris on Financial Mission—Still Loyal to Huerta.

HAVANA, Nov. 20.—Manuel Garza Aldape, who last Sunday resigned the portfolio of Minister of the Interior in the Cabinet of President Huerta of Mexico, sailed from Havana to-day on board the steamer Espagne. He is bound for Paris.

Señor Aldape said while in Havana that he was in harmony with President Huerta, and the members of his Cabinet. He added that his services were required in France for the purpose of strengthening Mexican credit abroad. He thought the economic situation in Mexico was a difficult, but not a critical one.

MUSN'T INTERVENE, SAYS N. O. WINTER

Cheaper to Pay All American Losses Than to Send Troops to Mexico.

REBELS' AIMS DESCRIBED

Cabrera Says the Constitutionalists Plan to Develop a Middle Class.

WORCESTER, Mass., Nov. 20.—"Intervention should not even be thought of by the United States," said Navin O. Winter, author of several books on Latin-American countries, in addressing the Clark University Conference on Latin-America to-day on "The Fundamental Causes of the Present Situation in Mexico."

From a standpoint of dollars and cents, he added, it would be cheaper for Uncle Sam to reimburse all losses sustained by Americans than to incur the expense that intervention would involve.

Mr. Winter expressed the opinion that the present disturbed condition of Mexico "is probably the final transition to the dawn of a new era."

"The paroxysms now shaking the country in rebellions and treacheries," he said, "mean the recovery of Mexico ultimately to peace and prosperity. A strong man must arise, a leader of enough force of character to draw the people to him and to oppose any chieftain who may wish to create trouble for his own personal aggrandizement."

Mr. Winter attributed present conditions to past methods of government in Mexico, to the great estates held by the wealthy and to the system of peonage.

He said that nearly everything complained of by the Mexicans themselves and criticised by people of other nations could "be traced either to the effect of heredity or environment."

An exposition of the point of view of the Mexican Constitutionalists was given by Luis Cabrera, former leader of the Mexican House of Representatives.

"The reason for the instability of Mexican conditions," he said, "is the absence of a middle class. Without the middle class, there is no real social equilibrium, no peace, and no democratic form of government. The Constitutionalist movement tends toward the formation of a middle class through the creation of favorable conditions of life for the masses.

"The colonial policies of Spain in Mexico contributed largely to the creation of privileged classes. Large tracts of land were granted to soldiers and to the Church, and thousands of Indians were compelled to live upon and work the lands so granted. The independence of Mexico in 1810 did not materially change the condition of the masses. The great landed estates owned by wealthy families still remain in their possession and are at the present time responsible for Mexico's economical crisis.

"Owing to the dictatorial personal powers exercised by Gen. Diaz from 1870 to 1910, the people of Mexico have not had an opportunity to test their Constitution; but study and recent developments have proved that in certain particulars the Constitution of Mexico is not fitted for the needs of the people. The problem now confronting the Constitutionalist Party is the promotion of favorable conditions creating a middle class. This must be accomplished by political reform measures as well as by the enactment of agrarian laws having in view not only a division of land among small farms and cheap credit, but as well as ultimately to divide the large estates into smaller tracts of land.

Opposite views of the influence of Yankee capital upon Mexican affairs were presented by Edward N. Hurley, former President of the Mexican Central Railway Company, and Professor Frank A. Cram, of Clark University, who has traveled extensively in Mexico. Mr. Hurley upheld Diaz for his encouragement of foreign capital in industrial and economic development.

Prof. Wells said that Diaz, although he accomplished much, gave a "lopsided administration."

Referring to the present situation in Mexico, Prof. Wells said: "The foreign Governments desirous of intervening in the disorders should beware of forcing a compromise between the opposing forces and should give little heed to the demands of those who are more interested in securing present returns from their Mexican investments than they are in bringing permanent happiness to Mexico."

At the evening session John Barrett, Director of the Pan-American Union, warned the public against treating the greatest crisis in the hundred years of the country's relations with South America with the impatience characterized by the comment of many speakers, writers, and editors.

DR. H. H. TINKER A SUICIDE.

New Yorker Injects Poison at His New London Country Home.

Special to The New York Times.

NEW LONDON, Conn., Nov. 20.—Dr. Horace B. Tinker, 55, a physician of New York City, died to-day at his summer home on Pequot Avenue here from a mysterious poison taken Wednesday night by means of hypodermic injections into his arms and legs. He had been living in his summer home for several weeks alone, except for his chauffeur. The latter discovered him in a comatose state late Wednesday night.

On Dr. Tinker's dressing table the chauffeur found a letter in which the doctor announced his intention of quitting this world and gave specific instructions to the Coroner, should that official decide to hold an inquest. He never recovered consciousness, in spite of heroic efforts by physicians, who tried various antidotes without obtaining a reaction. They were handicapped by lack of knowledge as to the poison or combination of poisons injected.

Dr. Tinker's widow lives in New York City. She is said to be wealthy.

Dr. Tinker's name appears in the city telephone directory opposite the address, 1,257 Washington Avenue. A man who said he was Dr. W. Bayard Long answered a call to Dr. Tinker's number. Dr. Long said that Dr. Tinker gave up his practice three years ago and moved to New London, keeping his New York telephone connection at Dr. Long's office so as to be in touch with some of his former patients.

Dr. Long had not heard of the suicide. He did not know where Mrs. Tinker was staying in New York.

PLEAD FOR VICTIMS OF RUSSIAN TYRANNY

Eminent Men Sign Appeal Drawing Attention to Ill-Treatment of Political Prisoners.

OVER 40,000 SINCE 1905

8,000 Executed and Many Thousands Sent to Siberia—Death by Slow Torture in Jail.

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

LONDON, Friday, Nov. 21.—There is being published throughout Europe this morning a protest against the ill-treatment of political prisoners in Russia. It bears nearly fifty signatures of politicians, scientists, artists, and men of letters of European repute.

It is declared in the protest that since the Czar's manifesto of October, 1905, promising liberty to the people of Russia, over 40,000 persons have been sentenced for political offenses. Of these over 3,000 have been executed and more than 10,000 thrown into the horrible "katorga," or hard labor prisons.

The tercentenary of the Romanoffs, it is stated, scarcely affected the political prisoners. Their terrible sufferings have not been mitigated. The prisons are overcrowded to such an extent that it is impossible for them to rest even on the bare floor. Absolute starvation and the most barbarous treatment are their daily portion.

The prisoners become victims of all kinds of epidemics, and very often the prisons become centres of infection for the surrounding districts. Those sentenced to long terms of imprisonment, chiefly political prisoners, are in actual fact condemned to a cruel form of slow death.

A veritable epidemic of suicide has developed among the prisoners, says the protest. The unhappy prisoners see in suicide the only way of escape.

Most tragic is the fate of those tens of thousands of political exiles, of whom most are deported to Siberia without trial, but simply by the arbitrary action of the Administration. Most of them are sent to frozen wastes, where they are unable to obtain necessary food, clothing, and housing, and where they perish.

The signatories of the protest, who say they join together to publish the facts so that the world may know them and form an opinion, include the following: Lord Lytton, J. W. Edgwood, M. P.; J. Ramsay Macdonald, M. P.; Sir A. Conan Doyle, H. G. Wells, Jerome K. Jerome, Prof. Gilbert Murray, Prof. J. B. Bury, Laurence Irving, Sir Victor Horsley, and Maurice Hewlett.

LEPERS' HOME FOR LONDON.

Movement to Found It—Doctor Says Opera Singer Was a Leper.

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

LONDON, Nov. 20.—An announcement by Sir Malcolm Morris, an authority on skin diseases, that a movement has been started to establish a home for lepers in London is warmly welcomed by medical men. A high medical authority said to-day:

"The number of lepers in London is doubtful, but I know of eight cases. The total number in the British Isles is estimated at from fifty to a hundred.

"There need be no alarm as to contagion in this country as far as leprosy is concerned. It is practically unknown. I know of a leper who was an omnibus conductor for several years. I also know of an opera singer, a leper, who charmed audiences nightly. A medical man, also a leper, lives entirely by himself in rooms in the West End, and goes out only at night."

Dr. Phineas S. Abraham, surgeon in charge of the skin department of the West London Hospital, speaking to the Royal Medical Society to-day, said:

"A few weeks ago I came across the case of a medical man who has been in England for six years and has studied at two hospitals. Although he has been going about among doctors, I was the only one to discover that he was a leper. He has been suffering from the disease for twelve or fifteen years."

KAISER HAS A BAD COLD.

Was Compelled to Cancel an Engagement at Berlin Yesterday.

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

BERLIN, Nov. 20.—A telephone message from Potsdam at 9 o'clock to-night states that the Kaiser is suffering from a severe cold and was obliged to keep to his room to-day, though not to his bed. He had to cancel an engagement in Berlin to-day.

It is stated that there is no cause for uneasiness.

The Kaiser expects to leave Potsdam on Monday to shoot with Prince Max Egon zu Fürstenberg.

WOMEN SET OXFORD FIRE.

Big Blaze on River Front—Sylvia Pankhurst Escapes Police.

OXFORD, Friday, Nov. 21.—A large fire is raging early this morning in a big lumber yard on the river front.

Three women were seen to leave the vicinity shortly before the fire started and a quantity of suffragette literature was found in the yard.

It is presumed that the blaze was started by suffragettes because David Lloyd George, the Chancellor of the Exchequer, will visit Oxford to-day.

LONDON, Friday, Nov. 21.—Sylvia Pankhurst again escaped arrest after having delivered an inflammatory "No Rent" speech at Canning Town last night.

About fifty policemen were outside the hall, but Miss Pankhurst came through the main entrance surrounded by a strong bodyguard. She reached her motor-car and got away in safety.

According to The Daily Mail, the authorities cautioned the police to avoid a conflict with Miss Pankhurst's "East End army," and therefore they allowed her to escape.

SILVER CUP BRINGS $1,415.

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

LONDON, Nov. 20.—The highest price in the sale to-day at Christie's of the J. H. Fitzhenry collection of English and foreign silver was $1,415, for a standing cup and cover. An inscription on it says that it was given to the church at Geldi, Holland, by Jonkheer Johan van Welwelde in 1649. It is 14¾ inches high and weighs 26 oz. 13 dwt.

A Louis XVI. silver-gilt beaker, five inches high, weight 11 oz. 2 dwt., Paris, 1778, from the Doistau collection, brought $840.

A Louis XVI. rose-water ewer and dish, weight 62 oz. 18 dwt., Paris, 1778, went for $760, and a similar piece, weighing 62 oz. 5 dwt., brought $1,000.

A pair of parcel-gilt cups, made in Nuremberg, no date assigned, was knocked down for $785.

ALSATIAN RECRUITS MOVED.

Action Due to Feeling Against German Officer Who Insulted Them.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BERLIN, Nov. 20.—Demonstrations against a young Lieutenant at Zabern, Alsace, who on Nov. 11 applied a contemptuous term to Alsatians, were followed to-day by transfer of all the Alsatian recruits from the Zabern garrison to Colmar, Neubreisach, and Freiburg.

The newspaper, The Alsatian, asserted three days ago that the offending Lieutenant said to the recruits: "For all I care you can defile the French flag." Military authorities promptly denied the allegation. The Alsatian now repeats it, "with full consciousness of our responsibility under the press law."

There are indications that the last has not yet been heard of this affair.

MME. MONTESSORI STARTS.

Famous Educator Leaves Rome to Give Course of Lectures in America.

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

ROME, Nov. 20.—Mme. Montessori, the inventor of the Montessori system of the education of children, who has finally been induced by S. S. McClure to go to America, left here to-day with him and will sail on the liner Cincinnati, arriving at New York on Dec. 3.

Mme. Montessori has been congratulated by many friends here on her decision, including Queen Margherita, who has always followed with interest the development of her work. The Queen wished her great success in the lectures she is about to give in the principal American towns.

NOT LIKELY TO EXHIBIT.

Austrian Government's Attitude to the Panama Fair Changed.

VIENNA, Nov. 20.—After the interview of a delegation to-day with the Minister-President and the Ministers of Commerce and Public Works, Austrian manufacturers and merchants retain little hope that the Government will participate in the Panama-Pacific Exposition. They are particularly irritated by the suggestion of the Minister of Public Works, O. Trnka, that the manufacturers should first raise a fund of $40,000, when perhaps the Government might supplement the amount. They regard this as petty bargaining, unworthy of a Minister of a great monarchy.

It is probable that some of the manufacturers will ultimately decide to send exhibits to San Francisco, even if they have not the support of the Government. Much surprise is felt at the change in the attitude of the Ministers, who a few weeks ago appeared to be favorable to participation, but are now raising all sorts of objections, as though they have been influenced by the action of the German and British Governments.

GERMANS DISCOVER A 'MARRIAGE CRISIS'

Alarmed by the Great Increase in the Number of Divorces in Recent Years.

MARRIAGES ARE DECREASING

Ninety-six Divorces to 100,000 Persons in Berlin in 1911—62 Per 100,000 in 1901-1904.

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

BERLIN, Nov. 20.—Germany, which for some time past has been expressing alarm at the falling birth rate, has discovered a new sign of social decadence. It is a "marriage crisis."

The latest statistics show an extraordinary rise in the number of divorces obtained in Germany. For instance, there were 15,780 divorces in 1911, or 24 per 100,000 inhabitants, against 12,180, or 20 per 100,000, in 1906. It is believed that when the next set of statistics is published a further increase in the number will be reported.

The statistics relating to Berlin are even more remarkable, showing an average of 96 per 100,000 in 1911, against 62 per 100,000 for the period 1901 to 1904.

What makes the "marriage crisis" all the worse is that, while the number of divorces is rapidly increasing, the number of marriages is decreasing. The number of marriages per 100,000 inhabitants in 1906 was 8,200; in 1911, 7,800.

ASKS THE LOUISE AS RELIC.

Paris Figaro Wants France to Have Boat That Traversed Canal.

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

PARIS, Nov. 20.—The little steamboat Louise, which made the first passage of the Panama Canal, is a relic of the French enterprise and is associated with historic recollections, wherefore the Figaro this morning proposes a public subscription to enable the French authorities to purchase her from the United States and keep her as a souvenir.

The boat was sent to Panama more than twenty-five years ago and was intended to be used as a tug. On Feb. 28, 1886, the Louise conveyed Ferdinand de Lesseps, his son, and a delegation of members of the Chamber of Commerce to the mouth of the Rio Grande. The spot where she anchored is near the point where the works for the port of Balboa have just been begun. The arrival of the Louise was hailed by an army of black laborers.

She returned to Panama and for years was the regular boat used by the agents of the French company in crossing the bay. When the disaster to the French enterprise came the Louise was temporarily abandoned. Years passed before work on the canal was resumed, then, with the rest of the French material, the vessel became the property of the United States Government.

The Louise, says The Figaro, ought henceforth to be sacred to Frenchmen, and she deserves a place of honor in a French port on her coming retirement.

Rockhill Takes Leave of Sultan.

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Nov. 20.—The retiring American Ambassador, W. W. Rockhill, was received in farewell audience by the Sultan to-day. To-morrow a reception will be given to him by the Americans here, and he will leave Constantinople on Monday. His successor, Henry Morganthau, is expected next Tuesday.

WAITED IN VAIN FOR GHOST

But Mgr. Benson Believes in Faith Healing and Other Phenomena.

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

LONDON, Nov. 20.—As an experimenter in psychical research Mgr. Robert Hugh Benson, a son of the late Archbishop of Canterbury, who was converted to Catholicism ten years ago, related some curious personal experiences to members of the City Temple Literary Society to-day.

Mgr. Benson observed that he had spent three nights in "the worst haunted house in England" without any result. He could claim to possess a ghost in the house he now inhabited, but had never seen it. He used to practice hypnotism twenty years ago. Under the direction of his uncle, Prof. Henry Sedgwick, the society's first President, he hypnotized two lads, 17 and 18 years old.

Mgr. Benson described how these boys by suggestion were made to see a circus in a glass of water and also a cow climbing a church steeple.

Mgr. Benson proceeded to relate how at a country house where he was staying a newly wedded wife was found to be an extraordinarily good recipient of thought. It was decided that she should be willed to come into the middle of the company and take off her shoes, but she had an overmastering modesty, and her practical faculty compromised the matter with her sub-conscious self by taking off her husband's shoe.

On the subject of faith healing the lecturer declared that miracles still happened. He himself saw no fewer than seven one afternoon at Lourdes. "At one of the grottoes at Lourdes," he said, "we have healed a broken leg instantaneously. I hold that greater powers are involved than belong to the human personality. I hold that the supernatural power of God produces these cures, and that that power is drawn out by the touch of faith."

AUSTRIA PARTLY RELENTS.

Canadian Pacific May Resume, but Emigration Business Is Barred.

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

VIENNA, Nov. 20.—The Austrian Government has informed the Canadian Pacific Company that the business of the company in Austria other than immigration business may be resumed. The authorities at the same time have agreed to the appointment of a new general representative of the company in the person of Herr Velt, who was for some time an Austro-Hungarian Consul in the United States.

The Canadian Pacific Company is therefore now at liberty to resume freight, first and second class passenger, and observation-car business, which was suspended a few days after Mr. Altman's arrest, and to reopen its offices in Vienna and Trieste.

With regard to the other agencies of the company in Austria, special permission will be required before they can be reopened.

TYSON & CO. TICKETS GO TO PATRONS NOW

witness gave a different version of the delivery of the tickets to Richard J. Hartman of Tyson & Co. and of his ride in a taxicab with Mr. Hartman to the Metropolitan Trust Company.

The relations of the Metropolitan Opera Company to the ticket agencies in general, and with Tyson & Co. in particular, were explained to the court by John Brown, Controller of the Opera Company. Mr. Brown denied that the ticket agencies were the authorized agents of the Metropolitan Opera Company. He explained that their services cost the Opera Company something like $30,000 a year. Asked what was the value of the seats allotted by the Metropolitan Opera Company to all the ticket agencies, Mr. Brown said approximately $400,000. At the box office of the Metropolitan Opera House he said that there were only 110 or 150 orchestra seats out of 1,028 seats available every night to the public. He said that the agencies were allowed a commission of about 10 per cent. on the price of the orchestra seats.

R. W. K. Anderson, Assistant Treasurer of the Metropolitan Trust Company, was asked about the delivery of the opera tickets which the trust company sends through its temporary box office in the Hotel Manhattan, of which Mr. Anderson had charge. Mr. Anderson was unable to say when he knew first that the tickets pledged as collateral on the loan had been paid for by subscribers.

When Vice President Chew was called as a witness, Assistant District Attorney Train submitted for his identification a number of letters alleged to have been written by Tyson & Co. before and after the time when the ticket agency made arrangements for opening an account with the Metropolitan Trust Company. One of these letters, dated Sept. 15, contained a request for a loan of $40,000, which Mr. Chew said was not granted. Another letter, of Oct. 20, referred to the same subject, and another letter, of Oct. 23, dealt with the same matter. Mr. Chew identified a note made Sept. 18 and payable Nov. 8.

"Before the note was signed, had any money been given to Tyson & Co.?" asked Mr. Train.

"No," said Mr. Chew; "it's credit was placed on the books."

"The tickets were there when the note was signed?"

"Absolutely."

"Were any arrangements made by you personally as to how this loan should be paid off?"

"I first had knowledge that $40,000 was paid on account of the note and that Mr. Hartman had asked that collateral be released. A certain part of the collateral was withdrawn on the request of Mr. Hartman."

"How was it selected?"

"It was selected by Mr. Hartman."

At the request of Assistant District Attorney Train, Mr. Chew told of the circumstances as he knew them under which Mr. Hartman went to the Metropolitan Trust Company for a loan.

Negotiations for Tyson Loan.

"It went back about a year ago," said Mr. Chew. "Mr. Hartman first came to our office and said he was a friend of Gen. Ives, formerly President of the Metropolitan Trust Company. When he came back a second time, about a year later, I remembered him, and finally he made the proposition on which he obtained the loan."

The receipt of the Metropolian Opera Company, with the recapitulation of the tickets allotted to Tyson & Co., was identified by Earle Lewis, Treasurer of the Metropolitan Opera Company, who was recalled as a witness after the examination of Mr. Chew.

Then Mr. Train said: "Now I understand that you have somewhat refreshed your recollection as to the facts connected with the delivery of the tickets to Tyson & Co., and if you wish to correct your statement of yesterday you are at liberty to do so now before leaving the stand."

Mr. Lewis, who had testified that he had asked Mr. Hartman "merely in a joking way" if he was going to use the tickets as collateral, when he was in a taxicab with Mr. Hartman on the way to the Metropolitan Trust Company, gave this version of the delivery of and payment for the tickets:

"Mr. Hartman came to the Metropolitan Opera House and gave me a check for $100,000 balance on the $153,000 allotment of tickets which I delivered to him through our porter. I started out of the box office, when Mr. Hartman, who was passing through our office, asked me where I was going. I said, 'To the Metropolitan Trust Company,' and he invited me to go in the taxicab with him. I went to get the check certified.

"When did you ask Mr. Hartman if he was going to use the tickets as security for a loan?"

"I remember now; it was after we left the trust company."

"When did you get the impression that the tickets were going to be put in the safety deposit vaults?"

"Going down in the taxi."

John Brown, Controller of the Metropolitan Opera Company, said that he had no knowledge of any arrangements with Tyson & Co. for the sale of subscription seats. When he became Controller about three years ago, he said, he found that the so-called hotel ticket agencies had subscribed each year for a certain allotment of seats which they renewed. The agencies paid formerly one-third on the delivery of the tickets and were required to pay the other two-thirds due within thirty days. Metropolitan opera tickets were allotted to Tyson & Co., Tyson Company, Fred Rullman, and the McBride and Miller agencies, he said.

"Were the terms under which the agencies took the seats the same for each one?"

"Absolutely," the witness replied.

Mr. Brown said that the old arrangement was discontinued because some of the men at the head of the agencies had died, and the Metropolitan Opera Company, doubting that the tickets were issued on sufficient security, decided to demand cash payment for the allotments. He said that Mr. Hartman was notified last June that he would have to pay cash for his allotment of tickets.

"Had Tyson & Co. acted as authorized agents for the Metropolitan Opera Company up to that time?"

"I had never regarded them as acting for the Metropolitan Opera Company," Mr. Brown said.

"Did you formerly allow each agent 10 per cent. of the box office price?"

"Only on the orchestra seats."

"How much did the allotments of tickets made to all the agencies amount to each year?"

"I think it amounted to about $400,000."

"And that is about the same amount for each year?"

"It has never changed to my knowledge."

"And what reduction has the Metropolitan Opera Company made to these agencies in the box office prices?"

"Reductions have been made only in the orchestra seats. The reduction was 50 cents on the box office price for each seat.

"And what has that amounted to?"

"About $25,000 or $30,000."

"And what advantage does the Metropolitan Opera Company receive from the services of these agents?"

"Nothing. It is an expense."

"Why, then, did you do business through these channels?"

"Because the public wanted it."

"But couldn't you have made additional arrangements at the Opera House or established branch offices to accommodate the public?"

"The general conditions that had existed in the years past made us feel under obligations to the ticket agencies."

Exhibit 4, a circular letter announcing the plans for the operatic season of 1912, on the letterhead of the Metropolitan Opera Company, and closing with the request that all communications be addressed to Tyson & Co., was shown to Mr. Brown. He said he had never seen such a circular, and that it was not authorized by the opera company. He said it was a "fac-simile" of a circular letter sent out by the Metropolitan Opera Company.

"Did the Metropolitan Opera Company encourage the public to go to Tyson & Co. for their seats?"

"Not to my knowledge," replied Mr. Brown.

The last witness was Assistant Treasurer Anderson of the Metropolitan Trust Company. At the end of his testimony Mr. Train rested the people's case, and then Magistrate Deuel announced that the proceedings would be adjourned until 2 o'clock this afternoon.

BRITISH CABINET DIVIDED.

Split Over the Ulster Question—Most Members for a Compromise.

LONDON, Friday, Nov. 21.—Premier Asquith's compromise offer to the Opposition leaders on the Home Rule bill is being delayed, according to The Daily Mail, by serious dissension within the Cabinet regarding what solution of the question shall be offered.

The paper says that Winston Spencer Churchill, the First Lord of the Admiralty; David Lloyd George, the Chancellor of the Exchequer; Sir Edward Grey, the Secretary for Foreign Affairs, and Viscount Haldane, the Lord High Chancellor, favor the exclusion of Ulster from the bill, while Augustine Birrell, the Chief Secretary for Ireland; Reginald McKenna, the Home Secretary, and Walter Runciman, the President of the Board of Agriculture, belong to what may be called the fighting party, which will resist the exclusion of Ulster, is willing to offer only small concessions, and is ready to impose home rule on Ulster by force of arms.

"It need only be said," adds The Daily Mail, "that the Ulster volunteer force now numbers 90,000 men, zealous to fanaticism, who are armed with 38,000 rifles and are obtaining more daily."

A Live Arloiver Cricket

Arloiver is a red-headed Cricket, full of freckles and fun. You will find him in the new book called "The House of Happiness." The book has a woman in it, and a girl, too, and some Soul-winners who'll soon be friends of yours. Kate Langley Bosher tells us about them, and she wrote "Mary Cary."

JOE, THE BOOK FARMER.

The best champion corn-raiser's story is a new book of success, called "Joe, the Book Farmer." It is no good a book that one State board has adopted it for regular reading and more than one other State has sent it broadcast. Garrard Harris wrote it and he tells a real story.

THE MAIN ROAD

Up, up the main road goes this woman, and a wonderful woman's journey it is from sentimentalism to passion. It is told in a new book called "The Main Road," by Maude Radford Warren. You will like these pages of life—of a girl's catching up with her dream of love.

THE JUDGMENT HOUSE

Woven of the Veldt and of London comes this story-fabric revealing the destinies of two nations, the lives of two men, and a woman like Cleopatra influencing the careers of empire-builders by her beauty and cleverness. It is a new book called "The Judgment House," and Sir Gilbert Parker wrote it. Would your judgment be influenced by knowing that it was the best-selling novel in the United States for two consecutive months? This is the fact.

CARROLL MEN SCORE IN PRIMARY TRIAL

Ex-Senator Harden Admits Relatives Registered from His Home in Brooklyn Contest.

WARNED NOT TO PROTEST

Witness Says Inspector Told Him He Would Be Killed If He Opposed Carroll's Methods.

At the close of yesterday's session of the trial of State Senator Daniel J. Carroll, Democratic leader of the Queens County organization, on a charge of perjury in connection with the primary election of Sept. 25 last, Justice Crain, in the Supreme Court, Jamaica, ordered the jury locked up for the night. The jurors were ordered to report at 10 o'clock this morning, when the trial will be resumed.

Ex-Senator Thomas C. Harden, one of the defendants, was on the witness stand when court adjourned. He had been under cross-examination by Assistant District Attorney William Fitzpatrick. He admitted that he had registered from the house in Metropolitan Avenue and voted at the primaries, although he lives on Hewes Street, Queens borough.

"Yes, but you have told me at your house to vote at the primaries according to your own mere whim," said Assistant District Attorney Fitzpatrick, "and isn't it a fact that he registered from your house for political purposes, so as to give you one more vote?"

Mr. Harden admitted that his newspaper was for the primary campaign.

The witness admitted that his nephew and Felix, who work for him, stayed at his house for the primary campaign.

Mr. Sides asked the witness about another brother, who lives in Flatbush, but who was supposed to have a voting residence at 128 Metropolitan Avenue, a house owned by ex-Senator Harden. This brother, it was brought out in the cross-examination, registered and voted from the Metropolitan Avenue address. The witness denied that this brother registered and voted in the Fourteenth Assembly District to help him in his fight against Senator Carroll.

Senator Harden on direct examination asserted that when he protested against the disorder at the primaries Michael Rosenthal, one of the Election Inspectors, said:

"For heaven's sake, Mr. Harden don't say anything or you will get killed."

While several witnesses for the prosecution were standing in Lexington Street outside the Court House yesterday afternoon two of them were knocked down by an automobile which ran up on the sidewalk to avoid a collision with a trolley car. George Moerls of 65 Metropolitan Avenue was injured seriously. The wheels of the automobile passed over him and he was removed to the Long Island College Hospital. Charles Rowan of 141 North Third Street, the other person knocked down by the auto, was not hurt.

SALE OF NAPOLEONANA.

A Mezzotint by C. Turner Brings Best Price at Auction.

Prints of the battles of Napoleon and events of his life and portraits of his Marshals and Generals, his Cabinet, adversaries, and celebrities of his reign were disposed yesterday afternoon and evening in the William T. Latte sale at the Anderson Auction Company's rooms. The highest price was $62.50, paid by Joseph F. Sabin for a rare mezzotint by C. Turner, after Masquerier, entitled "Bonaparte Reviewing the Consular Guard." This was published in London in 1802 by the artist. Turner. William Patten paid $20 for "Napoleon Signing the Concordat," by Bernardi; "Napoleon Inducing Pius VII. to Sign the Concordat," by Robinson, after Wilkie, and a lithograph by C. Motte after Champion, entitled "Concordat Signé Avec le Legat du Pape."

The grand total for Part II. thus far is $10,588. The final two sessions of this part will be held to-day.

A letter of Napoleon II., King of Rome, only son of Napoleon Bonaparte and Marie Louise, was bought for $15.50 by Charles Scribner's Sons at the Warren C. Crane sale in the American Art Galleries last evening. The letter is dated July 31, 1820, and expresses the writer's pleasure at hearing that the waters of Aix-la-Chapelle are of so much benefit to his mother. The unusual signature is "Nap," in imitation of his illustrious father, who signed frequently in this manner after the year 1806.

The grand total thus far is $9,238. Two sessions to-day will bring the sale to an end.

PLAN ANTI-TAMMANY FIGHT.

Temporary Committee of Jeffersonian Alliance Holds First Meeting.

The Temporary Committee of the Anti-Tammany Jeffersonian Alliance held its first meeting yesterday at the Reform Club and discussed plans for the establishment of an anti-Tammany organization to keep up a permanent fight on Tammany Hall. Beet Hanson was elected Chairman and Lawrence B. Dunham Secretary. The Chairman was authorized to appoint a committee of eleven to nominate members of a committee of 250. The alliance believes that Tammany Hall is not a Democratic organization, and that the Committee of 250 should proceed with the reorganization of the Democratic Party in this city.

Among those present were Robert Adamson, Steven B. Ayres, Edward M. Bassett, Ralph Polk Buell, Brinton Buckwalter, Henry De F. Baldwin, Charles C. Burlingham, Frederic R. Coudert, J. SULZER EXPENSES $1,367.

McAneny's Receipts Were $8,265 and Expenditures $8,240.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, Nov. 20.—William Sulzer had to go down in his pocket to the extent of $200 and Alexander S. Bacon, who was Treasurer of the William Sulzer Campaign Committee, Sixth District, representing the Progressive Party in the Sixth Assembly District of New York County, had to contribute 54 cents to make the receipts balance the expenditures for the campaign which was carried on to elect the deposed Governor an Assemblyman.

The receipts and expenditures, as reported by Mr. Bacon to the Secretary of State to-day, totaled $1,367. Among the contributors were two Chinamen, Quan Yick Nam and Young Nam, each of $5. The Socialist newspaper The Warheit gave $417 and Frank V. Strauss $300. All the other contributions were in small amounts.

Richard Deeves, as Treasurer of the McAneny General Committee of New York City, reports receipts of $8,265 and total disbursements of $8,240. The larger contributions were: Arthur Curtiss James, $1,000; George W. Perkins and Otto H. Kahn, each $500; Felix M. Warburg and Paul M. Warburg, each $300; V. Everit Macy, C. B. Comstock, Kuhn, Loeb & Co., W. H. Chesebrough, Max Nathan, William M. Brien, each $250.

BURY BOMB IN A LOT.

Police Catch Three Men After Black Hand Warning.

Police Captain Thomas J. Arlen left the Fortieth Station in Brooklyn at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon here instructed by the Lieutenant to watch for men of the Black Hand type as several threatening letters had been received recently by Michaels Pastorello, a coal dealer at 613 Forty-second Street.

Two hours later Policeman Buchanek saw three men who aroused his suspicions. Buchanek followed them and when he came to the posts of Policeman Arlen he found Policeman Buchanek had joined him.

The police saw the three men this time in a vacant lot between Thirteenth and Fourteenth Avenues, near Thirty-ninth Street. Buchanek crawled along and got to within 50 feet of the men. Arlen was in a position to intercept them if they attempted to escape.

Buchanek reported that the three men would frequently look over their shoulders and then resume digging. Finally one of the men stopped digging and, reaching into a hole, brought out a bomb and lighted the fuse. Then he and his companions ran away. To these

FUND GETS $186,369 ON ITS RECORD DAY

Women's Committee Carries Off the Honors with Subscriptions of $73,591.

GRAND TOTAL $2,849,380

Christian Associations Receive $25,000 from Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Archbold—Students in Campaign.

When the workers in the campaign to raise $4,000,000 for the Y. M. C. A.-Y. W. C. A. building fund gathered for luncheon yesterday at the headquarters at 25 Broad Street they were aroused to great enthusiasm by the announcement that new subscriptions of $186,369 had been received.

It was the record day of the campaign. The previous high-water mark was made on Monday, when contributions of $172,201 were reported. The subscriptions reported on Monday were made between Friday and Monday, while yesterday's subscriptions were the result of only twenty-four hours' work.

George W. Perkins, Chairman of the Executive Committee, smiled broadly when he said:

"When I announced yesterday that we could get $50,000 by raising $100,000 there wasn't a cheer. Well, we got it, and we can get more. The hardest thing we have had to do was to get this amount between $2,500,000 and $3,000,000. We are well on the way to $3,000,000. We can get it by to-morrow with the same amount of work we put forth to-day. Let us make that our slogan."

The subscriptions of yesterday raised the grand total to date to $2,849,380, and the hands of the clocks in various parts of the city were sent toward 12 o'clock. The Women's Committee led all others, with gifts amounting to $73,591, and the Executive Committee was second, with $50,000, while Mrs. Francis Louis Slade had the pleasure of beating her husband by nearly $48,000.

Several large gifts were announced yesterday. John D. Archbold sent this letter, which was read by Mr. Perkins:

Mr. Dear Mr. Perkins: I have your favor of yesterday and have talked the matter over fully with Mrs. Archbold. We feel alike as to the magnificent character of the proposition on which you are working, and beg to congratulate you and your associates on the progress thus far made, and wish for you the fullest measure of success in the accomplishment of the desired amount. We feel that you are doing a great service to the community.

You may put us down, Mr. and Mrs. John D. Archbold, for $25,000, of which my subscription will be $20,000 and Mrs. Archbold's $5,000.

I desire that our subscription should be credited through Team 24, of which Mrs. Carroll J. Post, Jr., of 151 West Fifty-seventh Street is a member, and through whose intelligent and zealous presentation our interest has been increased in this matter.

A contribution that came as a surprise to the campaign leaders, because it was entirely unsolicited, was one of $25,000 from Mrs. John D. Rockefeller, Jr. Mrs. Rockefeller made her gift through the Harlem Women's Committee.

Cleveland H. Dodge added $25,000 to the $250,000 he had subscribed previously. Mr. Perkins added $25,000 to the $50,000 subscribed by himself and his wife. The last amount subscribed is to be employed in helping to carry out the plan to establish a boarding house for the Y. W. C. A.

Mrs. Henry M. Flagler gave $10,000, and there was an anonymous gift of $5,000 by the same person who recently contributed $15,000 in memory of Robert R. MacBurney, the late secretary of the Twenty-third Street branch. The $5,000 gift yesterday was also in his memory. Other gifts of $1,000 or more were:

Dr. John H. Finley, retiring President of the College of the City of New York, and Robert Adamson, Secretary of Mayor Kline, were the guests of honor at the luncheon yesterday. Both praised the work and aims of the two associations and Mr. Adamson said that if he had the Y. W.-Y. M. C. A. workers with him while raising the Fusion campaign fund it would have been collected in one day without violating the eight-hour law.

A one-day campaign in aid of the cause was begun at 9 o'clock yesterday at the College of the City of New York and will end at 9 o'clock this morning. By that time it is expected that $500 will have been subscribed by the students. Sixty canvassers scoured the campus yesterday. A seven-foot thermometer was put up in the Great Hall which registered $400 at 9 o'clock last night, most of which was in small contributions.

TIMES FINDS MISSING BOY.

Butts Thought Teachers Disliked Him and Had Run Away.

Harry Butts, son of Stephen H. Butts, owner of the barber shop in the St. Regis, who disappeared from in front of the Public School at Eighty-ninth Street and Amsterdam Avenue on the morning of Nov. 7, is back at home. Harry simply had run away, and it was through the little story of his disappearance published in THE NEW YORK TIMES on Tuesday that he was found and brought back. Distracted over his disappearance the boy's parents had asked THE TIMES to aid in the search.

A workman in a tailor's shop in Newark read the story in THE TIMES and was impressed by the fact that the appearance of a boy who had come to work in the place only a week before tallied with the description of the missing lad. He cut out the story and laid it on the desk of the proprietor, where the latter found it on Wednesday morning. After reading it and asking the boy some questions, he telephoned to Mr. Butts. The latter immediately notified his wife, and she went over to Newark and found her son.

According to the story told by the boy, he had fallen out with a teacher who had been in school, and felt that he was in disfavor. He decided, after getting a bad report on the day before he disappeared, to leave home and make his own living. He walked from the school to the nearest ferry house, crossed to New Jersey, and by successive automobilists was carried as far as Montclair, where he found a home with the last man who had given him a ride. Seeing an advertisement that a boy was wanted in the Newark tailor shop, he applied for the job on Tuesday and got it. His employer gave such good reports of his work that his parents decided not to punish the lad, and he will be sent to a private school.

ALIENISTS TO SEE SCHMIDT.

Counsel Asks Court for a Commission to Test Murderer's Sanity.

Terence McManus, counsel for Hans Schmidt, the murderer of Ann Aumuller, applied yesterday to Judge Foster in the Court of General Sessions for the appointment of two alienists to examine Schmidt's mental condition. No decision was given on the request, but Judge Foster will probably grant it.

In opposing Mr. McManus' motion Assistant District Attorney Delahanty, pointed out that Schmidt was perfectly able to confer with counsel and had told Alphonse G. Koelble, his attorney of record, and the Coroner all the details of the killing of the girl. Furthermore he said four alienists for the State had already reported Schmidt sane.

Judge Foster said that the question of Schmidt's sanity would take only a short time for a commission to decide, and its findings, together with the report of the four State's alienists, could then be submitted to a special jury.

"But I want to warn you," said Judge Foster to Mr. McManus, "that if the issue of the defendant's sanity is decided before a special jury, you will be prevented from raising it during the trial of the defendant for murder."

BARNARD OPERA BENEFIT.

Metropolitan Performance on Jan. 3 for College Building Fund.

A gala performance of "Madama Butterfly" for the benefit of the Quarter Century Building Fund of Barnard College will be given on Jan. 3 at the Metropolitan Opera House. Geraldine Farrar will sing Butterfly.

Loyal Barnardites have been engaged for many months in the task of raising $2,000,000 to celebrate their Alma Mater's twenty-fifth birthday in 1914. The money is needed for new buildings, as the present quarters are very much overcrowded.

The end of the Christmas holidays was chosen for the benefit performance, in order that Barnard might profit by the Yuletide generosity. Already many alumnae are planning to give one another tickets to the performance for Christmas, and a plea sent out by the committee urges all Barnardites to turn over any checks they may receive as gifts to the Building Fund.

Miss Mabel Parsons is Chairman of the Benefit Committee, and Mrs. Ogden Mills heads the Patroness Committee. Associated with them are Mrs. George McAneny, Mrs. J. E. Corrigan, Mrs. Henry Wise Miller, Mrs. Alfred Hess, Mrs. Eugene Meyer, Jr., Miss Mary L. Eaton, Mrs. Robert Stevenson, Mrs. Mary S. Pullman, Miss Josephine Paddock, Miss Alice G. Chase, Miss Virginia Gildersleeve, Dean of Barnard College, and Mrs. Sigmund Pollitzer, President of the Associate Alumnae. Many of the first and second tier boxes will be occupied by the Trustees of the college and prominent alumnae.

HETCH HETCHY MEETING.

Protest Against Bill to be Voiced To-night at Natural History Museum

A series of colored views of the Yosemite and Hetch Hetchy Valleys will be shown at the public meeting to be held to-night at the American Museum of Natural History to protest against the Hetch Hetchy bill, now pending in the United States Senate. The meeting will be held under the auspices of the newly-organized National Committee for the Yosemite National Park, and the American Scenic and Historic Preservation Society, the New York Zoological Society and the Museum of Natural History.

The National Committee already comprises more than 300 representative men and women from all parts of the country and is constantly adding to its number. Robert Underwood Johnson, Chairman of the committee, will preside, and the various aspects of the question will be presented in addresses.

The pending bill, which has passed the House of Representatives, grants to San Francisco rights and franchises in the National Park relating to water for domestic uses and for hydro-electric power. The meeting is public.

To Test Mrs. Claussen's Sanity.

Judge Malone in the Court of General Sessions ruled yesterday that Mrs. Ida Claussen, who is under indictment for writing a threatening letter to Charles Strauss, President of the Board of Water Supply, should have her sanity tested by a jury. Dec. 1 was the date set for these proceedings.

Here's a Fine Offering of
Men's WINTER OVERCOATS
Men's FALL and WINTER SUITS
At $18.50
For $25 to $30 Grades

This is a jump over the hurdle of high price as clean as any blue-ribboned timber-topper ever succeeded in negotiating.

Sold on their merits, these Suits and Overcoats normally bring $25 to $30. They show their pedigree in every line. The cloths from which they are made are standard in texture, color and finish.

We are helping a few responsible makers disencumber themselves of good surplus lots—and only good ones.

Naturally we—and therefore you—are repaid for this work of distribution by welcome savings.

560 Winter Overcoats At $18.50

Big, warm Ulsters and three-quarter length styles, mostly quarter-silk-lined, in blue or gray Chinchillas.

Smart, dressy Chesterfields, in black and Oxford, fully silk-lined.

"Novelty" Overcoats in new Winter styles and colorings. Sizes 33 to 48 in one style or another.

408 Fall and Winter Suits at $18.50

Plain blue, rough, wide-wale cheviots, unfinished worsteds and serges.

Plain and fancy browns and grays, and fine mixtures.

New Fall models, mostly with soft rolled lapels and narrow shoulders. Also more conservative styles. Many of the Suits with patch pockets. All sizes, 33 to 46 chest.

Youths' $15 and $16.50 Winter Suits and Overcoats at $12

Sizes for 15 to 20 years—an offering that will please young men of critical taste.

R. H. Macy & Co.'s Attractions Are Their Low Prices.

Herald Square, Broadway, 34th to 35th St.

The Macy Restaurant on the Eighth Floor offers the best meal in the City at each of several prices. Excellent a la carte service also.

$22.50 CHINCHILLA OVERCOATS, $17.75

Warm, practical Coats, cleverly tailored on smart lines that give individuality and distinction to the wearer.

Winter-weight Fabrics are thick and heavy. Unless cut by a master of his craft, such materials hang in heavy, ungraceful, sack-like lines. So much depends upon the tailoring.

Macy's Overcoats are cut, tailored, and finished by men who are experts in their chosen field, who can impart the "bel air" and distinction to the most difficult fabrics, and whose pride it is to match or surpass the fine productions of the expensive custom tailor.

We illustrate on the left one of the several smart models at $17.75. The colors are blue, grey, and brown. (The Coat at the right is a Chesterfield at $19.75, described below.)

Both shawl- and notch-collar models are included, and in most cases the chinchilla is plaid-backed.

All have satin yokes and sleeve linings, patch pockets, and full back with belt. A few are semi-fitting. Lengths are 45 in. and 50 in. All sizes.

We have all sizes from 33 to 42, and almost surely have a Coat that is just right for you at the first try-on.

$25.00 Silk-lined Chesterfield Overcoats, $19.75

Most have the popular diagonal wale soft-roll front, combined with a semi-fitting back. Collar of silk velvet. Natural shoulders.

The length is 43 inches, and there is a deep vent. Hand-tailored throughout. All sizes in stock, with plenty of special fittings.

We call special attention to our stock of

Balmacaan Overcoats

These very smart Coats are cut according to the ideas of a famous sportsman, a member of the Scottish nobility, and give absolute freedom of movement to the arms. They hang loosely from the shoulders and have a distinctiveness and individuality that no other style possesses. Prices at Macy's, $19.75, $24.75, and $29.75, according to quality.

Men's and Young Men's Suits at $24.75

Cleverly designed along the lines of the smartest and newest American and English clothes.

Some exceptionally neat models have long, soft-rolling lapels and natural shoulders, and are semi-fitting. Other styles follow the more conservative lines of the popular three-button sack.

The fabrics include fancy mixed worsteds, cassimeres, tweeds, etc., in tan, black and blue mixtures, and in pencil stripes and club checks. All sizes from 33 to 44, and extra fittings from 38 to 46.

HOYT LEVY CO., 220 BROADWAY.

A DELIGHTFUL BOOK OF TRAVEL
My Voyage in the
U. S. Frigate "Congress"
1845-46
By Elizabeth D. Van Denburg
Realistic pictures of South American and Hawaiian life more than half a century ago. The day by day diary of a very bright girl while accompanying her parents on an eight months' voyage to Honolulu, her father, the Hon. Joel Turrill, having been appointed U. S. Consul General to the Sandwich Islands by President Polk. The ship touched at the chief South American ports, and things as they then were and the incidents of the voyage are most entertainingly described.
Frontispiece in color.
12mo. Cloth. Net $1.25.

A Person of Quality
By ASHTON HILLIERS
A unique novel. A competent critic says: "It somewhat resembles 'The Broad Highway,' but in my judgment excels that book. Notably in the manner in which it follows the development of Panshawe's character as well as his fortunes; also there is a very pretty mystery to hold the reader—many well-drawn characters, and one of the tenderest love stories I have read for many a day."
Frontispiece in color.
12mo. Cloth. Net $1.25.

A Term of Silence
By FORREST HALSEY
Because a story deals with the tragic experiences in a man's life does not, of necessity, deprive the reader of all the interesting thrills he has accustomed himself to look for when he peruses a novel. Cases in point are "The Count of Monte Cristo" and "Les Miserables." Friana life forms a large part of this story also, but there is a very dramatic presentation of all the incidents.
12mo. Cloth, Net $1.00.

The Third Act
By FRED JACKSON
The author is well known to the readers of the popular magazines, but this is his first novel in book form. He gives a brilliant picture of theatrical life as experienced by a young and ambitious playwright straight from the country, who makes an instant appeal to one of the leading actresses, and in turn falls a victim to her charms, which results in interesting complications.
Colored frontispiece.
12mo. Cloth, Net $1.00.

A Woman in Revolt
By ANNE LEE
This book tells the story of a woman who, as a type, may be said to be the last word in feminine evolution. A daring subject is handled in a daring way, but by none but the unintelligent or the prurient can its high purpose be misconstrued.
The social evil with its awful harvest of ruined lives has been approached from many sides by men; here the woman's side is presented and with exceptional force.
12mo. Cloth, Net $1.25.

Barks and Purrs
By COLETTE WILLY
This is by the famous French author, Colette Willy, and consists of animated and witty dialogues between two pets in a Parisian household—a French bull and an Angora cat, in which the natures of Master and Mistress are skillfully reflected.
Deliciously satirical and thoroughly enjoyable.
Translated by Maire Kelly. About 100 marginal illustrations. 12mo. Cloth. Net $1.20.

The Fairy Minstrel of Glenmalure
By EDMUND LEAMY
By the author of "The Golden Spears and Other Fairy Tales," which, in a few years, has reached such favor as to win the distinction of being regarded by librarians as a classic for both old and young.
Illustrated in color by Vera Cassean. Small 4to. Cloth, Net 75 cents.

Out of the North
By HOWARD V. SUTHERLAND
A volume of Klondyke verse of rare beauty. A characteristic introduction by Joaquin Miller gives the stamp of approval of one who knows.
Frontispiece. Narrow 12mo. Boards. Net 75 cents.

JUMPERS AND PONIES DELIGHT HORSE SHOW THRONGS IN GARDEN

ENGLAND FIRST OVER THE JUMPS

MOORE WINS WITH FOURS

After a dozen unsuccessful attempts, England's first victory at the Horse Show at Madison Square Garden was in the jumping class for two officers of the same nationality. Picked men and horses of all countries represented at the exhibition competed in this spectacular and thrilling event, which was followed with close interest and keen excitement by the biggest crowd of the week. Major M. F. McTaggart of the Fifth Lancers and Col. T. E. Kenna of the Royal Surrey Regiment, riding Troubadour and Harmony to the fore, winning the cups given by L. J. Hammersley. Riding in their uniforms, the officers presented a pretty spectacle and displayed splendid horsemanship. The Belgians, Capt. Victor Nyssens and Lieut. le Comte Albert d'Ouatrement, on La Cronnette and Sunrise, were second, and two pairs of the Canadian officers' chargers were third and fourth respectively.

No criticism is justified against the non-success of the American officers in the International jumping contests. The truth is that the War Department will not give the right sort of mounts to them, which is contrary to the custom in other countries, the French government, for instance, having paid $30,000 for Amazone in the classes in which they have been well mounted, as in the Canadian entries have swept the board. Waves are highest on the fifth hour, say the sharps of the Weather Bureau, and the evening's entertainment at the Garden, as usual, was attended by a large throng. Society was out in force, and the boxes were filled with handsomely dressed women and their escorts. The boxes were banked with flowers, while speeding along the sawdust track were the horses and riders, gaily caparisoned, and the uniforms of the officers of the British army, Belgium, Canada and the United States added a touch of color to the scene.

Mrs. John Gerken, after being in absentee from the show for some years, has reappeared to exhibit the chestnut mare Margaret Tate, a 16-hand six-year-old, with fine manners. Mrs. Gerken won the blue from a large field last night in the class for saddle horses over 15.2 hands. The call of the show ring may not be denied.

Stotesbury's Roadsters Fancied.

E. T. Stotesbury of Philadelphia appears to have matters all his own way in the roadster classes. His stable has had a continued run of successes, due particularly to the bay mare Ruby, which won over an unusually strong aggregation of single roadsters. Not only did Ruby maintain her reputation for speed and general appearance, the appointments which counted 40 per cent. in the judging, were perfect. Tenneriffe, a New York horse owned and driven by W. M. V. Hoffman, made an excellent showing, but failed to reach Ruby's standard.

The French saddle horse judge, Commandant Feline, has admitted the standard of the American saddler by selecting Proud Prince as the winner for horses over 15.3 hands. Harry A. Gahan's well-mannered black gelding is a splendid type of horse with plenty of body and substance.

Felicitations were the order of the day among the foreign officers at the show, Lieut.-Capt. Kostenko of Russia, "I only brought two horses, and considering the long journey, I think myself fortunate to have won three ribbons. Next year there will be a Russian team, sure, of at least twelve officers and with an ample number of mounts. Now the road has been opened, Russia will do all it can to encourage the success of the National Horse Show."

Then Russian horses will be shipped back in a couple of weeks. The English and French horses, with the exception of Cheriot, will be shipped Maryland. An acquaintance remarked to Col. P. A. Kennan, V. C., yesterday, "The British team was all shot to pieces, wasn't it, Colonel?"

"Yes, with horses that were cripples and men with only one leg," we couldn't ride worth a damn. It was the rotty. We have had a good time and just as much fun seeing as we would have had by winning, because we were beaten by good horses and good men. Another year we may do better. We shall in the game. We have decidedly enjoyed ourselves here, and we want to see the New York show become a big international event."

SOCIETY WILTED BY HEAT.

Women in Heavy Brocades Envy Neighbors in Diaphanous Chiffons.

Mrs. Peter D. Martin, one Chief Miss Lily Delrichs, was with Mrs. Alfred G. Vanderbilt in Box 21 at the Horse Show last night. Mrs. Vanderbilt was attired in an old rose velvet cloak with white collar and cuffs of blue fox, and an immense hat of velvet and fur trimmed in the same manner. Mrs. Martin was also in velvet, a black gown with a cape of the same material, and a large black hat with a white aigrette. Mrs. Martin was in blue velvet, with a cape of the same material, and a large black hat with a white aigrette. Mrs. Martin was in blue velvet, with a cape of the same material, and a large black hat with a white aigrette.

There were many new faces in the throng which filled the garden, both at the afternoon and evening session. The unusual warm weather made wraps and overcoats unbearable, and there were many women in the boxes who wore no hats, and who looked very comfortable in diaphanous chiffons, laces, and gauzes, while their neighbors wilted under rich, heavy brocades. According to a prophet of the "clothes walk," it was the hottest day and night at any previous horse show. All the windows had to be opened, and several women were almost overcome by the heat.

The occupants of the boxes last night seemed to enjoy the fashions of the promenaders quite as much as the lookers-on, who would assemble in groups before a particular box, commenting on the gowns until they were shoved aside by the increasing crowd. One woman brought her poodle dog with her last night, and kept fanning it with a peacock fan. The English walking stick was carried by several modishly clad women. An emerald, about the size of a pigeon's egg, attracted much attention in one of the boxes which are rented for the night.

Young Society Beauties.

There was a bevy of young society beauties in the boxes. Miss Angelica Brown looked fetching in a black velvet and lace Watteau hat. Miss Miriam Harriman and Miss Mary Alexander appeared charming in simple white frocks. Near them sat Mrs. Hermann Oelrichs, who wore black net and lace over white chiffon, a small hat that was a solid mass of white aigrettes, and a diamond dog collar. Mrs. William Church Osborn was a visitor last night with Mr. Osborn and their son, Frederick Osborn. Miss Anna Sands, in taupe, dropped in for the afternoon performance, and there was a box party at the afternoon session which included Mrs. R. Stanwood Menken, Miss Ruth Hartwell, and Mrs. Ivon Such Wullman.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Francis Hyde gave a box party in the afternoon for Miss Bessie Martin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Martin, whose engagement to Dr. Herbert Cornwell was announced. Mr. and Miss Joseph Ferris Strandeman and Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Grant were among the other members of the party. Miss Frances Brander, Mr. Ward and Miss Marjorie Glover and were promenading with a party of young people.

In the Afternoon Throng.

Among others at the afternoon session were Mrs. Oakleigh Thorne, Mrs. G. Howard Davison, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Gallatin, Mrs. Charles G. Ayres, Mrs. James Burr, of Philadelphia, Mr. and Mrs. Rich Stears, Miss Birdsall Lewis, Miss Grenville Kane, Mrs. Carroll Winslow, Miss Georgiana H. Owen, Miss Abbey Osborn, and Miss Charlotte Lowlee, Miss Georgiana H. Owen, Mrs. J. Ellis Fisher, in Box 40 at the evening session, had as her guests Miss Frances Traver of Washington, D. C.; Miss Vieve Fisher, Richard Emmet, Frederick Dennis, and Gilbert Darlington. Mrs. Fisher wore violet, with a dull silver hat with gray plumes.

Billings to Breed New Trotting Type

C. K. G. Billings of New York, the owner of the champion trotter Uhlan, 1:58, and other famous champions of the Grand Circuit, has purchased from H. Ra C. Watson of Edgeville Farm, Brandon, Vt., four highly bred Morgan mares with a view to developing a new and distinct type of American trotter. The Morgan mares will be crossed with Mr. Billings's famous trotting stallions as soon as they reach Mr. Billings's new stud farm on the James River, Virginia. The mares are Mink, 6 years old, by Bob Morgan, son of Ethan Allen; Bells, 9 years, by Knox-Morgan; Jessie Keelen, 9 years, by Glaremont, grandson of Daniel Lambert; and Ara Gates, 6 years, by General Gates.

Mold for Cup Defender's Keel.

BRISTOL, R. I., Nov. 20.—Work on the mold for the lead keel of the Vanderbilt syndicate cup defense candidate had advanced far enough to-day to show that the keel will have a sharper outline than is usual in boats of her class. The mold is 22 feet on top and 18 feet on the bottom. It is 4 feet high forward. The greatest weight of the keel will be forward of the centre line.

BOSTON, Nov. 20.—The keel of the American Cup defender candidate to be built for Alexander S. Cochran of New York at the yards of the George Lawley & Son Corporation, will be laid on New Year's Day. Work of assembling material for construction of the boat is going on in accordance with the plans of William Gardner of New York, the designer.

Emperor Sells Yacht Meteor.

BERLIN, Nov. 20.—The German Emperor to-day sold his schooner Meteor, with which he had so often been victorious in yacht races, to the Duke of Arenberg. A new schooner for the Emperor is being built by Max Oertz of Hamburg, and it was said when she was ordered that her success would have an important bearing on the question whether Germany would challenge for the America's Cup with a cutter designed by the same builder.

Limit Men Win Road Race.

Bronx Church House harriers held their weekly handicap road race of four miles last night over a course in the vicinity of Crotona Park, which was marked by a victory for the first man, who finished one-two-three. Although in the pack, Kling, the back marker, failed the fastest time of 20 minutes 25 seconds, for the journey, but was unable to make any marked impression on the leaders. Starting with a handicap of 6 minutes, when finished first in 20:40, Tumblan in 20:45, second, 20:50, and Slomin, 6 minutes, third in 20:55. Others to finish were: E. Wood, 6:00, 10th; J. Donohue, 6:00, 11th; Byrne, 6:00, 12th; Schiff, 6:00, 13th; Cannon, 4:00, 14th; Kirsch, 6:00, 15th; Gerber, 6:00, 16th; Nurz, 6:00, 17th; Gunther, 1:00, 18th; A. Donohue, 2:30, 19th; Sam Sarle, 1:00, 20th; Bonadeo, 2:30, 21st; Sam Sarle, 1:00, 22d; Nurz, 6:00, 23d; Gunther, 1:00, 24th; Donohue, 2:30, 25th; Bonadeo, 2:30, 26th; Sarle, 1:00, 27:45; J. Nurz, 5:00, 33:55.

INTERCOLLEGIATE RUN HERE

Harvard Team Coming for 6-Mile Race at Van Cortlandt Park.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Nov. 20.—Harvard's cross-country team left to-night for New York, hopeful of capturing the title in the fifteenth annual intercollegiate championship race to be held under the auspices of Columbia University next Saturday. Except for Capt. Boyd, who is slightly bothered by a weak knee, and MacLure, who is recovering from a cold, the team is in good shape. It is made up as follows: F. H. Blackman, R. H. B. Boyd, J. H. Boynton, H. G. MacLure, W. A. Peckham, (substitute) C. Southworth, E. P. Stone, and W. M. Tugman, Jr.

Coach Shrubb plans to give the men a try-out over the six-mile course in Van Cortlandt Park to-morrow.

Cornell Runners Selected.

Special to The New York Times.

ITHACA, N. Y., Nov. 20.—A Cornell cross-country team that is at least as strong as that which was mowed out by Harvard for the championship last year left for New York City to-night to take part in the intercollegiate cross-country race at Van Cortlandt Park on Saturday. If Potter, the fastest man on the team, were in shape to run, the Ithacans would have no doubt as to their winning the championship, but Potter's ankle, which went bad before the Harvard race, is not recovered and he was left behind. With Potter out of it, Coach Moakley and the runners figure that they have a fighting chance against Harvard, the only team they fear in the championship. The Ithacans' chances depend almost entirely on weather. Spelden and Fredericks, the two next fastest men to Hoffmire, run to form. Other members of the team are Cadle, McGolrick, Burke, Inglehart, and Kinsler.

CHRISTMAS NUMBER
THE NEW YORK TIMES
DECEMBER 7TH

There has never been so beautiful a Christmas Number of any New York newspaper as the one to be issued on Sunday, December 7th, by THE NEW YORK TIMES. "The Girl of To-Day," as shown by a rotogravure reproduction of 29 photographs, chosen by a committee of seven of America's most eminent artists, will be presented in all her beauty. The one selected as THE BEST will occupy the entire cover page. There were nearly 700 photographs submitted in this contest.

Another feature which will appeal to the art lover will be the magnificent reproduction in three colors of Sargent's great mural painting in the Boston Public Library, entitled "The Prophets." This will be on a separate sheet of extra quality paper, 56x10 inches, ready for framing—a companion picture to Abbey's "Holy Grail," published by THE TIMES for an Easter Number.

In addition, there will be special articles and other attractive features for Christmas. The edition will greatly exceed 200,000 copies, but those wishing to be certain of securing a copy must order it early from their newsdealers.

HARVARD AND YALE ELEVENS RESTING IN THE COUNTRY---BASEBALL---SWIMMING---BOXING

HARVARD TEAM IN COUNTRY FOR REST

Haughton's Eleven Goes to Vesper Club Until Saturday's Game with Yale.

Special to The New York Times.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Nov. 20.—At dusk to-night the Harvard 'Varsity football team had finished its work for the season and started on its way to the Vesper Country Club at Tyngsboro, Mass., to rest until a few hours before Saturday's game against Yale. In the drill on plays against the second team to-day the regulars were all in the line-up with the exception of Frank O'Brien, who, although he again twisted his leg, will be ready to start the game. Dana was in O'Brien's place at end, but Hitchcock and Bradlee both were back in their regular positions, and ran through the plays without a sign of lameness.

The 'Varsity work was done behind the secret practice fence, but shortly after 4 o'clock the gates were opened and it seemed as if every undergraduate in the college trooped into the stadium. The 'Varsity was cheered to the echo while it ran up and down the field a few times, the boys then rushing off to the locker building to make ready for their trip.

The undergraduates, however, got some action as the second team scrimmaged with the youngsters, songs and cheers ringing about their ears. The Harvard eleven is now in first-class condition, so the coaches say, for the coming battle.

The breaking training dinner of the second team was held to-night in Boston, and most of the 'Varsity coaches attended. Haughton, however, went with the regular team, as did "Ham" Corbett, Reggie Brown and Crawford Blagden.

Shortly after 6 o'clock to-night the Yale team arrived at Auburndale from New Haven, ten automobiles being furnished for them by old Yale men. It was one of the biggest squads that Yale ever has sent to a Harvard game. The Yale players looked as if they had recovered completely from their hard game against the Tigers, and the coaches say that they are fit and also that it has been possible to put on the work necessary between games to assure Yale of being able to present its best football in the Stadium. To-morrow the boys will remain near their hotel, but in the afternoon will have the Harvard Stadium all to themselves. The coaches who are at Auburndale with the team are Howard Jones, Frank Hinkey, Billy Bull, Ray Tomkins, and Douglas Bomeisler.

YALE'S BIG SEND-OFF.

1,500 Undergraduates March to Station to See Eleven Off.

Special to The New York Times.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 20.—The Yale football squad left here to-day for Massachusetts, and will play its last game against Harvard at Cambridge on Saturday. Fully 1,500 undergraduates formed in line at the dining hall. They marched behind a brass band, picked up the players in a special trolley car at Osborn Hall, and escorted them to the railroad station, where the undergraduates climbed on freight cars to form a shrieking, cheering section that shouted volleys for every player and coach on the squad and sang through the Yale repertoire of songs until the express train pulled out.

With the players went two vaudeville performers to entertain them at their quarters in Auburndale to-night and to-morrow night. The team has never before taken professional entertainers, but these were placed at the disposal of the squad by a Yale graduate.

Gradual improvement was noted in the cases of Dunn, Marting, and Carter, the bruised players, and Head Coach Jones said this evening that he expected all three to start Saturday's game, although Guernsey, Cooney, and Brann are being groomed for their places and will almost certainly get into part of the game.

The question of the weights of the players is not satisfactory. The warm wave has prevented the return to normal weight of several players who were worn down five or six pounds each by the Princeton game last Saturday.

Arrangements have been made for the players to visit the Harvard stadium to-morrow morning and to tour Boston's suburbs in automobiles to-morrow afternoon.

"HOBEY" BAKER PICKS YALE.

Princeton Captain Thinks Eli Team Is Better Than Harvard's.

Capt. "Hobey" Baker of Princeton, who had reason to become very well acquainted with both the Yale and Harvard football teams during the past couple of weeks, says that Yale has a better team than Harvard, which is quite the contrary to what Coach Percy Haughton thinks.

The Tiger leader, in speaking about Yale's chances against the Crimson tomorrow, says: "I consider the Yale team a much better balanced organization. Of course, as a whole, the Harvard backfield is superior to Yale's backs, but in Wilson, Yale has a better back than any of the Harvard men.

"In any event, the two teams should be well matched and will play a game which a field goal will decide," said Baker. "Judging the teams as we met them, the game should be extremely close. Yale has her kicks covered much better than Harvard, not only the ends but the whole line being down on the man with the ball. In addition, allowing for different weather conditions, I believe that Yale's kickers are better than any Harvard has. Their punts are long and high enough to let the ends cover them. On the defense the Yale line was much harder for the Princeton back field to pierce than the Harvard line. The gains on plunging were disappointing to us."

Penn in Long Scrimmage.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 20.—Forty-five minutes of hard scrimmage was given the University of Pennsylvania football squad this afternoon, the scrubs and regulars tackling each other as though a championship were at stake. Every man seemed to be battling for a position on the 'Varsity eleven that plays Cornell here on Thanksgiving Day. The workout resulted in a victory for the first string men by one touchdown. Russell was sent to left tackle on the 'Varsity team in to-day's practice, Carter going to the scrubs. Seelbach was at McCall's place at left end while the latter played centre. Marshall, who has played in all the games this season as quarter back, was at half back to-day while Merrill pleased the coaches with the form he showed at quarter back.

The coaches are not satisfied with the work of the team as a unit and announced their intention to continue strenuous practice until two days before the final battle of the Red and Blue schedule with Cornell.

Williams and Colgate Captains.

Special to The New York Times.

WILLIAMSTOWN, Mass., Nov. 20.—Phillips M. Payson, 1916, of Portland, Me., was elected Captain of the Williams football team for the 1914 season at a meeting of the squad held in the gymnasium to-day. Payson has played a consistent game at right half back this season, and made an excellent showing on the eleven last year.

HAMILTON, N. Y., Nov. 20.—W. H. Swarthout, '15, of Geneva, N. Y., was elected Captain, and E. L. Parsons, '15, of Binghamton, N. Y., was elected manager of the Colgate football team to-day for next season. Swarthout played a star game this year at full back.

ARMY OF MEN TO RACE.

208 Cross-Country Runners Named for Intercollegiate Run.

The remarkable entry of 208 runners has been received by Harry Fisher of Columbia University for the annual intercollegiate cross-country championship race to-morrow, which is to be held for the first time over the Van Cortlandt Park course of six miles. Fourteen teams have been nominated, and it will be the first time in the history of the sport here that New Yorkers have been afforded a real opportunity to witness the efforts of the college lads in this the longest of the races for university men.

Yale, Colgate, Cornell, Dartmouth, Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Princeton, Pennsylvania, College of the City of New York, Brown, Michigan, Penn State, Syracuse, Harvard, and Columbia are included in the list. The running of the various dual meets has left the outcome as to the probable winner in a most uncertain state, with the result that much interest attaches to the showing of the men.

Harvard surprised hill and dale followers last year by taking the Cornell lads into camp for the title, and despite the defeat by the Crimson the Ithis repeatedly in their dual event at New Haven, the Cambridge team, which will be made up of R. St. B. Boyd, Captain; H. G. McClure, E. Stone, F. H. Blackman, E. W. Zamore, W. A. Peckham, C. Southworth, and W. M. Tuerman, are expected to give a good account of themselves.

Pennsylvania has a number of good runners in its line-up, chief among whom are L. C. Madeira, '86, W. M. McCurdy, and J. Langner. Princeton's best men are Martin J. Hayes and D. S. Morrison, the Captain.

It is promised that the course will be properly policed, so that there will be no breaking through the lines such as occurred last Saturday at the senior Metropolitan championship event.

Special to The New York Times.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Nov. 20.—The last football practice line-up of the week was held at the Naval Academy this afternoon. To-morrow there will be only signal work and individual practice along different lines, and on Saturday the team will play the eleven of New York University for the last game on the home grounds. A hard game is not expected from the New Yorkers, as they have not been able to score on an opposing team this season. The regular Navy team will be used just long enough for them to hit off the fast pace that has been the rule in practice this week, and then the second-string men will have to play out the game, as no chance of injuries to the regulars will be taken.

The last practice on the Naval Academy grounds this season will be on Thanksgiving morning and the football party will arrive in New York at 10 o'clock P. M., and will stop at the Vanderbilt Hotel, reaching there as soon as they arrive. Friday morning there will be a walk and a talk by the coaches. In the afternoon there will be practice on the Polo Grounds and in the evening the party will attend a theatre. Saturday morning the team will depart as quietly as possible, the only incident being final talks by the coaches. Plans for the time after the game have not been made.

DALY RUSHES CADETS.

"More Speed," Army's Coach's Cry —Try Forward Passing Again.

Special to The New York Times.

WEST POINT, N. Y., Nov. 20.—There was lots of snap to the Army's football work this afternoon. Head Coach Daly got into the game at stages, reminding old West Pointers of his cadet days. Daly's presence in the line-up was occasioned by the extremie efforts being made to get up speed on the squad. Yost's famous "hurry up" sunk into insignificance when compared to Daly's "more speed" cry. The practice lasted until darkness put an end to the play. The unseasonable weather conditions helped to make it considerably of an endurance test, too, for the men were at it for two hours and came through in good physicial shape, despite the Summer temperature.

The regulars lined up for an hour's scrimmage against the scrubs and scored three times during the workout. Hobbs, back again behind the line, did splendid work in advancing the ball, as did Capt. Benny Hoge. Each of these men scored a touchdown. Woodruff kicked a pretty goal from placement on the thirty-five-yard line and missed one other try from the same spot. O'Hare, who has been shifted back and forth from guard to tackle on the scrub line, got the call over Meacham-to-day at Huston's guard position and did well. Huston is still out of it, as is Hodgson and Benedict. Ford, Hoge, Milburn, Hess, and Altman were all tried behind the Army line to-day. Hobbs did the kicking. Britton was tried at end on the regulars after Markoe gave way early in the practice. He did the best work with the forward pass, which showed a little improvement to-day. The squad will get the lightest kind of work to-morrow on the eve of the Springfield game.

Baker and Phillips Undefeated.

Special to The New York Times.

PRINCETON, N. J., Nov. 20.—Capt. "Hobey" Baker of the Tiger football eleven and George Peiter Phillips, both regulars on the Princeton elevens for three years, are receiving congratulations for having played four years against Yale in football and never having been defeated. In the Fall of 1910 the freshman football eleven, of which both were members, defeated the Yale cubs 6 to 0, Baker making the score. The following Fall both played on the championship eleven which trimmed Harvard and Yale, and in the past two seasons the Yale games have resulted in tie scores. Baker has played half back for four years against Yale and Phillips at tackle. Capt. Baker has received an engraved cigarette case from Coach H. G. Andrews this year, bearing the inscription: "Hobey from Ham."

Cornell's Last Home Practice.

Special to The New York Times.

ITHACA, N. Y., Nov. 20.—The ban was lifted on secret practice on the Cornell football field this afternoon, and 2,000 cheering students led by the cadet band marched from a mass meeting, which was held to arouse spirit for the Pennsylvania game, to Alumni Field, where Coach Sharpe put the 'Varsity and scrubs through the only public scrimmage that has been held in the last month. This was the last opportunity given to the undergraduates to see the team in action before the Pennsylvania game at Philadelphia on Thanksgiving Day, and they responded with great enthusiasm. The field was sloppy, but in spite of this handicap the 'Varsity forced its way through the scrubs for two touchdowns, using straight football for the most part. Philippi, Lahr, and Collyer, the new heavyweight backfield, consistently gained through the line and outside tackle, but there was a noticeable absence of forward passing.

American Riflemen Win and Lose.

NICE, France, Nov. 20.—A rifle team from the United States battleship Utah had a shooting contest to-day with the crack team of the Twenty-fourth Battalion of Chasseurs and three teams from the One Hundred and Sixty-third Infantry. The Americans had no difficulty in defeating the infantry team, but the Chasseurs proved too strong, scoring 25 points to the Utah's 16.

BASEBALL TOURISTS' RECEIPTS $97,240

Expenses of Giants and White Sox Earned in Games Played in America.

Special to The New York Times.

VICTORIA, B. C., Nov. 20.—Despite the withdrawal of several star players from the ranks at the close of the American tour John J. McGraw and James J. Callahan, managers of the world's touring baseball teams, will be able to put first-class teams in the field for the games to be played in foreign countries. When the Comiskey party, numbering sixty-seven persons, sailed from here last night, each manager had eleven players under his control, and each will be able to line up his team with players in their own positions, or at least in positions where they have had considerable experience.

The American tour gave a total of $97,240 for the thirty-one games played, or an average of more than $3,000 per game. Had it not rained on the final day, when a double-header was to have been played at Tacoma and Seattle, the $100,000 mark would have been passed. The financial success of the American tour is very gratifying to Messrs. Comiskey and McGraw, and it dispels all fear of the affair being a money-losing proposition.

Five Giants and three White Sox left the party yesterday when the games at Tacoma and Seattle were called off. These players were Mathewson, Tesreau, Fromme, Meyers, Snodgrass, Chase, Schalk, and Rath. Jack Bliss, the former St. Louis catcher, who has been in the Pacific Coast League during the past season, joined the tourists here, and he will do the catching for the White Sox in the games abroad. Daly of the White Sox can also go behind the bat, and he will undoubtedly act as utility catcher for both clubs. There will be no need of a change from team to team in any other position.

The White Sox team in the foreign games will be made up of Pitchers Scott, Benz, and Leverenz; Catchers Bliss and Daly; Sam Crawford, first base; Herman Schaefer, second base; Weaver, short stop; Dick Egan, third base; Tris Speaker, Steve Evans, Daly, or Manager Callahan in the outfield. McGraw's team will have George Wiltse, Bunny Hearne, and Faber, a Western League recruit, for pitchers; Ivy Wingo, catcher; Merkle, first base; Doyle, second base; Mike Donlin, short stop; Hans Lobert, third base; Lee Magee, Jim Thorpe, and Mike Donlin for the outfield. The American Leaguers have the better pitching staff and a better outfield, while the National Leaguers are stronger behind the bat and in the infield. McGraw's team appears to be a better hitting aggregation than the Sox, despite the presence of Tris Speaker and Sam Crawford on the Sox roster.

The baseball tourists, who sailed from here on the Empress of Japan, were the following: Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Comiskey, Mr. and Mrs. John J. McGraw, Mr. and Mrs. James J. Callahan, Margaret and Jennie Callahan, Mr. and Mrs. James A. McAleer, Mr. and Mrs. William Klem, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Crawford, Mr. and Mrs. John Lobert, Mr. and Mrs. James Thorpe, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Doyle, Mr. and Mrs. George Wiltse, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Comiskey, Mr. and Mrs. James Mullen, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Buhl, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Farrell, Mrs. Hugh Keogh, Mrs. Daniel Hardin, Mrs. N. S. McLean, John F. Sheridan, Ivy Wingo, Michael Donlin, Fred Merkle, Michael Doolan, Lee Magee, John Faber, Bunny Hearne, Herman Schaefer, George Weaver, Walter Leverenz, James Scott, Joseph Benz, Thomas Daly, John Bliss, Stephen Evans, Richard Egan, Tristam Speaker, Ted Sullivan, the Rev. J. McNamara, Harry Sparrow, Henry Phillip Burchell, N. E. McBride, W. Ryan, T. Lynch, Frank J. Farrell, N. A. Anderson, G. Ray Axelson, J. J. O'Neill, Dr. Frank Finley, James Hill, Albert Kinney, Andrew Slight, and Frank McGlynn.

The Empress of Japan is due at Yokohama on Dec. 2, and the first game on foreign soil will be played the following day in that city.

LYNCH STANDS ON RECORD.

National League Gives No Reason for Deposing Its President.

President Thomas J. Lynch of the National League refused to say anything yesterday about the selection of Gov. John K. Tener of Pennsylvania for his position. "I have heard nothing official of Mr. Tener's selection," said Mr. Lynch, "and I do not care to talk much about it at this time. All that I know is what I have seen in the newspapers. My conduct of the affairs of the league for the last four years couldn't have been so bad when they had to get one of the most prominent men in the country to run against me." Mr. Lynch said that he might have something to say about the matter after he had heard something definite from the club owners.

It is practically certain that the eight club owners of the league are united for the overthrow of Mr. Lynch. President Hempstead of the New York Club was the last one of the eight to make his position known on the question. When he understood that all the other club owners were for Gov. Tener Mr. Hempstead decided to agree with them. It was President Baker of the Phillies who started the warfare against Lynch. The Philadelphia Club was so provoked at President Lynch's position in the forfeited game with the Giants last July that they stated at the time that they would not rest until they had ousted him. Baker went to Harrisburg several weeks ago and approached Gov. Tener, and at that time it is stated he received enough encouragement to make the Philadelphia Club's President believe that he would take the position if it was offered to him. The matter was to have been kept secret until the league meeting here next month, but, like all baseball secrets, it leaked out.

Gov. Tener's term of office as Governor does not expire until Jan. 1, 1915. If he is elected here next month, he will not serve as active President until that time. For a year and a month the league will be in charge of Secretary John A. Heydler, who served as President during the unfinished term of the late Harry Pulliam. Gov. Tener will be President in an honorary capacity and accept no salary until he takes up the actual duties of President in January, 1915. Mr. Heydler is thoroughly conversant with National League affairs, and the organization will be in capable hands until Gov. Tener is ready to take active charge. During the coming year, however, Gov. Tener will keep in touch with National League headquarters and his counsel will be sought on all questions of importance.

Baseball men yesterday discussed the sudden dropping of President Lynch and were somewhat surprised at the manner in which he was cast aside by the National League club owners. No specific charges have ever been made against Lynch nor has any reason been given why they wished to oust him. He has committed the "error" which has cost other National League Presidents their job—the formulation of what he believed to be a just policy and trod on the toes of the club owners. The club owners have always wanted to run the National League.

President Lynch has stood back of his umpires, and during his régime there has been less umpire baiting than ever before in the organization. In sustaining the umpires Mr. Lynch has antagonized more than one of the club owners. Neither his inegrity nor his honesty of purpose has ever been questioned, but he wouldn't be dictated to by dissatisfied club owners. Lynch is willing to stand on his record and says that no club owner can show where he did not act for the best interests of the game and the league.

If the club owners think that they are going to run Gov. Tener when he takes the office, those who know Mr. Tener say they are going to slip up. He will be the boss and stand for no interference, which will be something new in the National League.

He made it plain to the committee which waited upon him that he would only accept the place for a term of four years and at a salary said to be $15,000.

It is stated that one of the reasons that the National League was anxious to get a man of Gov. Tener's prominence to head the organization was to restore the older league's waning prestige. The American League, by virtue of its winning the world's series four times in succession, has given the younger league the upper hand. The National League hasn't won the world's series since Pittsburgh defeated Detroit in 1909. President Ban Johnson of the American League is the most prominent and able figure in baseball, in fact so powerful that the National League fears his power. Johnson has become a sort of Czar in the game and nothing shows this better than at the last meeting of the American League in Chicago, when Johnson defied the suggestion of August Herrmann for an interclub series between the leagues after Aug. 1 to take the place of the world's series. Johnson killed the plan with a word. And best of all, Mr. Johnson's co-workers in the league all stand by him through thick and thin.

The American League is becoming so powerful in major league baseball that the position of August Herrmann as Chairman of the National Commission is in danger. American League club owners say that Herrmann's acting as Chairman gives the National League a great advantage over the younger league. They want an American League official to head the National Commission, and it is said that plans are already being made to oust Herrmann, who for years has been in a position to give the National League an advantage in league affairs.

Indians in Fine Condition.

Special to The New York Times.

CARLISLE, Penn., Nov. 20.—With only one day more of practice for this season, the Carlisle Indian football squad rushed through an afternoon of practice, which included nearly everything in the training category except scrimmage. The Redskins are as fit physically as human beings can be made, and there hardly seems to be a chance that indifference or carelessness can mar two culminating games of the year against Syracuse at Syracuse on Saturday and Brown at Providence on Thanksgiving. Fundamentals of the stereotyped order such as Warner insists upon for conditioning the Indians, with signals, a modicum of kicking from placement, and punting and running down under the same, occupied the whole period to-day. Warner gave his braves a short talk in the cage before practice.

No Definite Yale Rowing Policy.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 20.—Capt. T. B. Denegre of the Yale crew returned from New York to-night, where he had held an all-day conference with the Yale Rowing Committee concerning the question of changing coaching methods. No final decision was reached. Denegre said. This was the third conference held this week. Another will be held next week, at which it is now expected final action will be taken. Capt. Denegre declined to say what was done at the meeting to-day. It is generally believed at Yale, however, that English coaching methods will not be retained.

ROBINSON TALKS OF BROOKLYN'S TEAM

Pitchers and Short Stop the Greatest Need to Bolster Up the Superbas.

Wilbert Robinson, the new manager of the Brooklyn Club, arrived in Brooklyn yesterday morning to take up his first work as the head of the Superbas. In the morning Robinson was the guest of honor at a luncheon given by President Charles H. Ebbets at the Brooklyn Club, where he met all the club officials and several newspaper men. In the afternoon the new manager held a long conference with President Ebbets regarding the 1914 training trip and other details of the preliminary season. Robinson will return to his home in Baltimore to-day, but will return to New York next month to attend the National League meeting and put through any deals that may present themselves.

Robinson is very enthusiastic about his new position and the fine prospect of placing the Brooklyn team in the first division. He paid a high compliment to his predecessor yesterday when he declared that Dahlen's judgment in the selection of players made his position quite easy, as compared with the tasks confronting most managers when they take charge of a club. He has seen the Brooklyn team so often that he is thoroughly conversant with the ability of all the players, and he figures on no more than two changes in the regular line-up.

"Pitchers are our greatest need," said the ex-Giant yesterday in discussing his new position, "and if I can get one or two youngsters in shape to take their regular turns in the box I see no reason why the club should not get out of the second division. We have three dependable veterans in Rucker, Ragan and Reulbach, and two promising youngsters in Yingling and Allen. Behind the bat the team is strong in catchers, and the three bases have capable guardians. A new shortstop will be needed owing to the release of Bob Fisher to Toronto, but Mr. Ebbets has two promising infielders for Spring trial. In the outfield my only concern will be to get a right-hand hitter, as the three regulars last season hit from the other side of the plate, the same as Daubert and two or three of the pitchers. That makes too many left-hand hitters for one team. The team has plenty of hitting and fielding strength, as the averages show, but it is weak in base running and that is one feature to which I will devote considerable attention in the Spring. I feel that my long experience under two such capable tutors as Ned Hanlon and John McGraw fits me for the task at hand, and I see nothing ahead but a winner. I will follow McGraw's general system just as closely as is possible."

The Brooklyn team will train at Augusta, Ga. The young players will leave for that city on Feb. 20 and the regulars on March 1. Rucker, Ragan, and Reulbach will spend ten days at Hot Springs before reporting to Manager Robinson at Augusta on March 1. The players will remain in Augusta until March 25, and play very little on the way home. They are due at Ebbets Field on April 1, and will play a series of five games with the Yankees on April 2, 3, 4, 5, and 11. The opening game of this series will be the first home game under Robinson's management, and President Ebbets has decided to have a Robinson Day celebration. On April 5 and 12 the Superbas will play at Newark, and on April 9 the world's champion Athletics will be at Ebbets Field. April 6, 7, and 10 will be devoted to practice, and April 13 to rest for the opening of the National League season at Ebbets Field the following day.

"Pro" Coach to Stay Off Bench.

Special to The New York Times.

WILLIAMSTOWN, Mass., Nov. 20.—Williams College has adopted the system of keeping the coach off the bench during baseball games. This is the outcome of agitation for purging professionalism from Williams baseball which was begun by Capt. Alsalt, '14, who previously proposed that professional coaching be abolished entirely.

CROWDED OUT SCHOOLBOYS

That's Why Oxford Restricted Scholars in Athletic Competition.

OXFORD, England, Nov. 20.—A. N. S. Jackson, Dean of the Oxford University athletes and treasurer of the Oxford University Athletic Club, denies that the new rules limiting the eligibility of Rhodes scholars to compete in the University sports are the direct outcome of recent victories by Rhodes students.

He says the matter was discussed in 1911, and that unless some action along this line had been taken ten Oxford University Athletic Club soon would have ceased to exist because all the energy and enthusiasm of the public school boy would have been damped.

Lord Desborough expresses approval of an age limit for competitors in all university sports. eH says it is not fair to run men who have been in competition for four years against those who have been in athletics only three years.

Wagner Outpointed by Allen.

That Young Wagner, the former Ghetto champion, was "all in" as a boxer, was proven conclusively last night at the Postman Athletic Club of Brooklyn, when Marty Allen, a young and ambitious featherweight, decisively outpointed the former favorite of the east side in the main ten-round bout. Wagner showed a decided falling off in his old-time clever and aggressive fighting style, and was an easy mark for the hard right and left hooks delivered by Allen. Wagner, although he took a sever beating and never had a chance, was always willing to mix matters with his opponent.

In the semi-final bout which was scheduled to go six rounds Bob Lee, a negro boxer weighing 200 pounds, had an easy task of disposing of Young Sam Langford, weighing 170 pounds, and, after flooring him with a succession of rights and lefts in the first round, ended the bout with a blow to the heart.

Levinsky Knocks Out Hagen.

Ed Hagen, the Seattle heavyweight, made his New York debut at the Atlantic Garden A. C. last night in a bout with Battling Levinsky of Philadelphia, and he failed to go seven rounds of the scheduled ten. Following a knockdown of five seconds Levinsky tore in with both hands against the new arrival from the Northwest, and Hagen went to the canvas for the full count. While in a position to arise Hagen was apparently awaiting the count of nine, but he surprised the crowd by remaining down until the deciding second had been counted against him.

City College Freshmen Win.

The freshmen won the annual inter-class athletic meet of the City College held on Jasper Oval yesterday. They beat the sophomores, their nearest rivals, by 18 points. The feature event was the quarter-mile run. Moonan, a freshman, sprang into the lead at the start and led the field all the way. His time of 58 seconds on an eighth of a mile track, which was very heavy, was excellent. J. Burrows of the senior class won the half-mile run in clever fashion after a fight in the first quarter with Lovely, whom he beat by twenty yards. The summary:

440-Yard Run.—Won by J. T. Moonan, 1917; B. Margolies, 1916, second; Malovista, 1917, third; L. Horowitz, 1917, fourth. Time—0:58 2-5.

100-Yard Dash.—Won by O. Tabor, 1916; Skoutchi, 1916, second; E. Friedman, 1917, third; S. Bers, 1917, fourth. Time—0:11.

220-Yard Dash.—Won by T. Greenbaum, 1917; S. Horowitz, 1917, second; S. Friedman, 1917, third; A. O'Neill, 1916, fourth. Time—0:26 4-5.

880-Yard Run.—Won by J. Burrows, 1914; T. Lovely, 1917, second; Fresola, 1917, third. Time—2:21.

Mile Run.—Won by R. Guinness, 1916; E. Rinbach, 1916, second; Feroch, 1917, third; Pelelski, 1917, fourth. Time—5:18 1-5.

Two Mile Run.—Won by J. Scariata, 1916; Weberpals, 1917, second; Braunstein, 1917, third; Schneider, 1917, fourth. Time—11:28.

High Jump.—Won by A. T. Carroll, 1917; C. Schloss, 1916, second; H. Schaffer, 1915, third; J. Straley, 1916, fourth. Height—5 feet 4 inches.

Broad Jump.—Won by Stabnes, 1917; Gairlove, 1917, second; Alpert, 1916, third; Berman, 1917, fourth. Distance—18 feet 11 inches.

Protest Negro Football Player.

PITTSBURG, Kan., Nov. 20.—A formal protest against the appearance of a negro football player with the Southwestern College of Winfield, Kan., in the Thanksgiving Day game against the Kansas State Normal School eleven will be made by officials of the latter, according to a decision reached to-day. Every member of the Normal squad asked that protest be made.

HIGH SCHOOL BOYS SWIM FOR HONORS

Townsend Harris Hall Lads Defeat Stuyevsant "Crawlers," 33 to 20.

Townsend Harris Hall swimmers triumphed over their opponents from Stuyvesant High School last night in the pool of the City College by a score of 33 to 20 after six events had been contested. There was fancy diving, plunging for distance, and sprint and relay swimming races, each contest of which had its full measure of interest to the partisans of the schools, who made the natatorium resound with their concerted rooting.

The team winners accounted for four firsts of the six decided, with B. Handschuck the stellar performer by his wins of the fancy diving and the 50-yards race. He had in each of these events as runner-up Abbey of Stuyvesant, who just lacked a bit of the winner's class.

The cleanest cut victory was scored by H. Vollmer of Stuyvesant in the 220-yard race, which he won in the handiest fashion imaginable. Vollmer, who is the short distance champion of the Public Schools Athletic League, paused at one of the turns on two occasions to chat with his fellows and thereby probably lost ten seconds. The first century of the route was covered by the title holder, who swims a finished crawl, in much faster time than that accomplished by the winner of the 100-yard race.

The hundred yards was the best contested race of the series, and showed Reiss of Stuyvesant and Frankel of Townsend Harris swimming almost stroke for stroke throughout. Cheered by their mates, each put every ounce of power into his last length of the pool, but Frankel had the most in reserve and made the winning touch by the margin of six inches in 1 minute 16 seconds, while Reiss beat Sperlich of Townsend Harris a yard and a half for the place.

Bernhardt of Stuyvesant rather outclassed his opponents in the plunging, and annexed the honors for his school with the fine distance of 56 feet.

In the 300-foot relay, with each of the boys on the teams to swim 200 feet, Abbey, for Stuyvesant, went away in the van and handed his second man a fair lead. This was quickly lost, however, when Frankel, the second boy for Townsend Harris, "crawled" into the lead which was never afterward surrendered by the ultimate winners, who beat Stuyvesant handily. The summary:

50-Yard Swim.—Won by Handschuck, Townsend Harris; Abbey, Stuyvesant, second; Cantrell, Townsend Harris, third. Time—0:30.

Plunge for Distance.—Won by Bernhardt, Stuyvesant, with 58 feet; Crawford, Townsend Harris, second, with 49 feet; Naffis, Stuyvesant, third, with 46 feet.

Fancy Diving.—Won by Handschuck, Townsend Harris, with 23½ points; Abbey, Stuyvesant, second, with 19½ points; Emanuel, Townsend Harris, third, with 17 points.

100-Yard Free Relay Race.—Won by Townsend Harris team, made up of Cantrell, Frankel, Vermilye, and Handschuck; Stuyvesant team, made up of Abbey, McGuinness, Reiss, and Vollmer, second. Time—1:05.

100-Yard Swim.—Won by Frankel, Townsend Harris; Reiss, Stuyvesant, second; Sperlich, Townsend Harris, third. Time—1:16.

220-Yard Swim.—Won by Vollmer, Stuyvesant; Carson, Townsend Harris, second; Wade, Townsend Harris, third. Time—3:03.

McFarland-Britton Bout Dec. 8.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Nov. 20.—Packey McFarland, Chicago, and Jack Britton, New York, this afternoon accepted terms for a ten-round no-decision boxing contest in Milwaukee on Dec. 8.

The heaviest isn't always the best!

The old idea that an overcoat must be heavy to be warm has been disproved by such fabrics as our new shetlands, chinchillas and cheviots.

Furthermore, we've lined some of them only through the shoulders, in deference to the men who want a medium weight coat for all Winter.

On the other hand, we've heavier coats and still others lined throughout, some plush lined and some double texture fabrics—ideal for motoring or watching football games.

Men's overcoats, $18 to $75.

Everything for the game to-morrow, from warm overcoats to Thermos bottles.

"Really, the Finest Limousine I've Ever Seen."

That's the comment of every one who has seen the New Chalmers "Six" Limousine.

People who have owned enclosed cars costing from $5000 to $8000; people who are used to having the best; carriage builders; even competitors selling higher priced cars—admit that no finer product of coach building has ever been offered.

It's hard to give you an idea of the superlative luxury of this car. You must see it yourself. Let your eyes feast on the grace of its external appearance—its streamline body, its rounded top, bell-back, tapering bonnet, its elegant finish.

Luxury and Roominess

Now enter the wide, hospitable door—lighted, when open, by a concealed step light.

The spacious interior, you find, is finished in whipcord or broadcloth. Deep cushions invite you to sink back and take your ease. There's plenty of room. Three big people can sit comfortaby on the rear seat. Auxiliary seats, real man's size chairs, accommodate two more. And still another passenger can sit in front with the chauffeur.

To ventilate the Limousine, all you need to do is turn a handle on the door, raising or lowering the window glass to any position. No straps to pull.

A Car of Super-refinement

Soft light may be had from the recessed shoulder lamps—or a brilliant glow, if desired, from the dome light in the top.

Every accessory for comfort and convenience is provided—foot cushions, speaking tube, memo pads, clock, flower vases, etc.

And all this luxury, all these super-refinements are furnished on the wonderful New Chalmers "Six" chassis—with its Master Motor, its silent power, its utter flexibility, its freedom from trouble and repair expense.

Nowhere Such Value as This

All this, too, is offered at an astonishingly low price, $3600. Can you afford to be without this car for the coming winter? Is it worth while to think of paying more? Is it wise to pay less? A demonstration of this great car will give you the answer.

We are always glad to show the New Chalmers "Six." Please call or phone us.

COURTING DISASTER.

We hope it was not in vain that Mr. TAFT appealed to Woodrow WILSON'S work on Constitutional Government for confirmation of his hope and belief that the Administration will be guided by the light of wisdom and experience in its policy of providing a Government for the Philippine Islands. Mr. WILSON wrote, in the passage quoted from his book by Mr. TAFT, that self-government is not a mere form or institutions to be had when desired, but requires a form of character in the people who live under it, a character given a people only by long discipline in self-control, in obedience to law and peace and common counsel, and in reverence for righteousness and self-sacrifice—the character which we have come to see to be the very stuff of which the strength of free states is made. The Democratic party has always held that view of the matter, and it is the source of any political wisdom of which we can boast. Our national honor and reputation is as we all know and recognize that reason for the most profound political consideration in the management of the Philippines. The safeguard of the Philippines lies in the valley to the east of the Philippines, and can come only from there. The conclusion to be drawn from the testimony of Mr. TAFT and from the statements of Governor HARRISON and Mr. WORCESTER that Governor HARRISON has made a good Governor in the Philippines, that he has chosen the proper advisers, probably has exhibited just the right degree of firmness and experience to have secured united support and assistance from the Filipinos, and is to be succeeded with such haste as to best threaten his usefulness, because so much influenced by the mere desire for spoils. The public knows from what source the influences come that have ruled the present Administration in the path of adventure and experiment in the Philippines that, in the judgment of those who best know the Islands and their peoples, lead in the direction of danger. The Baltimore platform, which has been a veritable Pandora's box for this Administration, has in the matter of the Philippine policy, as in the shaping of the money bill, been one source of unwisdom. Then there is Mr. BRYAN, who, in respect to the Philippines and to financial legislation, has muddled and darkened the Administration counsels with his fantastic and rejected theories. As a warning against the acceptance of advice from such quarters stands the testimony of Mr. TAFT and Mr. WORCESTER.

It is disputed, it is beyond all dispute, that these two men, from their long and intimate experience, have a profounder and a surer knowledge of the Filipino character and of the needs of the people of the Philippine Islands than any other men in the United States. To disregard the warnings of these men and to turn for guidance to others who have no competence whatever to express an opinion upon the Philippines, and who speak with the self-given authority of theories formed without any study or any knowledge, theories which WOODROW WILSON condemned in his earlier writings, cited by Mr. TAFT, would be a course of incredible hardihood. To encourage the Filipinos in the belief that independence and self-government are to be theirs within a short time would be an act of unspeakable cruelty to them. But to prepare for the application of such a policy and actually to put it into execution in the Islands would lead us to endless difficulties and confusion, to inevitable disaster. The Administration has something more vital than its own theories to consider. The honor of the nation is involved in its Philippine policy.

THE TAX ON THRIFT AND BENEVOLENCE.

In these days of Progressive morality it is singular to find our Government taxing the instruments of thrift and benevolence which other Governments establish by the taxing power. Yet that is the effect of the taxes collected from the insurance companies, the agencies of those who voluntarily do for themselves what the laws of some Governments make compulsory, and which some Governments do for those who are unable to do it themselves. England and Germany have long been held up to us as examples of monarchical systems in advance of ourselves in the matter of social justice by aids to the afflicted, old, sick, unemployed, and so on. Yet the income tax, like the corporation tax, is levied upon the insurance companies whose activities relieve our Government from the necessity of much of the Governmental insurance of other countries.

States and nation are alike to blame. President KINGSLEY of the New York Company has calculated that if his company had paid to the nation at the same rate it paid the States the taxation on the company's income, paid by the policy holders, would have reached 4.4 per cent. That is about the rate collected from those malefactors who are wealthy enough to pay the additional income tax. Other Governments that levy any tax on this form of thrift levy it upon the policy holders, who know what is done. Our Governments levy it upon the corporations, and the policy holders neither see nor appreciate the influence which saps their security. In England the tax is one-fourteenth that paid in the United States, in Germany one-twentieth. In France, Germany, Spain, Denmark, Russia, the tax is simply for the cost of the administration of the insurance department of Government.

Those Governments make the tax negligible, merely the cost of supervising the business, because they know that what the companies do the Government is relieved from doing. Our Governments regard the accumulated wealth of the companies, the security of 40,000,000 policy holders against penury through bereavement, as a proper source of spoliation. The process is indirect, and the policy holders are not aroused against the Government capable of such unwisdom.

"CUT THE ULCER TO THE BONE."

"CUT THE ULCER TO THE BONE." GOV. GLYNN and Attorney General CARMODY have pledged District Attorney WHITMAN their full co-operation in the proceedings undertaken by the District Attorney to run down the men who conspired to extort money from contractors on the Barge Canal and have since given to congress what is known by Mr. GLYNN and Mr. CARMODY as evidence of criminality. Were instruments of the party organization of this State, the Governor and Attorney General have not even less promised to throw the prosecuting power of the State into the proceeding, but they have volunteered to do so. Nothing could be more satisfactory to the people of this State than the attitude of the Governor and Attorney General. They have not even less promised to throw the prosecuting power of the State into the proceeding, but they have volunteered to do so. Nothing could be more satisfactory to the people of this State than the attitude of the Governor and Attorney General. They have not even less promised to throw the prosecuting power of the State into the proceeding, but they have volunteered to do so. Nothing could be more satisfactory to the people of this State than the attitude of the Governor and Attorney General.

To cleanse the Democratic Party of the stigma of the Dunnigan bills, the men who are responsible for the Barge Canal scandal must be punished. To the men who are influential in the Democratic organization of this county Democratic leaders must look for support in the effort to bring the criminals to justice. Their party interests would be best served by throwing the full weight of the influence of the party on the side of the prosecution. Interference in behalf of the grafters.

Mr. WHITMAN asks jurisdiction outside New York County except in cases where the alleged crimes were committed at least partly within its borders. Jurisdiction might have been conferred upon him by a special act from Albany. But Mr. GLYNN was chosen to head the prosecution of the graft cases in State. A vast amount of work must be done, and that unfortunate individual, John Doe, must be haled before the court repeatedly before the cases with their hundreds of witnesses, most of them State contractors, are made ready. There is work enough ahead for Mr. WHITMAN and for the State prosecutors, too, if Mr. GLYNN, Mr. CARMODY and the men subject to their direction fail to produce positive results, while Mr. WHITMAN proceeds to expose the rascals within his jurisdiction, the story will be his. An attempt to protect the Democratic organization or to pauliize the ulcer that has been eating into its vitals, or anything short of a whole-hearted and thoroughgoing effort to cut it and cast it out, will result in a vote against the New York State Democracy next year beside which the recent defeat of Mr. MURPHY in the Mayoralty election will seem small.

HAS THE GOVERNMENT A CONSCIENCE?

It would be useless to urge that the Government should have a heart toward the railways and other public utilities, but it ought to have a conscience. Yet the fact is that the Government grafts, rivals any known in the business world, and that a virtue is made of oppression and extortion practiced for the good of the people. The case of the postal parcels raises the plain question whether the people wish to be receivers of goods taken from those who protest the taking. The railways claim that they are not fairly paid for service in carrying the parcels. At the same time the Post Office is claiming a profit originally placed at $10,000,000, and recently raised to $30,000,000. We believe that the people appreciate the Postal Parcel Service enough to be willing to pay for it, and that they would support a plea for fair play. A price paid in accordance with a statute may or may not be fair. It cannot be admitted to be fair so long as those who render the service do so under duress. When profits earned in this way are said to justify the extension of the Government service to the telephones and telegraphs the outlook is nothing short of alarming for the taxpayers. When the Government runs the railways and the telegraphs there can be no more profits made by not paying bills. The bill will be paid or the service will stop, regardless of the Treasury deficit.

Another example of the conscienceless attitude of the Government toward public utilities is shown by the attitude of the counsel employed by the Interstate Commerce Commission in the matter of the advance of freight rates. Mr. BRANDEIS proposes to use the application as a lever for reforming the alleged abuse of interlocking Directorates. The railways ask to be allowed to pay their bills, and Mr. BRANDEIS proposes to listen when they have improved their financial methods in a manner satisfactory to him. It is as though when your tailor sends in his bill you should refuse payment because he does not live with his wife. He ought to live with his wife, and it might be that if his bills were paid he would be better able to do so. But the payment of the tailor's bills and the reform of his morals ought to be dealt with each on its own merits. Nobody would object to Mr. BRANDEIS's ravaging reforms in their season, but the payment of bills cannot await the process. The Interstate Commerce Commission reports this week that the railways' gross earnings for September increased $17,000,000, and the net fell $5,000,000. The railways are paid by piecework. They are indisputably working harder for less pay. They have placed out their earnings by borrowing and spending $335,000,000 which must be paid or funded within a year if the railways are to be kept solvent. That the companies can relieve this load no further appears from the economies which they are practicing to the damage of other interests than their own. The railways' contracts for rails this year have decreased 72 per cent., car contracts have decreased 42 per cent., locomotive orders decreased 30 per cent., structural orders decreased 25 per cent. The Eastern Independent steel companies are running 40 per cent. capacity, and the larger interests are doing but little better. It is safe to say that the railways are willing to pay that they always have been willing to pay extravagant wages when they are not allowed to control the expenditure of their income. They must spend, and now they must spend just enough to be allowed to expend the money they must procure. They are told that they should do whatever they ought, but they must not do one thing quick but they must quiet their bills to the due dates. Even if Mr. BRANDEIS succeeds in assisting the process of starving them to assume the powers of moving cars, the railways would be merely helping the cars to enter a freight yard where the outlook is that a small part of the business will be upon a small-en volume of business.

In business, Government controlled policies are failing when business is overwhelming and prices are low; credit is abundant, business needs encouragement and the reverse of this customary and approved practice is in force. The railways are paid by piecework. They are indisputably working harder for less pay. They have placed out their earnings by borrowing and spending $335,000,000 which must be paid or funded within a year if the railways are to be kept solvent. That the companies can relieve this load no further appears from the economies which they are practicing to the damage of other interests than their own. The railways' contracts for rails this year have decreased 72 per cent., car contracts have decreased 42 per cent., locomotive orders decreased 30 per cent., structural orders decreased 25 per cent. The Eastern Independent steel companies are running 40 per cent. capacity, and the larger interests are doing but little better. It is safe to say that the railways are willing to pay that they always have been willing to pay extravagant wages when they are not allowed to control the expenditure of their income. They must spend, and now they must spend just enough to be allowed to expend the money they must procure. They are told that they should do whatever they ought, but they must not do one thing quick but they must quiet their bills to the due dates. Even if Mr. BRANDEIS succeeds in assisting the process of starving them to assume the powers of moving cars, the railways would be merely helping the cars to enter a freight yard where the outlook is that a small part of the business will be upon a small-en volume of business.

WHO SHALL SAVE MEXICO?

THE common question is, "What is going to be the end of the trouble in Mexico?" and the common answer is, "Nobody knows." The outlook seems to grow more bewildering and more desperate every day, yet whenever an intelligent Mexican opens his mouth to express an opinion on the subject all he can manage to say is that if intervention is attempted patriotism will unite all Mexicans in opposition to the invader. The kind of patriotism which would induce all, or any considerable portion of them, to unite to save their country from anarchy, however, does not seem to exist.

Yet there must be thousands of law-abiding Mexicans in the professional classes, among the merchants of the capital and Guadalajara and Monterey, the manufacturers of Orizaba, who have given much sober thought to the reawakening of the old revolutionary spirit in their country and the havoc it has caused since PORFIRIO DIAZ fled. These men must have some idea of a way out of the difficulty. They must favor some plan for the restoration of peace, and it is not credible that they believe that any lasting benefit to their nation can come from either the Dictator who kills men who question his political actions or the murderous brigands of the North. What do they expect to happen? What do they hope for? These are the really important Mexican questions.

Certainly the fate of Mexico is in the hands of its patriotic and intelligent middle class. There is no reason at present to tell us how its members would act in case of intervention. Nothing can be much clearer than the indisposition of Washington to intervene. No policy of President WILSON has a heartier support than his policy of non-intervention in Mexico. But there is an eager desire all over this country and in several European countries to know what the better class, the intelligent middle class, of Mexican citizens think ought to be done to save their country's honor and restore to it the confidence of the world which it possessed while old PORFIRIO was its Chief Magistrate and something more.

These are the people whose withdrawal of support from DIAZ made the well-intentioned but tragically futile revolution of MADERO successful. What do they want now? Restoration to the Catholic Church of the powers which JUAREZ took away from it? That might be one way out. The masses in Mexico are fanatically religious. The Church could restore a semblance of order, and it would tolerate neither a Huerta nor a Villa. Or have they in mind the possible formation of a commission of the ablest men in Mexican political life, men like MANUEL CALERO, PEDRO LASCURAIN, JOSE Y. LIMANTOUR, and half a dozen others representing all shades of political belief to form a provisional Government which would restore peace and prepare for a Constitutional election?

The address of Gen. HUERTA to the new Congress, the legal election of which the Washington Government refuses to recognize, is little more than an apology for his recent usurpation of all power, and it still leaves room for his early retirement, which is not at all unlikely. But that event might precipitate a condition of anarchy throughout the country unless provision were made beforehand to put the machinery of government temporarily in safe hands. As to the outcome, we cannot safely predict an outcome of Mexican history. The middle class of merchants, bankers, manufacturers, and professional people scarcely existed in the era of SANTA ANNA and ALVAREZ. It was developed in the thirty years of peace and prosperity under Don PORFIRIO, and the question of the hour is whether Mexicans of this class have the intelligence, the devotion, and the courage to save the country from present decay and the country from the courage to save the country from present decay and the country from present destruction.

MISS WILSON GETS HOUSE NECKLACE

Diamond Gift to White House Bride in a Miniature Trunk of Silver with Gold Key.

BRYAN GIVES A TEA TABLE

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Carnegie a Dozen Silver Plates—Cook Book of Grandmother's Recipes.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—Miss Jessie Wilson received this afternoon the diamond pendant on its chain of platinum and small diamonds, her wedding gift from the House of Representatives. The necklace was taken by the local jeweler through whom it was purchased and left at the White House just like scores of other gifts being left there every hour of the day, but was accompanied by a message, which read:

The Representatives of the people in Congress send this gift to Miss Jessie Woodrow Wilson, with their sincerest and best wishes, as an evidence of the tender interest and hearty good will of all the people, on the happy occasion of her marriage to Mr. Francis Bowes Sayre, Nov. 25, 1913.

The message was signed by Champ Clark, Oscar W. Underwood, James R. Mann, Victor Murdock, Henry A. Cooper, Robert L. Henry, Phillip P. Campbell, Thomas W. Hardwick, Robert N. Page, Ben Johnson, A. Mitchell Palmer, Richard W. Austin, Edward W. Townsend, H. Robert Fowler, and Walter M. Chandler, committee of the members of the House of Representatives.

The pendant to which the slender necklace is only a detail, is a superb jewel with its central stone a large canary diamond of more than six carats, surrounded by eighty-five smaller stones, all of perfect color and shape. The outline is pear-shaped with seven or nine diamonds at the top, all set in platinum in lacelike design.

The necklace is composed of slender links incrusted in small diamonds with a large stone between the mountings. In all thirty stones enter into the making of the necklace alone. The necklace was inclosed in a jewel case of solid silver in the form of a miniature trunk, which contains three large and five small compartments all lined in orchid pink velvet. Accompanying this were two keys, one of silver, the second a special order of Representative Mann, who practically selected the gift, was of gold marked with the bride's monogram, and a setting of small diamonds.

Other presents received to-day included one dozen silver plates from Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Carnegie, silver compote from Minister and Mme. Beaupre, Mme. Clamorro, silver platter from Minister from Colombia and Mme. Betencourt, a mahogany tea table and chair from Secretary of State and Mrs. Bryan, a Chippese peace pipe from Secretary of War and Mrs. Garrison, a set of andirons in bronze with scuttle, tongs, and shove, from Secretary of Agriculture and Mrs. Houston. A silver vase inscribed with a large "W" from the Secretary of Labor and Mrs. William B. Wilson.

A cook book containing "All the good old recipes grandmother used to make" is among the wedding gifts. It has been compiled from contributions of best recipes from the women, among them wives of Cabinet members, Government officials, Governors of many States, and other official families. Some of the famous old Southern dishes from Miss Wilson's maternal grandmother's cook book have been included in the volume.

Francis B. Sayre arrived at the White House this evening, where he will stay until Sunday, when, with his brother, the Rev. John Nevin Sayre, he joins the house party of Justice and Mrs. Hughes, to remain until the bride leaves for their still guarded retreat, where the first days of their honeymoon are to be passed.

The officers of the U. S. S. Mayflower will give a dinner Monday night for the members of Miss Wilson's bridal party and her house guests.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 20.—A silver service costing $1,500, the gift of women voters of Northern California to Miss Jessie Wilson, daughter of the President, on the occasion of her wedding next Tuesday, was sent to the bride-to-be to-day. The service was purchased by subscription and is of old Colonial design.

EX-FOOTBALL STAR WEDS.

"Eddie" Hart, Former Princeton Captain, Marries Miss Dennen.

Special to The New York Times.

PRINCETON, N. J., Nov. 20.—Edward J. Hart of Exeter, N. H., of football fame as a Tiger player, Captain, and coach, was married this morning to Miss Honore C. Dennen of Princeton. The ceremony was performed in St. Paul's Catholic Church by the pastor, the Rev. Walter Leahy. Only the nearest friends of the participants were present, including the 1913 Princeton football eleven, which Hart helped to train; Coach "Hans" Andrews, Trainer Keene Fitzpatrick, and Manager Walter Bass.

A sister of the bride, Miss Grace E. Dennen, acted as bridesmaid, while the bridegroom was attended by Col. David M. Flynn of Princeton. Immediately after the ceremony the couple left for a three weeks' tour through the New England States, after which they will go to Chicago to live.

"Eddie" Hart, as he is known in football circles, played for four years as a Tiger. His first year was as a member of the freshman eleven, and he captained both the 1910 and 1911 teams, the latter of which defeated Harvard and Yale for the championship.

The coaches presented the couple with a big silver cup on which was engraved the names of the coaches.

LUNCHEON FOR MISS BUTLER.

Miss Hyde Entertains for Debutante Daughter of Mrs. W. A. Butler

Miss Helen Hyde gave a luncheon of between thirty and forty covers at Sherry's yesterday for Miss Louise Butler, the débutante daughter of Mrs. William Allan Butler. The guests were seated at four tables, and the favors and table decorations were small box trees in green lattiework boxes with pink roses. There was a fifth table for the chaperons, who were Mrs. Louis K. Hyde, Mrs. William Allan Butler, and Mrs. Louis Brenneman of Philadelphia.

The guests were the Misses Lydia Coit Butler, Mary and Laura Parsons, Flora McAlpin, Alexandra Emery, Estelle Romeyn, Christina Nichols, Cordelia Hepburn, Elizabeth Kirlin, Elizabeth Griggs, Althea Gibb, Margaret Henderson, Viova Fisher, Annette Fallowes, Louise Tiffany Frank, Mary Baker, Alice Brown, Dorothy Brown, Mildred Rice, Ruth Taylor, Helen Emerson, Esther Cleveland, Caramai Carroll, Florence Colgate, Elizabeth Thompson, Adeline Townsend, Natalie Slocum, Gertrude Mali and Mrs. Pomeroy Tucker Francis of Philadelphia.

MISS H. A. SODEN A BRIDE.

Wedded to Earl L. Miller of Providence in All Angels' Church.

The wedding of Earl Lawton Miller of Providence, R. I., and Miss Harriet Anderson Soden, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles P. Soden of this city, took place last evening in All Angels' Church, Eighty-first Street and West End Avenue, the Rev. Dr. S. De Lancey Townsend officiating. The bride wore a trailing gown of white satin trimmed with lace and tulle. The maid of honor was Miss Elsie C. Soden, sister of the bride, and the bridesmaids were the Misses Elizabeth Miller, a sister of the bridegroom; Frances Canfield of Yonkers, Evelyn Harrison of Morristown, Gladys Ponnell of Scranton, Corinne Bourne of Louisville, and Perle McGrath of this city.

Maus Wheelwright of Providence was Mr. Miller's best man, and his ushers were Edward Guild, Lawrence Richmond, Walter Durnham, Robert Jencks, and Frederic Poindexter; Edward Gannon of Staten Island and Karl Smith.

A reception followed at the Hotel Majestic. Mr. and Mrs. Miller will spend their honeymoon in the South.

The fair is for the benefit of the American Female Guardian Society and Home for the Friendless at 936 Woody Crest Avenue and 161st Street.

EDUCATION BOARD TO ANSWER BUTLER

His Charges Against President Churchill, It Will Contend, Are Unsupported by Facts.

FIGHT TURNS ON MAXWELL

His Supporters, It Is Said, Urge Attack on Churchill—Women Teachers Active in Battle.

While those who signed with President Butler of Columbia University the letter to Mayor Kline opposing the reappointment of Thomas W. Churchill to the Board of Education declined yesterday to add anything to the letter itself, Mr. Churchill's supporters in the board considered the letter at some length.

At a meeting of a majority of the Commissioners, lasting most of the afternoon, a letter to Mayor Kline was drawn up. This will serve as the board's official answer to President Butler's charges. It was not made public last night, as the Commissioners held it would be improper to do so before it had reached the Mayor's office.

It is understood that the letter is brief, and denies totally President Butler's charges that the board has been deteriorating for the past two years and that the merit system of making promotions is in danger.

The members of the Board of Education also considered yesterday an article written by President Butler for The Educational Review. It was held that the data set forth therein can be answered, and will be answered by the board, if Mayor Kline desires it to do so.

Mayor Kline has received a much increased number of letters on the question of selecting a successor to Mr. Churchill or reappointing him since President Butler's letter was published. One from Alfred J. Talley, attorney for Mrs. Bridget Pisciotto, the "mother teacher," whose reinstatement after her removal by the Board of Education was recently ordered by the Supreme Court, indorsed Mr. Churchill, and read:

In view of what appears to be an inspired opposition to the reappointment of Commissioner Churchill to the Board of Education, I take the liberty of saying that, in my opinion, the failure to reappoint Mr. Churchill would result in great detriment to the school system of this city.

As considerable part of my present professional activities have been in opposition to some of the policies of the present Board of Education and its predecessors. It has been necessary for me for several years past to know what the Board of Education has been doing, and how it has been doing it, and my professional attitude has generally and necessarily been one of opposition to many of their rulings, but that professional attitude has not altered my earnest convictions that under the Presidency of Mr. Churchill the board has made distinct and commendable progress.

What the educational system has needed most is simplification of teaching methods and subjects, more thoroughness, fewer ornamentals, a curriculum based upon the need of real education, and not upon the pedagogic fads, fancies, and vagaries of the hour.

Your late predecessor knew the defects of the system and designated Mr. Churchill to correct them. The latter's activities have made a record of accomplishment along progressive lines, and it is inconceivable that the work done by them would be now sacrificed by a public official who is the one man who has given so much time and endeavor to so important a work.

Many of the teachers agreed yesterday that the present agitation was really the result of the fight for control between President Churchill and Supt. Maxwell. They were both strong men, they explained, neither of whom had ever been accustomed to yielding to any one else. Then President Churchill mapped out a policy for the supervision of Supt. Maxwell, and counted on his own reappointment by Mayor Gaynor, to carry it out.

A majority of the board, it was said, were in harmony with this idea, and these commissioners were somewhat disconcerted by the sudden outbreak of hostility to the President, as soon as it became evident that through the death of Mayor Gaynor he could no longer count on reappointment.

Abraham Flexner, one of those who signed the protest submitted to Mayor Kline by President Butler, was quoted yesterday as being in favor of a radical reorganization of the board and the appointment of educational experts in place of the present "lay" members. Seth Low, who also signed the protest, declined at his home in New Bedford to discuss the nature of the evidence at hand to support the statements it contained.

Otto T. Bannard said he was not accustomed to put his name to petitions without having facts to support the assertions. He referred inquirers to President Butler's Educational Review article for the data upon which the charges were made.

The women teachers have entered the field as an organization and are issuing blank petitions to be signed by those who favor Mr. Churchill. This letter was yesterday afternoon sent by the Interborough Association of Women Teachers:

INTERBOROUGH ASSOCIATION OF WOMEN TEACHERS.
Nov. 11, 1913.

To all Delegates:

Please distribute the enclosed petitions to those of your members as will secure signatures and mail them to Hon. Ardolph L. Kline, Mayor, City Hall, New York.

Try, also, to secure letters from citizens endorsing the administration of President Churchill and his co-workers on the Board of Education.

Please mail petitions and letters as soon as possible, since the Mayor must make his appointments this month.

DO IT NOW!

LILLIAN I. POWERS, Secretary,
President, Grace C. Strachan, 1,115 Ocean Avenue, Brooklyn.

Scores of petitions were received yesterday by Mayor Kline as a result of the activities of the women teachers. Each of them had the same printed text, and urged that President Churchill's "progressive policies have borne good fruit" and entitle him to reappointment.

ATTACK STERN AND WINGATE.

Women Object to Their Views on Mothers as Teachers.

A protest against the reappointment of Abraham Stern and Gen. George W. Wingate as members of the Board of Education was sent to Mayor Kline yesterday by the members of the League for the Civic Service of Women.

The league objects to their reappointment on the ground that "by their speeches and through interviews to the press they have clearly shown that their antagonism to married women and mothers in the schools is based on unsubstantiated theory and prejudice." "From the Board of Education," the letter goes on to say, "the public has a right to demand actions based on expert consideration of educational facts and not upon individual theories of domestic life."

The league will hold a meeting on Monday night at Cooper Union "to protest against the action of the Board of Education in Penalizing Marriage and Maternity." The speakers will include Norman Hapgood, Gilbert E. Roe, Mrs. Inez Milholland Boissevain, Edwin E. Slosson, and Mrs. James Lee Laidlaw. Judge John J. Freschi will preside.

Luncheon for Miss Trevor.

Miss Helen Kierstede Hiss gave a small luncheon yesterday at her home, 48 West Eleventh Street, for Miss Louise Trevor, who is making her début this Winter. The guests included the Misses Alice Haven, Elise Francke, Harriet Paris, Dorothy Taylor, Mildred Dennis, Constance Peabody, Cornelia de Lancey Cammann, Dorothy Chisolm, and Marie Tailer.

Passengers for Europe.

Transatlantic liners sailing to-day and some of those booked to leave on them are:

THE PHILHARMONIC PLAYS

A New Suite by Max Reger—Kramer, Concert Master, Soloist.

A new composition by Max Reger, his "Ballet Suite," Op. 130, was played for the first time in New York at last evening's concert of the Philharmonic Society, and was found interesting and attractive in a measure beyond many of the prolific German composer's works that have been heard here. It is one of his latest—though in the case of one who so frequently bestows new ones on the world it would be dangerous to say that it was his very latest. It had a special interest for the audience of the Philharmonic Society from the fact that it is dedicated to Mr. Stransky, who brought it with him on his return this Autumn to New York.

Reger has dropped or concealed much of his contrapuntal severity in the six movements of this suite, which moves in the imaginary world of a pantomime, and is concerned with the conventional characters of the ballet, Columbine, Harlequin, Pierrot, and Pierrette, with a Valse d'Amour, and gives in addition an Entrée and a Finale. There is play of fancy in the six movements, and though the composer uses only a moderate orchestral apparatus he uses it with much skill in gaining varied and delicate orchestral tints. There is something alluring in the amorous languor of the "Columbine" and in the unstable kaleidoscopic harmony of the "Harlequin," with its abrupt and unexpected ending. A 'cello solo is the principal feature of the "Pierrot," but there are many interesting fragmentary suggestions in the orchestral treatment that are left undeveloped. The "Valse d'Amour" perforce invites comparison with certain noted specimens of this genre. It is not without distinction in its insinuating melody, and was immediately called for a second time.

The suite is one of the more interesting of Reger's orchestral works, though far from one of his most pretentious. He has made a small amount of musical idea go a good way in it, but there is enough here than a skill and craftsmanship in it to give it value among the meagre orchestral productions of recent years.

The orchestra played the "Ballet Suite" unusually well, with fine finish, and a full exposition of the rich and delicate orchestra color. Mr. Stransky conducted it with obvious zeal and enthusiasm. There was much brilliancy and dash, too, in its performance of the overture to Bizet's "Carmen Fleuro," the "mother teacher," whose reinstatement after her removal by the Board of Education was recently ordered by the Supreme Court, indorsed Mr. Churchill, and read:

In view of what appears to be an inspired opposition to the reappointment of Commissioner Churchill to the Board of Education, I take the liberty of saying that, in my opinion, the failure to reappoint Mr. Churchill would result in great detriment to the school system of this city.

ATTACK STERN AND WINGATE.

Women Object to Their Views on Mothers as Teachers.

A protest against the reappointment of Abraham Stern and Gen. George W. Wingate as members of the Board of Education was sent to Mayor Kline yesterday by the members of the League for the Civic Service of Women.

The league objects to their reappointment on the ground that "by their speeches and through interviews to the press they have clearly shown that their antagonism to married women and mothers in the schools is based on unsubstantiated theory and prejudice." "From the Board of Education," the letter goes on to say, "the public has a right to demand actions based on expert consideration of educational facts and not upon individual theories of domestic life."

The league will hold a meeting on Monday night at Cooper Union "to protest against the action of the Board of Education in Penalizing Marriage and Maternity." The speakers will include Norman Hapgood, Gilbert E. Roe, Mrs. Inez Milholland Boissevain, Edwin E. Slosson, and Mrs. James Lee Laidlaw. Judge John J. Freschi will preside.

"CHRISTOFORO COLOMBO."

American Premiere of Franchetti's Opera—Ruffo in Title Role.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 20.—"Christoforo Colombo," a historical grand opera, by Alberto Franchetti, who also wrote "Germania," received to-night its first performance in this country by the Philadelphia-Chicago Grand Opera Company at the Metropolitan Opera House. Titta Ruffo sang the title rôle, and Rosa Raisa, a coloratura soprano, made her first American appearance as Queen Isabella.

The story is unusually simple. The first act takes place in the convent of St. Stephen, Salamanca, where Columbus unfolds to Isabella the wonderful prospect of discovery he has in view; the second, aboard the good ship Santa Maria, from which first glimpses of America are had, and the third, at the tomb of Isabella, in the Cathedral of Medina, where Columbus dies.

The scenery was elaborate, and principals and chorus were attired in fifteenth century costumes.

WAGNER'S LIFE IN FILMS.

"The Life and Works of Richard Wagner," with a narration and an organ recital, got its first public presentation yesterday afternoon under the direction of Klaw & Erlanger at the New Amsterdam Theatre. The story, which is in four parts, is told in moving pictures, which were made abroad. They start with a view of the boy Wagner, 8 years old, playing for his dying stepfather, and carry the audience through all the trials and triumphs to the first performance of "Parsifal," closing with apotheosis of the dead master surrounded by the great characters he had created.

Yesterday afternoon also the Interborough Association of Women Teachers:

INTERBOROUGH ASSOCIATION OF WOMEN TEACHERS.
Nov. 11, 1913.

To all Delegates:

Please distribute the enclosed petitions to those of your members as will secure signatures and mail them to Hon. Ardolph L. Kline, Mayor, City Hall, New York.

Try, also, to secure letters from citizens endorsing the administration of President Churchill and his co-workers on the Board of Education.

Please mail petitions and letters as soon as possible, since the Mayor must make his appointments this month.

DO IT NOW!

LILLIAN I. POWERS, Secretary,
President, Grace C. Strachan, 1,115 Ocean Avenue, Brooklyn.

Scores of petitions were received yesterday by Mayor Kline as a result of the activities of the women teachers. Each of them had the same printed text, and urged that President Churchill's "progressive policies have borne good fruit" and entitle him to reappointment.

MISS EASLEY'S RECITAL.

Miss Donna Easley gave a song recital, assisted by Mr. Francis Rogers, yesterday afternoon in Aeolian Hall, where there was a large audience drawn, it would appear, more by claims of friendship than by the excellence of Miss Easley's singing. Her light soprano voice has some attractive qualities, but her method and style of singing have not been cultivated to a point enabling her to do justice to the exacting numbers she put on her programme. Mr. Rogers sang artistically, with a nice differentation of the spirit and significance of his selections. Mr. Spross played accompaniments well.

"Niobe" by Williams Cap and Bells.

Frank Lea Short of the open-air players has commenced rehearsals for the annual performance by Caps and Bells, the Williams College dramatic club. "Niobe" is to be the offering this year, and the performance will be given at the Hotel Plaza on Jan. 6. The title rôle will be played by Charles W. Brackett, son of Senator Brackett.

THEATRICAL NOTES.

The Friars' Club is to give a dinner to David Warfield on Sunday night, Dec. 14, at the Hotel Astor, and the committee in charge of the arrangements is made up of Marc Klaw, Charles Emerson Cook, Lew Fields, Max Lang Meyers, Marcus Loew, Harrison Fisher, Ryan Walker, Daniel Frohman, Mike Simons, Charles Gilbert, Jean C. Havez, Ralph Trier, and Richard J. Hatzel.

The annual concert given by the Catholic Protective Society of the Archdiocese of New York will take place at the New York Hippodrome Sunday evening. The following artists will contribute to the programme: Mme. Frances Alda, Orville Harrold, Ruby Helder, Gutia Cassini, Russian 'cellist; Ida Davidhoff, Russian violinist, and Frank La Forge, pianist.

The cast for "The Misleading Lady" includes Lewis Stone, Inez Buck, Frank Sylvester, William H. Sams, Robert Cain, Albert Sackett, John Cumberland, William Foran, Henry Thompson, George Abbott, Graves, Jr., Alice Wilson, Gladys Wilson, Jane Quinn, and Frances Savage.

Chorus rehearsals began yesterday for "Sari," the Hungarian operette which Henry W. Savage is preparing for production late in December, and in which Mizzi Hajoe will play the title role.

The annual ball of the New York Hippodrome Attaches' Association will take place on Saturday evening at the Palm Garden, Lexington Avenue and Fifty-eighth Street.

By an arrangement between The Player and Variety, theatrical papers published in New York, The Player is issued for the last time this week. Variety will hereafter become the news medium for the White Rats and Associated Actresses of America, for whom The Player, since it was founded four years ago, has been the official organ.

Among the players who have volunteered for the benefit to be given in aid of the Widowed Mothers' Fund at the Hotel Astor next Monday afternoon are Clara Palmer, Wellington Cross, Lois Josephine, and Tyler Brooke. Jerome D. Kern, who wrote the music for "Oh, I Say!" has also volunteered his services and will play his own compositions. Among others to appear are Bessie Clayton, Gloria Gray, Joan Sawyer, and Sebastian Arcaro.

By cable arrangement, the Palace Theatre will present next week the English satire, "Buying a Gun," with Cyril Chadwick and company. This satire is being played in London by G. P. Huntley.

GEN. BOOTH TO MEET ESTRANGED BROTHER

The Past Is Past, and We Ought Not to Keep Alive Ancient Grudges, He Says.

ARMIES WON'T CONSOLIDATE

Talks of New Homes for Girls Where They Can Entertain Male Friends or Be Courted by Them.

Gen. Bramwell Booth, commander-in-chief of the Salvation Army, outlined at the Army Headquarters, in Fourteenth Street, yesterday the plans he has formed for his organization as a result of his visit to this country and Canada. It was evident from his talk that there would be no amalgamation of the Salvation Army and the Volunteers of America, at the head of which is his brother, Ballington Booth, whom he has not seen or spoken to in seventeen years.

"I have written to my brother Ballington asking to see him," said Gen. Booth gently, "and we shall meet. I am going to meet him as my brother, and I hope as my friend. The past is the past, and we ought not keep alive ancient differences or grudges. As for an amalgamation of our two organizations, I do not think he desires that, and I do not want to put him in a position of being obliged to say that it is he who is holding out against that. So I would rather not discuss that matter."

Gen. Booth said the meeting would take place in this city in the next few days. He admitted that he had not been informed by his brother in the latter's letter of any unwillingness on Ballington Booth's part to amalgamate the rival armies, but he said he knew his brother was opposed to that.

"There is much to be said on both sides of the question as to whether or not there is a dissipation of strength in having two great organizations engaged in the same work," explained Gen. Booth. "Christianity has been divided by as much as having different views impressed upon different men from different angles as by approaching them with one avenue of appeal. If I had the power, for example, I would not bring to an end the Church of Rome, although I am not in sympathy with its views, but with those of Protestantism. The human mind is a cosmos, and one man receives the truth by entirely different channels than another."

Plans New Homes for Girls.

Gen. Booth said he had grown to like the United States and Canada vastly. He found the Salvation Army here as loyal and efficient as that in England and was determined to call some of its officers to England or to missionary fields in the East in the near future. He was especially gratified by the increase in numbers of the army here and by its spread into new areas.

"One thing we are going to take up in connection with our campaign against vice from this time forth," said Gen. Booth, "is work on a large scale to provide home influences for young girls now lacking it. We are going to establish lodges, hotels, and homes for them on various principles; some conducted on the order of a regular hotel and others more like a private home, but all on lines that will permit of the girls meeting young men whom they may care to meet and ultimately marry.

"I think we shall come out with a semi-boarding house for every mother for every twenty girls. The mother will devote her whole life and service to the interests of her twenty charges. At present many young people who may want to get married have no place to meet and become acquainted except on the streets or dance halls, and the marital unhappiness and divorce harvest is the result. If we establish these homes a young man can be brought home by a girl, entertained with tea and talk, and remain there pleasantly for an hour or two."

Gen. Booth said his experience in the Salvation Army, where men and women work side by side both in the ranks and in command, had made him inclined to give women the same privileges as men in the political field also.

Women Good Governors of Men.

"Much to our surprise," he said, "we found that women did just as efficient work as men under conditions of equality in the Salvation Army. We found that the woman with a gift was just as good a governor as the man. Women have been proverbially good governors and managers of men. I deprecate, however, the militant suffragette nonsense as an injury to the suffrage cause itself. My interest in the matter, of course, is purely humanitarian, not political.

Miss Evangeline Booth, the General's sister, commander of the Salvation Army in America, who was present at the interview, explained that she was decidedly in favor of votes for women, although not in symathy with the militant suffragette movement in England. One matter in which Gen. Booth considered this country far behind enlightened countries of Europe, he said, was in the prevalence of child labor in the slums of big cities reported to him by the Salvation Army workers.

"This matter is the more important to you in America," he said, "because of the complex population that you receive—population that is often not of the highest level. It is incumbent upon you, therefore, to see to it that the children of this class of your population shall not be stunted, but raised to a higher level than that of their parents.

"Your great problems in this country, problems which the Salvation Army must deal with, are those of the slums, of overcrowding and of a mixed population. Wherever the Salvation Army is working there has been a marked decrease of poverty and the attendant moral evils. In England we are decreasing poverty through our recent labor and social legislation—old-age pensions and the like—and I consider the labor troubles there a healthy sign of the stirring and upward striving of British labor. The Britisher is a thrifty beggar, if I may put it so, and the labor laws are doing much to stimulate him into habits of greater thrift."

Army to Invade Far East.

Gen. Booth announced that he was going to organize a series of great new crusades of missionary work for China, Japan, and other Eastern countries, sending out not parties of tens or hundreds, but parties of thousands of Salvation Army workers to devote their lives to the Christianization of those lands.

In expressing his thanks to the people and press of the country for the kind reception given to him, Gen. Booth said: "I came here practically a stranger to the world, having spent most of my life in executive work under my father—a wonderful old fellow, a wonderful old fellow! Of course, I had drunk in some of his spirit, coming into closer contact with him than any other person. But I was not prepared for the wonderful reception accorded me here."

A reception will be tendered to Gen. Booth by Mayor Kline to-morrow morning, on which occasion the Mayor will make a speech of welcome from the steps of the City Hall, and Gen. Booth will reply to him. There will be a parade of 2,000 or 3,000 Salvation Army workers from Chambers Street to the City Hall.

On Sunday morning and evening Gen. Booth will speak in the Lyric Theatre. On Sunday afternoon he will address a mass meeting in Carnegie Hall, at which District Attorney Charles S. Whitman will preside. The honorary Vice Presidents for this meeting include Police Commissioner Rhinelander Waldo, Fire Commissioner Joseph Johnson, Assistant District Attorney Frank Moss, Ogden M. Reid, Chauncey M. Depew, the Rev. Dr. S. Parkes Cadman, the

DOUGHERTY TAKES UP NEW GRAFT CHARGE

Brings In Ex-Capt. Riley's Name in Answering Cohen Confession in Wire-Tapping Scandal.

NO OFFICER NAMED BEFORE

Deputy Commissioner Says Retired Captain Was Never Employed on Wiretapping Cases.

Second Deputy Police Commissioner George S. Dougherty issued a statement yesterday in connection with the charge made by ex-Detective Alexander Cohen, who on Wednesday confessed to District Attorney Whitman and Assistant District Attorney Groehl that he had served as a "go between" in carrying graft from the "wire-tappers" to a retired Police Captain. Cohen said this Captain told him that he took the graft on behalf of persons "higher up" in the Police Department. Dougherty's statement was unexpected, and when it was shown to District Attorney Whitman he glanced over it and remarked: "Nothing to say."

In none of the information given out at the Criminal Court Building has the name of any police official "higher up" been mentioned, nor has the name of the retired Captain referred to by Cohen been given out. In his statement Dougherty asserted that at no time while he was connected with the Detective Bureau, nor at any other time, did ex-Police Capt. Dominick Riley have anything to do with the investigation of the activities of the wire-tappers. Capt. Riley, who retired from the force last week, is now under subpœna to appear before the Grand Jury in the course of the investigation that District Attorney Whitman and Mr. Groehl, his assistant, are conducting into the graft paid by the wire-tappers.

Referring to the statements alleged to have been made by ex-Detective Alexander Cohen to Commissioner Dougherty, as set out in Commissioner Dougherty's statement, the records of this department show that he was dismissed as a detective on Nov. 10, 1910. On Jan. 23, 1912, he was transferred from the Detective Bureau at my request, and he contract from the Police Department, Feb. 10, 1912. The May, 1911, Dominick C. Riley worked under the supervision of the Police Commissioner until Aug. 29, 1912, when he was transferred to the Detective Division. Nov. 6, 1912, he was transferred from the Detective Division, and during this and at no time, prior thereto, did Detective Dominick C. Riley engage, in the investigation, survey, discussion, or any wiretapping complaints."

Mr. Dougherty goes on to tell at great length of the efforts made under his direction to arrest the wire tappers operating in and about the Borough of Manhattan, and in concluding the statement of which was continued in the statement Commissioner Dougherty refused to say a word yesterday in regard to the charges of the wire-tapping that he had made. It is expected that the police papers that they paid to District Attorney Whitman said that these disclosures would be brought to the attention of the grand jury early next week, perhaps (on Monday, and he would probably consider he expected to indictments immediately after he did so. It was also expected that Cohen would be returned sometime next week, to be returned sometime next week.

DEFENDS FIRE DEPARTMENT

Guerin in Tilt at Meeting of the Women's Federation.

The Public Safety Committee of the New York City Federation of Women's Clubs had its hands full at its meeting at the Hotel Astor yesterday morning. H. F. J. Porter told the committee, of which Mrs. Robert Francis Cortwright is Chairman, of the need of fire walls in loft buildings and fire doors on each floor to afford escape from one building to another in case of fire. Frederick H. Elliott, President of the Travel Club, was there to ask the club workers to aid him and his club in getting pedestrians to show more consideration for vehicular traffic at crossings, and John Brower of the West End Association presented a list of hotels and restaurants which have rigid revolving doors. These, he said, were a menace to life in case of panic.

Chief Guerin of the Bureau of Fire Prevention was present for the Fire Department to talk about the revolving doors, and he grew a little warm as he discussed the subject. He said the Fire Department had done and was doing all it could in the matter, and he asserted that it was not going to be "rushed" by a body of women to be rushed.

"A suggestion has come to the department that there is a great deal of undue ardor about this matter of collapsible doors," said he. "It has been impressed with the idea that some one has a special interest in them. No one has a special interest in them.

"I am the man you are talking about," said Mr. Brower, coming forward amiably, "and I have no personal interest in the matter at all. I am out of business. Commissioner Johnson said the revolving doors were dangerous, and I made up this list."

"We have acted in perfect good faith in the matter," went on Chief Guerin. "We have put on one inspector—all we could spare. We have conditions to deal with that would make you tremble, and much more important, we think, than collapsible doors. We have found many of the pinch that you have named inadequate. We are not in favor of revolving doors at all, but we will not be bulged by any club on any federation of clubs. This is a government of laws and not of men. There has been enough pressure brought to bear on us in this matter to revolutionize all New York.

"There is only one corporation making doors of the collapsible type, and you saw yourselves the work that the hands of a corporation. We will do whatever we can, but we will not give in to a monopoly. The department has greatly reduced the number of fires in this city in the last two years," then in reply to Chief Guerin departed the committee told him that it thoroughly appreciated the Fire Department and that it did the finest work done in the city.

Mr. Brower said that there was a fire regulation covering revolving doors, and the women decided to send a letter to the Fire Department.

The Commissioner told me he had the power to close places not complying with the law," said Mr. Brower, "and the worst places have not been closed yet. Worst places have not been closed yet.

SASANOFF HELD FOR TRIAL.

Opera Singer's Child Corroborated Mother's Story of Assault.

After examination in Jefferson Morrisania Court yesterday afternoon Max Sasanoff, singer of the Century Opera Company, was held for trial on the charge of assault preferred by his wife Rose, who says he knocked her senseless in his mother's home at 925 Prospect Avenue, the Bronx. She had reproached him for compelling her to live in such crowded quarters in his mother's home, she says, and he struck her. Corroboration of what happened was supplied by the testimony of their little son, Sasanoff, a dark, curly-haired boy of 4 years. The child's mother and several other witnesses took the stand to support his testimony. Sasanoff, a tenor, who would probably be engaged by the Metropolitan Opera Company next season, is a graduate of a Western university.

SLAYERS REVEAL GRAVE OF VICTIM

Two Pennsylvania Farmers Confess Murder of Tax Collector and Lead Police to His Body.

ONE JEALOUS OF VICTIM

MEDIA, Penn., Nov. 20.—The mysterious disappearance of S. Lewis Pinkerton, a Delaware County tax collector, was cleared up to-day when two farm hands confessed that they had killed him, and led the officers to a lonely spot in the woods where they had buried the body. The self-confessed slayers are Roland S. Pennington and George Marsh of Glenn Mills, Penn. Jealousy and robbery were the motives for the killing.

Pinkerton, who was 26 years old, vanished on Nov. 7. He had $300 in his pockets, and it was suspected at once that he had been murdered. The suspicions of the county officers were directed to Pennington and Marsh and they were arrested yesterday.

Under close questioning they admitted that they had killed the tax collector, and in the darkness of the early morning the accused men led the officers to the woods and with the aid of lanterns uncovered the body, which had been thrown into a hole and hidden with leaves. Pinkerton's skull had been crushed and his body riddled with shot.

March, in his confession, said he had suspected Pinkerton of being too friendly with his wife, but the police said they believed there was no ground for the suspicion. The March told his suspicions to Pennington and, according to the confession, March went so far as to suggest killing Pinkerton and taking his money. The three men met in a barn and Pinkerton was felled with a blackjack and slain.

Besides being Tax Collector, Pinkerton was the manager of four farms, and the accused men were employes on one of the places.

FRODS NEW HAVEN HEADS.

Must Reorganize Soon or Face Anti-Trust Suit, Says McReynolds.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—Unless the Directors of the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad speed up their plans for reorganization of the company to conform to the Sherman anti-trust law, Attorney General McReynolds intends to take the matter into the courts. This was made plain to-day when the Attorney General, in Reward with Elliott, Chairman of the New Haven Board of Directors, and John W. H. Crimof the Railroad's counsel, talked over the New England transportation problem at the Department of Justice.

Mr. Elliott reported on the work done by the Committee of Directors appointed more than a month ago to look into the organization of the trolley steamship, and railroad holdings of the New Haven. The Attorney General indicated to-day that he was not disposed to hurry into the courts, but the Directors must show a willingness not only to investigate, but to act.

Mr. McReynolds has taken the position in several anti-trust suits that if possible he prefers to accomplish the end desired without resort to legal proceedings.

It is said in official circles that information has come to Washington that the efforts of Chairman Elliott to meet the requirements of the Government have not been fully supported by the New Haven Directors.

Special to The New York Times.

BOSTON, Nov. 20.—The intimation from Washington that the Directors of the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad are not in sympathy with Chairman Elliott in his reforms caused surprise here. George Von L. Meyer, Chairman of the Stockholders' Protective Committee, said to-night that he had heard nothing of the sort. Not a Director of the company who resides in Boston could be found.

LATEST CUSTOMS RULINGS.

Conkey & Co. Lose Protest Against Malt Extract Classification.

The United States Court of Customs Appeals has overruled a protest by Conkey & Co., relating to the classification under the Tariff act of 1909, of merchandise classified by the Collector at New York as condensed extract of malt, and as such assessed for duty at the rate of 45 per cent. ad valorem. The importers protested that the product was properly dutiable at 23 cents per gallon as malt extract fluid in casks, or at 20 per cent. as a non-enumerated manufactured article. The Board of General Appraisers sustained the contention of the importers that the merchandise was a non-enumerated product. The court reversed the board, and held the merchandise dutiable as assessed by the Collector.

The court reversed the board in the case of A. J. Coccaro, dealing with the classification of candles under the Act of 1909. The goods were returned for duty by the Collector at 35 per cent. as was tapers. They were claimed by the importers to be dutiable either at 20 per cent. as unenumerated articles, or at 25 per cent. ad valorem as manufactures of wax. The board sustained the claim for 20 per cent. duty. The court, however, held that the rate of 25 per cent. was controlling.

Hensel, Burckmann & Lorbacher were sustained in a controversy relating to knitted silk mufflers, which were assessed for duty by the Collector at New York, at 60 per cent. as goods of silk. They were claimed dutiable at 50 per cent., as silk mufflers. The board's action in overruling the contention was reversed by the court.

The court overruled a claim of the Morton B. Smith Company, for a discount of 20 per cent. on scrap iron by virtue of the treaty with Cuba. The action of the board sustaining the claim was reversed by the court.

Commissioner Shields 74.

Commissioner Shields observed his seventy-fourth birthday yesterday in his usual fashion by sitting at his desk in the Federal Building, awaiting the arraignment of such offenders against the Federal laws as dishonest postal officials, opium selling Chinaman or post office safe-blowers. He received many congratulations during the day from the Federal Judges and District Attorneys and the staff of the Federal Courts.

DO IT NOW

About That $4,000,000 and Your Part In It.

Mr. Citizen:

Are you really informed about this greatest money raising compaign in the world's history?

Do you know how urgently the money is needed to safeguard the young women and the young men who are flocking into this great metropolis?

Do you realize that it will barely do for this great city as much in proportion as has already been done in cities like Chicago, Philadelphia, Rochester and Toronto?

Have you noticed the sacrifices that are being made by 1,000 of your fellow-citizens who are working harder for the public good than they ever worked in their private business, and by their joint efforts have up to this time secured 5,534 subscriptions, aggregating $2,849,380? No one is being paid for raising this money. The work is being done by public-spirited men and women. You can join this band of workers and help them, at the same time gladdening their hearts by making a subscription at once.

This is where the money will go:

A building for the Bowery Branch Y. M. C. A., where young men in desperate circumstances are put on their feet and made useful members of society.

A building for colored men and another for colored women, where these who work by day will get moral and educational uplift at night to fit them for useful citizenship.

Boarding homes for the young women who come to our city as strangers to serve in a thousand ways the commercial enterprises of New York.

A great central building for the Young Women's Christian Association, with its educational and physical privileges, its care of the body and mind as well as the spiritual welfare of the multitudes of young women who will come under its influence.

A similar center in Harlem.

Another on the West Side.

A building for the National Board of the Y. W. C. A., and its training school for secretaries. Special contributions have been received for this building.

A building for the Williamsbridge Young Men's Christian Association.

Surely you are interested in this great effort for the uplift of our city. Surely you will help in some degree, large or small. You can do this by filling out the following blank, cutting it out of this paper, and mailing it direct to Campaign Headquarters, 25 Broad Street, or to any member of any campaign committee whom you may know. IN THE BUSINESS WORLD

Japanese Silk Prices Relapse.

A decline followed the recent advance in raw silk prices at Yokohama. Buying was active, however, and the last week's sales totaled 6,000 bales. Reports received from Canton by H. L. Gwaiter & Co. told of firmer prices there and excellent buying. Stocks of these silks are light. Tussahs have been more active and higher at Shanghai, but other silks have been quiet. Milan tells of a better demand and an upward tendency in quotations. There has been a steady demand at New York of late, with prices irregular in sympathy with the producing markets.

Unique Way to Advertise.

Something new in advertising schemes was evolved recently by a Western retail jeweler. This dealer wired the lights in his store to a switch that could be operated by a push button outside the entrance. He placed a sign under the button which read, "You can see our store by pushing this button." Many of those who passed in the evening yielded to the suggestion. The power was cut off automatically as soon as the pressure on the button was removed, and only a small amount of electricity was used. The scheme caused considerable comment.

Can't Down Cigar Cutters.

The recent agitation against the unsanitary features of public cigar cutters and the invention of a cigar that eliminates clipping off the end, have apparently gone for nought. An Illinois firm advertises in one of the trade papers that it has placed on the market a combined cigar cutter, match vendor, and match tray which is said to operate more rapidly than any other machine yet invented. According to the manufacturers, this machine will clip the end from the dryest cigar without breaking the wrapper, will vend any brand of safety matches, and is guaranteed for five years.

Ready for Anti-Piracy Meeting.

Everything is ready for the convention of manufacturers and importers which will meet to-day at the Hotel Astor to discuss the evils of design piracy and to formulate a tentative bill to prohibit it. Fifteen speakers, most of them men of commercial prominence, are on the programme, and will deliver brief addresses on various phases of piracy and the recently enacted Kahn law. A very large attendance is expected. Seventeen prominent trade associations have appointed delegates to the meeting. If the business before the convention warrants it, a second session will be held on Saturday.

"Kelly Green" Sweaters Popular.

Sweater salesmen now on the road are sending in satisfactory business. Jobbers in the Middle West are ordering especially well. Despite the fact that prices on the cheaper grades of sweater coats have been advanced, they have sold freely. In general, however, business has so far been best on the higher-grade merchandise. Adaptations of the Norfolk jacket that are shown for next Fall, for both men and women, are popular. Many adaptations of the Russian blouse are shown in women's sweater coats, and are moving well. Maroon, "Kelly green," and Scotch heather mixtures rank well among the popular colors.

Should Not Guarantee Shoes.

An authority on leather said here yesterday that any retailer who sold shoes under a definite guarantee of their wearing qualities not only laid himself open to financial loss, but hurt other dealers as well. There is no way to gauge the wearing qualities of any kind of leather, he said, and two pairs of shoes made from the same hide and trimmings often show as wide variance in their resistance to hard usage. The returning vogue of patent leather shoes will mean loss to retailers who guarantee them, he maintained, for this kind of leather never can be depended on. The authority in question also cited the case of a truckman who wore out three pairs of heavy shoes within the life of a guarantee given on the first pair, and said that if that kind of shoe failed to wear, the lighter footgear worn by the average consumer could hardly guard against the risk entailed in a guarantee.

BUSINESS TROUBLES.

DRUSS BROTHERS.—A petition in bankruptcy has been filed against Morris and David Druss, who compose the firm of Druss Brothers, manufacturers of infants' cloaks and garments, at 127 West Seventeenth Street, by three creditors: H. Baum, $3,000; A. Cumming, $1,000, and B. Abbott, $100. Liabilities, $100,000; nominal assets of same amount. Judge Hough appointed Edmund Wright receiver, under a bond of $12,000, and authorized him to continue business ten days and borrow $2,000 on receiver's certificates.

JOSEPH MEDAL.—A petition has been filed against Joseph Medal, dealer in men's furnishings and dry goods, at 530 Second Avenue, Manhattan, and 663 Grand Street, Brooklyn, by these creditors: Henry P. Friedman, $191; Nathan Muller, $74; Steinberg & Hyman, $117, and Abraham L. Holtz, $278. Judge Hough appointed William Blau receiver, under a bond of $1,250. Liabilities, $15,000; assets, $9,000.

KAUFFMAN & LABENSART.—Samuel Kauffman and Gustav Labensart, who compose the firm of Kauffman & Labensart, dealer in dry and furnishing goods, at 1,588 Second Avenue, made an assignment yesterday to Edward W. Drucker. A petition in bankruptcy was also filed against them by these creditors: Samuel Rappaport, $805; Benny Lieber, $225, and Ezra Weiss, $250. Liabilities, $8,000; assets, $3,000. Judge Hough appointed Jacob Lasker receiver, under bond of $1,000.

CHARLES GOTTLIEB & CO.—A petition has been filed against Charles Gottlieb & Co., a corporation, manufacturers of cloaks and suits at 34 West Twentieth Street, by these creditors: Harry Rackin, $320; Arthur M. Gross, $138, and Morris B. Mirsch, $223. Liabilities, $9,000; assets, $3,000.

JOHN G. PANOS of 2,024 Lexington Avenue has filed a petition, with liabilities of $4,927 and no assets. He was formerly a partner in the firm of Malketses in business as the Cable Florists.

NATIONAL FAIR AND EXPOSITION ASSOCIATION, INCORPORATED.—Schedules of the National Fair and Exposition Association, Incorporated, of Forty-second Street and Broadway and at Yonkers, show liabilities of $147,584 and nominal assets of $132,963. There are more than 850 creditors, among them the Yonkers National Bank, $23,518; Trucker Electric Construction Company, $6,378; Church E. Gates & Co., $3,753; Janden Electric Company, $5,075, and Frank Kremer, $5,364.

S. ROSENBERG & SON.—Schedules of S. Rosenberg & Son, wholesale produce dealers at 168½ Attorney Street, show liabilities of $4,554 and assets of $7,096.

CONTINENTAL THREAD COMPANY.—Schedules of the Continental Thread Company of 219 Wooster Street show liabilities of $5,911 and assets of $754.

VOLPE & STEINBERG.—William Volpe and Lewis Steinberg, who compose the firm of Volpe & Steinberg, manufacturers of women's suits at 58 West Fifteenth Street, have made an assignment to Morris Fishbein.

WALLACE S. TODD, auto repairs and accessories, of 234 West 108th Street, has made an assignment to David L. Ostro.

COLIN C. DUNCAN.—Schedules of Colin C. Duncan, importer of laces at 31 Union Square, show liabilities of $112,704, contingent liabilities of $15,000, nominal assets of $104,935, and actual assets of $67,111. Among the creditors are Hemsley & Co., Nottingham, England, $34,317; Henrietta F. L. Duncan, $27,000; Paul Beardsley, $15,000, and Brunner & Hofstetter, $11,599.

HUNDRED BEST BOOKS OF THE YEAR

The Committee from the Department of English, Columbia University, comprising Prof. John Erskine, Dr. H. R. Steeves, and Dr. Carl Van Doren, has completed its list of The Hundred Best Books of the year. It contains a remarkable view of the important achievements in literature since the 1st of January, and will be published Sunday, Nov. 30, as the leading feature in the Holiday Number of The New York Times Book Review, which will appear as a supplement to the regular edition of The Times. The list will have an introductory article by Prof. Erskine, which will be followed by comprehensive reviews of each of the books chosen.

Another important feature will be a discussion of four Vital Questions of the Day—Eugenics, Socialism, Feminism, and Psychism. Leading authorities on each of these subjects have been asked to review books selected by themselves from the year's publications on these special themes. Thus, Dr. C. B. Davenport, Director of the Station for Experimental Evolution of the Carnegie Institute, will review a book on Eugenics. Ellen Glasgow, the famous novelist, will review a book on Feminism. Algernon Lee, President of the Rand School of Social Science, will review a book on Socialism. Henry M. Alden, Editor of Harper's Magazine, will review a book discussing the possibility of life after death.

There will be additional contributions from well-known authors of the day, such as Mary S. Watts, Theodore Dreiser, Coningsby Dawson, Jules Guerin and many others who will write on various entertaining and instructive features of the literature of the day.

Of particular importance to the buyers of Christmas books will be the carefully annotated list of the season's gift books. This list has been prepared for the special purpose of answering the question, "What is the most suitable book for a Christmas gift?" and will furnish an admirable guide to the holiday buyer.

This Special Holiday Number of The New York Times Book Review will have an actual net paid sale of over 200,000 copies. It will contain 64 pages and will be illustrated throughout.

BORDEN'S
GRADE A MILK
PASTEURIZED

The Milk For The Baby

Yet sold at a price that makes it available for the whole family.

The farms from which this milk comes are high grade dairies every one of them. Each must score 68 points or better to meet our requirements—8 points above the requirements of the Health Department.

To get this score of 68 points the farmer must have a superior dairy equipment and employ scrupulous dairying methods. In other words, he must do those things that insure clean milk.

When the milk comes to us it is received at one of those wonderful Borden Country Plants that have won the admiration of Sanitarians from all over the country.

It is in these plants that the milk is pasteurized and bottled. It never reaches the city in bulk, but is handled in the pure, clear air of the country.

We would like you to try our Grade "A" Milk Pasteurized. We are proud of it and believe it to be the best milk investment you can make.

You can leave your order with any Borden Wagon, write a postal, or Telephone Franklin 1182 and your service will begin at once.

SENATE TO TACKLE THREE MONEY BILLS

Must Evolve Cohesive Plan from Measures Bristling with Differences.

DEBATE BEGINS NEXT WEEK

Currency Committee, Unable to Agree, Decides to Let Upper House Solve the Problem Itself.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—All hope of inducing the Banking and Currency Committee of the Senate to arrive at even the appearance of an agreement on the Owen-Glass bill ended at the committee's brief session this morning. The Senators then agreed that any attempt to bring together the variously phrased items even on phases of the bill over which no fundamental disagreement had arisen would be a mere waste of time. They therefore decided to throw the whole subject into the Senate embodied in three separate bills and let the Senate piece together a coherent measure to suit itself.

The three bills will be the Owen-Glass measure as it passed the House, for which absolutely no support has been found in the Senate committee; a slightly modified form of the House bill, which has the support of Democrats of the committee, and a bill differing from the House measure in every fundamental particular and having the support of the five Republicans and one Democrat, Mr. Hitchcock of Nebraska. The House bill will be reported perfunctorily without recommendation, and the two other bills will be embodied in the argumentative views of the two halves of the committee.

What the Bills Provide.

All three of the proposed bills contemplate the issuance of a currency secured by the commercial paper now held by the banks of the country. Each proposes the establishment of reserve banks, which will issue the currency in exchange for commercial paper to the banks which will hold the reserves behind their deposit mobilized for use in any emergency, and which will rediscount the paper held by banks in the system, thus keeping available always ample credit and currency for use to ward off financial crises. Each bill proposes to put the entire system under the control of a Federal Reserve Board, to be appointed by the President.

Although agreeing as to the purposes to be accomplished by the proposed legislation, the three bills differ almost every point in attempting to carry out these purposes. As it passed the House the Owen-Glass bill proposed the creation of twelve regional banks. The Democrats of the Senate committee cut that down to eight, the minimum number the President was willing to accept. The Republicans reduced the number to four, holding that the smaller number could concentrate more effectively the reserves of the country.

The twelve regional banks proposed by the House bill would be owned by the banks, through compulsory subscription to the stock, and the banks would elect six of the nine Directors of each reserve bank. This plan was retained by the Democrats of the Senate committee, although it was further provided that if the banks did not furnish enough capital to run the system the stock might be sold to the public.

On this point Senator Hitchcock and the Republicans departed from the Administration theory of creating a "bank of banks" and materially changed the bill. They provided that the reserve banks might sell stock subscribed by the public, the banks taking whatever part the public would not take, and that the Government, through the Federal Reserve Board, should appoint five of the nine directors of each regional bank. This question which will split the Senate committee into two camps.

National Bank Reserves Reduced.

Each of the bills materially reduces the present reserve which national banks must hold against deposits. The House bill would fix the reserve at 12 per cent. for country banks and 15 per cent. for banks in present reserve cities. These rates were retained by the Administration forces in the Senate committee, but the Republican wing cut down the reserves of the city banks to 15 per cent.

In the House bill the paper made eligible for rediscount and as a basis for currency is commercial paper, based on actual merchandising transactions, maturing in not less than ninety days, a provision was retained by the Democrats in the Senate committee, but the Republicans broadened it materially. Under their bill a part of the members banks' rediscounts may be made in the form of loans, thus giving to any member bank the advantage of the provision given the advantage banks with small capital, which have little so-called short-time paper.

Under the House bill and the draft by the Senate committee Democrats, the regional bank Directors would have discretion as to rediscounting for member banks without limit. In the Republican bill the right is given to each member bank to obtain rediscounts up to the full amount of its capital, and, under a tax, to twice that amount.

The gold reserves to be held by the regional banks in their vaults and in the Treasury against the new circulation is fixed at 40 per cent. in both the House bill and the measure drawn by the Senate committee Democrats. The Republican draft, however, provides for a 35 per cent. reserve, with a tax on reserves below that figure down to a minimum of 25 per cent. The House bill provided for redemption of the new notes in gold or lawful money at the Treasury or at the reserve banks. The Owen amendment would make the notes redeemable in gold at the Treasury and in gold or gold money at the banks, and the Republican draft provides for a straight gold redemption in both instances.

Loans on Farm Mortgages.

Both the House bill and the Owen bill would allow country banks to loan on one-year farm mortgages. The Republicans amended this to allow banks to loan one-third of their time deposits on five-year farm mortgages.

The Republicans eliminated from the bill a provision which would have required national banks to maintain separate departments to handle savings account business. Numerous other differences, principally on minor matters or relating to the language of the measure, are apparent.

To prevent a disturbance of financial conditions while bank reserves are being shifted to the proposed new regional banks the Owen bill would provide that banks may deposit commercial paper and currency as part of their reserve, under certain conditions. The Hitchcock-Republican bill would extend the life of the Aldrich-Vreeland Emergency law for another year.

The Democratic Steering Committee decided to meet to-morrow to arrange a programme for the debate, which probably will begin early next week. The programme will be merely advisory, however, for under the rules of the Senate there is no way to end debate except by exhausting Senators.

Three bills before the Senate, each of them with irreconcilable differences, it is certain that the debate will take a wide range and weeks will run into months before the final vote is reached.

WHY BANKERS ARE BARRED.

Glass, in Princeton Speech, Explains Wilson's Stand on Money Bill.

Special to The New York Times.

PRINCETON, N. J., Nov. 20.—Representative Carter Glass defended the Administration currency bill in a speech here this evening. He said its object was to free the country of the tendency which money has at present to drift to New York, where it is used "to gamble in the stock markets."

All bankers who thought that the Federal Reserve Board of six men to be established at Washington would contain representatives of the banks, Mr. Glass said, were foredoomed to disappointment. He had been in favor of allowing bank representation on the board, he said, until he and five bankers had a conference with President Wilson, who defied them to show him an instance of any Government board which included private representation. They were unable to do so.

As to the proposed division of the earnings of the Federal Reserve Banks, Mr. Glass defended the Administration scheme on the basis that the Government had to give the bankers some incentive to earn money for the Government as well as for themselves, which would not be true if the measure gave to the bankers the first 60 per cent. flat of the earnings.

The contention of Mr. Vanderlip that the money issue provided for by the bill was "Fiat Money" was characterized by Mr. Glass as foolish, inasmuch as it was based upon commercial assets, a paper issue, with a backing of gold, like the funds of the regional banks and the money of the stockholders—a backing much stronger than that of the present system. He added that one banker had told him yesterday that the backing was "too good and ought to be lowered."

Mr. Glass eulogized President Wilson and his Administration, and a sympathetic audience applauded every mention of the President's name.

While in Princeton Mr. Glass is being entertained by Edward L. Howe of the Princeton Bank and Prof. George B. McClellan, former Mayor of New York City.

BEST MOTOR ROUTE TO CAMBRIDGE GAME

For the many motorists who will make the occasion of the Yale-Harvard football game to-morrow a reason for a trip to Boston and Cambridge, the Touring Department of the Automobile Club of America has inspected the various routes and picked out the roads which give the best conditions. By following the itinerary given below the motorist will find good going practically all the way from New York to the Stadium. A convenient night stop may be made at Worcester, where good accommodations will be found, and from which it is a comfortable morning run to Cambridge, although the entire trip may, of course, be made in one day. The total distance is 234 miles.

Broadway, Central Park West, and Seventh Avenue should be followed to the 145th Street bridge over the Harlem; then east 149th Street, Mott Avenue, and the Grand Concourse into Fordham Road. The course is then over the railroad and under the elevated along Pelham Avenue and into Pelham Parkway, across the White Plains Road, the Washington Bridge, the railroad and the Bartow Bridge and through the crossroads. Then the autoist should take the right fork and later bear left and turn left into Main Street, New Rochelle. There is then quite plain sailing through Larchmont, Mamaroneck, Port Chester, Greenwich, Mianus, Stamford, and Noroton. At Darien the route bears right and at the water trough a turn is made to the left, following Wall Street to Main Street in Norwalk. The run is then through Westport and across the bridge, bearing right under the railroad and at once turning left into Southport. A mile and a half further on the autoist goes through Fairfield, and at the memorial water trough should turn left into Park Avenue and at once turn right into Washington Avenue. In Bridgeport the route takes the second turn left into Noble Avenue, and then the second turn right into Barnum Avenue, following it to Stratford. Then the run is through Bairds Corners and Milford, and enters New Haven by way of Bassett Avenue, Oak Street, Broad Street, George Street, College Street, and Chapel Street. The distance to New Haven by this route is seventy-five miles.

From New Haven the route goes through Montowese, North Haven, Wallingford, Meriden, and Berlin into Hartford, and then through East Hartford, Windsor, East Windsor Hill, Warehouse Point, Enfield, Thompsonville, and Long Meadow into Springfield. Leaving Springfield, caution should be observed after passing North Wilbraham Station. A turn to the left is made under the railroad and then at once to the right, crossing and leaving the trolley line and then following trolley tracks, crossing a bridge and passing under the railroad into Palmer. There the autoist must turn sharp left and at a school turn right and drive carefully under the railroad, then on, passing under the railroad again and through West Warren. Then the run goes through Warren, West Brookfield, Brookfield, East Brookfield, Spencer, Leicester, and Cherry Valley into Worcester. The route is then quite clear through Shrewsbury, Northboro, Marlboro, South Sudbury, Wayland, and Weston to Boston.

The belated motorist or he who does not wish to run into Boston before entering may go direct from Worcester to Cambridge, cutting off eight miles. To do this take the straight road in Weston at the church, avoiding the road to the right; cross the railroad at Stony Brook Station, follow the trolley through Waltham, cross Auburn Road at Beaver Brook Station, then run over the railroad and, at the square, turn left into Mount Auburn Street in Watertown. Bear right over the railroad at Mount Auburn Station, at the cemetery take the right fork into Brattle Street, and then the right fork again, passing Longfellow's house. Take the left fork into Mason Street and the second turn right at the Washington Elms into Garden Street, and so straight on to the common in Cambridge.

AUTO DEALERS ORGANIZE.

State Association Will Watch for Inimical Legislation at Albany.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, Nov. 20.—More than 200 automobile dealers at a meeting here to-day formed the Automobile Trade Association of New York State. The delegates felt that there is urgent need for an organization of this kind, due to the condition which arose last year, when nearly forty bills were introduced in the Legislature, all detrimental to automobilists.

The meeting was presided over by Arthur M. Day, President of the Automobile Dealers' Association of New York City. The object of the new organization is to foster the automobile trade, promote good roads, aid in the enactment and maintenance of uniform, consistent, and beneficial automobile laws, and defeat legislation detrimental to the automobile trade.

Headquarters will be established in connection with the Automobile Dealers' Association of New York City. A certificate of incorporation will be filed immediately, and a meeting for the adoption of the constitution and by-laws will be held here Dec. 2.

Marble III; Coal Inquiry Halted.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 20.—The Interstate Commerce Commission's investigation of the anthracite coal roads was to-day adjourned indefinitely, owing to the sudden illness of Commissioner John H. Marble, presiding. Mr. Marble was seized with acute indigestion last night and was unable to leave his bed this morning.

Approves International Road's Loan

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, Nov. 20.—The up-State Public Service Commission to-day authorized the International Railway Company to issue three classes of five per cent. gold mortgage bonds. The authorization was in three orders. No. 1 grant was for an issue of $1,111,000, to be used for additions and betterments and to retire certificates of Dec. 15, 1913. No. 2 was for an issue of $620,000 refunding and improvement bonds, and No. 3 for an issue of $680,000 to retire car trust certificates.

NO FUNDS, SAYS SMITH.

So Dock Commissioner Would Halt Brooklyn Condemnations.

Dock Commissioner R. A. C. Smith introduced in the Board of Estimate yesterday a resolution which may result in delaying the water front improvements in Brooklyn for years. It provides for the discontinuance of condemnation proceedings for property along the Brooklyn water front known as Parcels 1, 2, 3, and 4, between Fifty-seventh Street and Sixty-first Street, "until such time as the marginal railway is in operation, and the water front conditions in that vicinity have been readjusted." Commissioner Smith explained that the department was handicapped by lack of available funds. He said:

"Instead of having $70,000,000, as was believed in 1911, the department is limited to about $15,000,000, of which $4,000,000 will be required for improvement and building of long piers at West Forty-sixth Street, and a large part of the balance for marginal railroad and terminal facilities in South Brooklyn; so that there appears to be no funds available for the acquisition of this property or its improvement.

"In view of this situation, and taking into consideration the large amount of money which the city is about to spend for the marginal railway and terminal facilities in that section of Brooklyn, I recommend that the condemnation proceedings be discontinued until such time as the marginal railway is in operation and water front conditions in that vicinity have been readjusted."

There was opposition to the resolution on the part of representatives of the property owners, who said that thousands of dollars had been expended to aid the city in arriving at a correct valuation and that to stop proceedings now would be unfair and cause a further loss to property owners. The matter was adjourned for a week.

COAST FUEL FINE STANDS.

Norcross Must Pay $2,000 and Produce Books or Go to Jail.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 20.—The sentence of an indeterminate prison term and $2,000 fine imposed in the case of David C. Norcross, Secretary of the Western Fuel Company for contempt of court in failing to produce the books of the company before the Federal Grand Jury, was upheld to-day in the United States Circuit Court of Appeals. The prison sentence will not be enforced, however, if the books are produced before Dec. 20, although the fine stands in any event.

Eight officers and employes of the company are under indictment for alleged fraud amounting to $1,000,000 in drawback duties on imported coal. They will be placed on trial on Jan. 5.

These suits and the Diggs-Caminetti white slavery cases precipitated the charges of interference against Attorney General McReynolds, made by former District Attorney McNab, and the latter's resignation.

COMMODITIES MARKETS

The grain markets were dull, with net price changes of only fractional amounts and of no significance. Wheat, in fact, ended the day with practically no alteration from Wednesday's close, while corn was ½c. down for some options and steady in others. Oats was firm. In the cotton market declines of from 5 to 11 points occurred under slow selling. Cotton oil and provisions eased off.

WHEAT.

Price changes in the wheat market were within an extremely narrow range yesterday, and net changes of price were unimportant. The European markets were firmer, with reports of continued light offerings from leading exporting countries and some anxiety regarding future supplies, but good rains were reported in India, the Argentine situation has assumed a more favorable outlook, and an estimate was in circulation placing the total grain crops in Russia at 320,000,000 bushels over last year's yield.

The domestic situation was again rather bearish, as receipts in the Northwest continued to run ahead of expectations, and stocks in Minneapolis have increased 400,000 bushels so far this week, while Duluth has gained 716,000 bushels. Advices from Minneapolis reported that sales of cash wheat, but The Northwestern Miller said that flour sales fell off appreciably during the past week, and that buyers were generally resisting for lower prices. Argentine exports for the week were estimated at 400,000 bushels compared with 488,000 bushels last week and 1,000,000 bushels last year.

In the local cash market No. 2 red Winter wheat was quoted at 97½c. cost, insurance, and freight, New York export basis, and 99c. free on board; No. 1 Northern Duluth, 90¾c. free on board.

CORN.

The corn market was steady, but there was an absence of more than a moderate demand, and after an early advance of ½ to ⅝c prices developed an easier tone, and at the close were net unchanged to ⅛c lower. Offerings of new corn in the West were said to be somewhat more liberal, and the cash demand from the Southwest was somewhat unimportant. Argentine exports for the week were estimated at 2,700,000 bushels, compared with 2,625,000 the previous week and 5,236,000 last year.

In the local cash market old No. 3 yellow corn was quoted at 82c. elevator, domestic.

OATS.

The oats market was inactive and without special feature, and, in absence of aggressive operations, prices moved within a narrow range, closing net unchanged for the day. Receipts were moderate at Western points, but the demand was also light, and the cash situation showed little change.

The local cash market was quiet, standard was being quoted at 46c. to 47c.; No. 2, 47c. to 47½c.; No. 3, 45¼c. to 46c.; No. 4, 44½c. to 45c.; ordinary clipped white, 44½c. to 46½c.; fancy clipped white, 47c. to 48c. all elevator.

COTTON.

The cotton market sold off yesterday in anticipation of full ginning returns from the Census Bureau at the opening this morning and on reports of a slack spot demand. General business was not active, and much of the trading seemed to reflect switching between months, or a readjustment of such commitments following the revision of spot differences on Wednesday. The close was barely steady at a net decline of 5@11 points.

The opening was steady at an advance of 2@12 points, with December leading on covering and a scattered long demand. It was realized that the change in differences made by the Revision Committee that more bearing upon parities between the local contract and other markets than upon the general course of prices, and the market soon turned easier owing to unfavorable trade reports and a feeling that the Census Ginning figures at the opening to-day would help the larger estimates of the crop. There was enough covering or trade buying to cause a moderate reaction from time to time, but the general course of prices was downward, and the close was within a point or two of the lowest.

According to latest rumors, the completed returns of one of the prominent small statistical bureaus makes the ginning to Nov. 14 10,307,000 bales. The talk in local circles suggested an impression that the census report this morning would be in the neighborhood of 10,600,000 bales, thus indicating a ginning between Nov. 1 and Nov. 14 of a little more than 1,000,000 bales. Such a showing would show a greater volume of ginning for the first half of November this year than during any year since 1906, and hardly indicate figures well calculated to commend with that season when only 68.9 per cent. of the crop had been ginned to Nov. 14. Southern spot markets as officially reported were unsettled; middling, 14@14c.

	High.	Low.	Close.	Prev. close.
November	13.24	13.24	13.10@13.20	13.25

The local market for spot cotton was quiet and 10 points lower at 13.00c for middling uplands; sales, none; delivered on contracts, 1,300 bales.

COTTONSEED OIL.

The cottonseed oil market was moderately active and rather unsettled. The near positions were firmer owing to small offering and covering, but while there was considerable selling in the late positions, believed to be against crude, and prices at the close were lower, the decline was held in check by fairly active buying of May, believed to be for Western account.

PROVISIONS.

The provision market was firm early, in sympathy with the upturn in the hog market, but late in the day there was quite active selling of lard and ribs, and these markets developed an easier tone, although pork was relatively steady. Receipts of hogs at Chicago were 23,000; estimated for Friday, 20,000. Kansas City received 10,000 and Omaha 9,500.

COFFEE.

The coffee market declined 12 to 18 points at the opening, and during the first part of the day was heavy as a result of very disappointing developments in the French market, where prices were sharply lower, and influenced by continued liberal receipts in Brazil and further decline in the cost and freight market. Private cables from Havre said that the decline there was due to aggressive operations on the part of bears, and at the close there was a partial rally in that market. The undertone was still rather feverish, but strong interests were on the buying side, and it was thought that if no further unfavorable developments occur in Brazil the situation would be much healthier, as there has been heavy liquidation in all the leading markets as well as heavy purchases of cost-and-freight coffee in Brazil.

The local spot market was slightly lower, with Rio 7s quoted at 9½c.

MRS. HAVERTY WINS FIGHT WITH CABMEN

She Has Her Guards Hire Public Hacks That Take Places of Her Taxicabs.

DRIVERS WOULDN'T MOVE

Lawyer for Cab Owner Threatens Criminal Proceedings Against Those Fighting His Client.

Mrs. James T. Haverty, who has been fighting against having cabmen who refused to employ chauffeurs of drivers' unions operate cabs in front of her residence, 1 East 70th Street, won a victory yesterday when she succeeded in getting public hacks to replace the taxicabs which had been standing before the mansion and blocking traffic for a week.

Mrs. Haverty, some of whose guests during the recent dinner and reception characters have refused to send cars, from fear that they would be stopped by pickets, had engaged a number of taxicabs to wait for them. Each time one of these cabs left the curb it was followed by a cab driven by a striking cabman, who refused to move from in front of the house. Ordinarily the taxicabs would be replaced by others, but yesterday there were no cabs to be had.

Finally Mrs. Haverty, who had been watching the situation from a window, went out to the curb and asked a policeman to get her a cab. Then she told the driver to follow the taxicabs when they left. Mrs. Haverty's guards followed the cab, and the public hacks came back. They made no effort to follow. Mrs. Haverty then told the drivers to go to the Plaza Hotel and wait. There they remained for several hours, but finally they submitted and went back to their old and more obscure stands, whom the summonses were served were in the police court yesterday morning, the matter was adjourned until this morning. Meanwhile Mrs. Haverty wanted the case settled by Nov. 26, but Mr. Browne insisted upon a speedy settlement of the controversy. Mr. Browne said last night:

"Mrs. Haverty has thirty-two cabs running and as far as my business is concerned we have won the fight. But I intend pursuing the men who have so wantonly attacked her. I believe I can also prove that there has been a conspiracy to ruin Mrs. Haverty. These matters will be turned over to the grand jury, and I shall take action in the matter within a few days."

It is expected that Mr. Browne will consult with District Attorney Whitman and endeavor to turn the proof he has collected against the men who have been fighting his client. He said that he was sure a Grand Jury investigation would result in indictments.

FLORIDA LAND MEN HELD.

Eight Officials of Everglades Company Indicted in Kansas City.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Nov. 20.—Eight officials and agents of the Florida Fruit Lands Company were indicted by the Federal Grand Jury here to-day on a charge of conspiracy to use the mails to defraud in connection with the sale of 150,000 acres of land in the Everglades district of Florida.

Those named in the indictments are Richard J. Bolles, Jacksonville, Fla.; George A. Paddock, Chicago; Jesse L. Billingsly, Jacksonville, Fla., and John Mathews, R. J. Martin, J. R. Borders, Edward C. Chambers and A. D. Hart of Kansas City. Each man was indicted on twenty-one counts.

The Florida Fruit Lands Company, organized four years ago by R. J. Bolles, is said to control nearly 500,000 acres of land in the Everglades. It was alleged that 150,000 acres of this land was placed in the hands of Martin and Borders, sales agents in Kansas City, and sold by them in small tracts to 12,000 persons, mostly in Kansas City and adjoining territory.

The Grand Jury investigation was demanded by small purchasers who were dissatisfied with drainage conditions on their tracts. It was said that more than $2,000,000 was involved in the sales contracts and that more than $700,000 was paid to the company.

Some of the purchasers said their tracts were entirely under water, and could be reached only by boat. Company agents asserted that the State of Florida was under contract to drain the land, and that roads soon were to be dug and the land put in condition for cultivation.

FOR WATER POWER CONTROL

National Conservation Congress Denounces Private Monopoly.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—Monopolistic control of water power in private hands was denounced, with a declaration that no water power rights owned by the public ever should be removed from public ownership, by the National Conservation Congress, which adjourned here late to-day.

This climax of the water power fight which had agitated the congress for several days came after the Committee on Resolutions, to which had been referred divergent reports from the Waterways Committee, submitted that the matter had been taken from its hands by action of the convention yesterday in adopting general principles upon which the Waterways Committee agreed.

Secretary Lane urged Government ownership of railways in Alaska, and predicted wonderful development there. "Instead of giving land grants in Alaska to railroad companies to build the railroads," said Secretary Lane, "the Government ought to build the railroads, and we, as the Government, should take the land grants to ourselves."

Efforts of the Arkansas delegation, headed by Walter Powell of Little Rock, which bolted the congress yesterday to spread the revolt, failed to-day, but another effort to get State rights delegates to meet with Arkansas will be made to-morrow. If there is any response to the Arkansas appeal plans for another conservation congress will be made. Most of the delegates, however, left Washington to-night.

DEFENDS GENERAL FILM CO.

Independent Exchanges Not Forced to Sell Out to It, Says Long.

Samuel Long, President of the Kalem Moving Picture Company, testifying yesterday morning at the Federal investigation of the so-called film trust, in session at the Hotel Manhattan, said that the moving-picture business had grown to such proportions that standardized business methods were needed. Mr. Long was preceded on the stand by J. Stuart Blackton of the Vitagraph Moving Picture Company.

The General Film Company, Mr. Long testified, was formed to place the business upon a better basis. He said that there was no lack of keen competition between the companies allied to the General Film and the independent film exchanges.

"We are paying more for motion films than ever before. We used to pay from $20 to $25 a week to actors and actresses," he said, "but now we pay as high as $200 a week. Our stage directors get as much as $200 a week."

Mr. Long asserted that each member of the General Film Company was a licensed film manufacturer. Under cross-examination the witness said:

"It was understood that the General Film Company would buy independent film exchanges as part of the work of its organization. We did buy a number of exchanges. Their owners came to us with offers to sell out to us. We did not compel them to sell their exchanges to us."

THE WEATHER.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—Temperatures much above the seasonal average prevailed over the country yesterday, the exception of the Lake region, where it was slightly colder than on the day before. The warmest weather was in the Southwest, where the thermometer registered from 70 to 80 degrees in Texas and Oklahoma. Over the eastern part of the country the weather was generally fair, but in the Lake region and the Northwest it was cloudy, with rain in some districts.

It will be colder Friday in the plains states. Local rains or snow are probable in the Lake region and the Northwest. Generally fair weather is indicated for the Atlantic coast states, with moderate temperatures. Saturday will be colder over the eastern part of the country, with fair weather generally.

THE CIVIL SERVICE.

City.

The Municipal Civil Service Commission has approved the following:

Report of Chief Examiner Murray recommending that the application of the Commissioner of Public Works for the transfer of William Goldsmith from assistant engineer, engineering, and Samuel Shapiro from draftsman to assistant engineer, be denied because of the existence of preferred list.

Report of Mr. Murray relative to a letter from the Police Commissioner under date of Nov. 11. Mr. Murray says that as it appears Commissioner Waldo has no intention of keeping the efficiency records of the patrolmen in accordance with the rules prescribed by the commission, the commission is without power to hold further promotion examinations for the civilian employes of this department.

Report of Mr. Murray, recommending that certain promotion examinations requested by the secretary to the Commissioner of Public Works, Manhattan, be allowed.

Communication from Mr. Fuld relative to his investigation of statements as to preference made in the application of list of assistant electrical engineer, grade 2.

Supplemental report of Mr. Fuld, relative to his investigation of statements as to experience claimed in the qualifications on the list of marine engineer. The recommendation is made that no further investigation be made in the case of William J. Joyce. Attention is called to the case of Howard Van Pelt, who requested that his name be stricken from the list because of the fact that he is unable to verify certain statements relative to short periods of former employment. Mr. Fuld recommends that his request be disregarded, as all other statements made by him have been verified.

United States.

The United States Civil Service Commission announces an open competitive examination at the New York Custom Houses for shop apprentices, for men only, on Dec. 10, to fill vacancies in the Bureau of Standards, Department of Commerce, at salaries ranging from $480 to $540 a year, and vacancies requiring similar qualifications. The Bureau of Standards furnishes excellent opportunities for young men having elementary training who desire to take courses in the advanced work of mechanician. The bureau employs a number of instrument makers and other assistants. Subject to the provisions of the Civil service rules, appointments to positions

THE REAL ESTATE FIELD

Dongan Investing Company Buys Thirteenth Street Loft—Three Upper West Side Apartments Figure in Important Trade—New Dyckman Theatre Leased for $300,000—C. K. G. Billings Pays $300 000 for Virginia Farm.

An apartment house deal on the upper west side in the Columbia University locality which involved a trade in which Harlem property was given in part payment formed one of the features of the realty market yesterday. The apartment sold was the six-story structure known as the Bellemore, at 605 and 607 West 115th Street, west of Broadway.

It covers a plot 50 by 100.11, and was sold by Mrs. C. L. Kellogg to Moses Misch, who gave in part payment the two five-story flats at 110 and 112 West 120th Street, each on a plot 27 by 99.11, and the three-story dwelling at 168 West 130th Street, on plot 20 by 99.11. Mrs. Kellogg purchased the Morningside Heights apartment just sold last June. J. C. Hough & Co. acted as the brokers in the deal.

Thirteenth Street Loft in Trade.

Jeremiah W. Dimick has sold the eleven-story loft building at 8 and 10 West Thirteenth Street to the Dongan Investing Company, Adolphus G. Barthold, President. SAYS VAIL PLANNED A TELEPHONE TRUST

B. G. Hubbell Testifies That A. T. & T. Sought Control of $400,000,000 Independents.

CHICAGO, Nov. 20.—An attempt by the American Telephone and Telegraph Company to absorb independents with an appraised value of $400,000,000, was made a year and a half ago, according to B. G. Hubbell, President of the Federal Telephone and Telegraph Company of Buffalo, who testified here to-day for the Government in its prosecution of the American Company on charges of violation of the Sherman anti-trust law.

Mr. Hubbell asserted that Theodore N. Vail, President of the Western Union Telegraph Company, and a Director of the American company, and H. P. Davison, member of J. P. Morgan & Co., tried to bring about the deal.

Mr. Hubbell said that Mr. Vail at a meeting of the owners of thirty of the larger independent telephone companies in Chicago, about eighteen months ago, and suggested that there might be a division of territory by the American and independent companies. The plan was intended to stop profit cutting competition, the witness said.

"The upshot of his talk was the appointment of a committee of seven, of which I was one, to confer further with Mr. Vail and also with Mr. Davison in New York on a possible method of adopting such a scheme.

"Such a conference was held in New York and arrangements were made to appraise the value of the 20,000 independent companies and also to divide them into classes. The appraisal was necessary to make way for a readjustment of the stockholdings of the independents, which would go out of business if the plans matured.

"Pending the furtherance of such plans the independents and the American company, through Mr. Vail and the committee of seven, agreed to a truce," Mr. Hubbell continued. "The principal provision of this truce was that the American company, until further notice, should not attempt to absorb any of the independent companies.

"In July, 1912, however, less than two months after this truce, the American company secretly acquired the Kansas City Long Distance Telephone Company, an independent. This breach of promise resulted in a break in the plans which were under way and nothing further has ever been done with them."

GUILTY OF ARSON PLOT.

Harms, Liberty Hotel Man, Caught in Trap and Convicted.

Special to The New York Times.

MONTICELLO, N. Y., Nov. 20.—Richard Harms, owner of a large hotel at Liberty, Sullivan County, was found guilty of attempted arson here to-day after a trial lasting ten days. Harms was charged with attempting to burn his hotel on Aug. 17.

W. H. Chalvin, a detective, was sent to Liberty to shadow Harms and boarded at his hotel for two weeks. He discovered a room where Harms had preparations made to start a fire, and was told that the hotel man had offered to pay $200 to his barkeeper to start the blaze. This was reported to the Liberty Business Men's Association, and it was planned to have the bartender engage in conversation with Harms while a committee was listening. Frank Bridges and Isham Young, two bank cashiers of Liberty, and Dr. William Buckley listened outside of the room where the bartender and Harms were talking. They heard the hotel owner repeat his offer of $200 and say he would pretend to be sick and go to a sanitarium before the time for the fire so he could prove an alibi. Harms then was arrested.

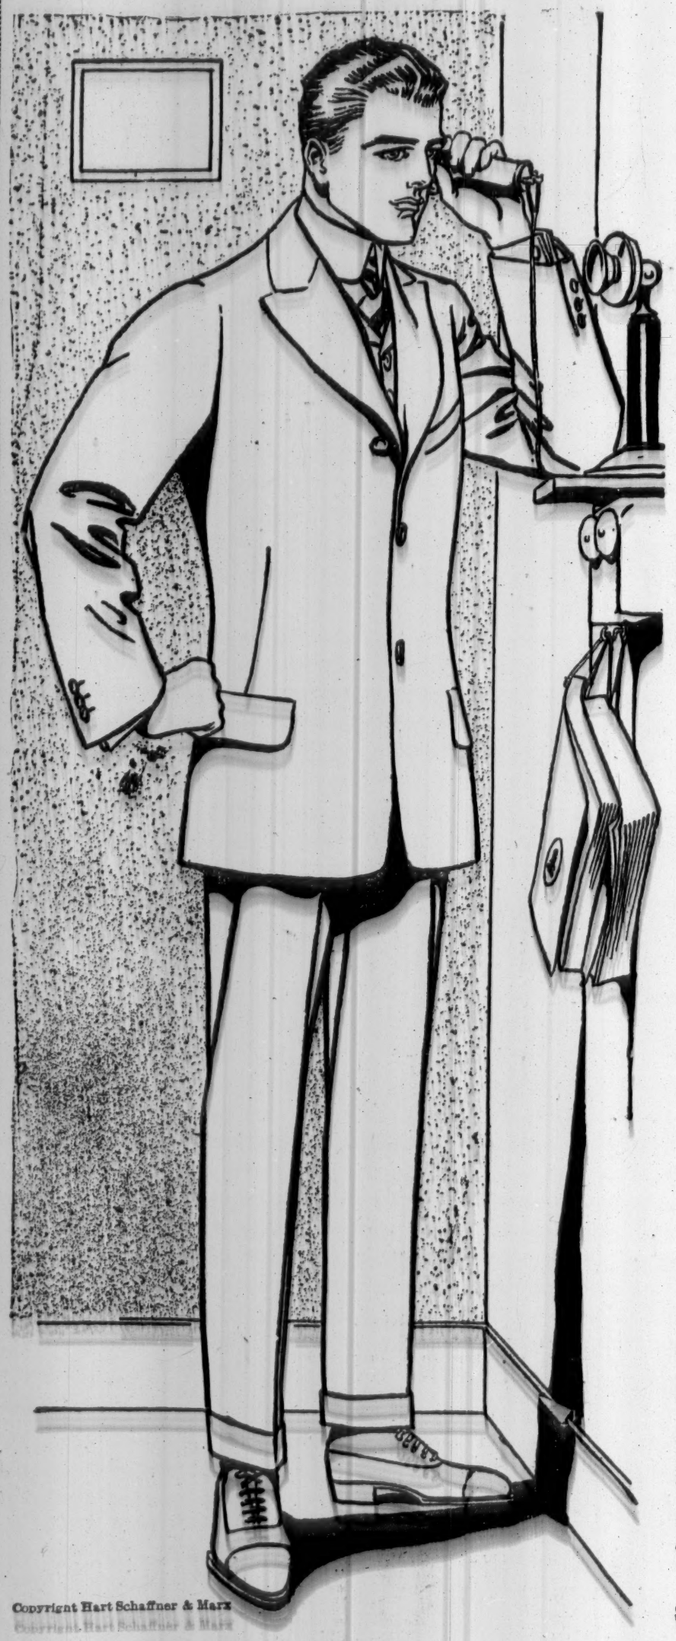
The Home of Hart, Schaffner & Marx Clothes

Thanksgiving



Copyright Hart Schaffner & Marx

EACH Thanksgiving Day as it comes around should bring with it the thought: "What can I do to make my next Thanksgiving more thankful?"

And here is one way—there are thousands of others—but here is the one that is uppermost in our minds right now.

You spend a certain amount each year for your clothes. Now if you can get better, more becoming clothes for your money, you have an added reason for Thanksgiving, which is where our Wallach-Hart, Schaffner & Marx clothes come in.

For these suits and overcoats of ours at $25 or any other price from $18 to $50 really are far better in style and quality than any others in New York at their prices.

There is only one way to prove it—which is, to wear them. And if you buy a suit or overcoat of us—you just can't lose, for if at any time you are dissatisfied with it, bring it back and get your money—another reason for Thanksgiving.

Suits $18 to $50 Overcoats $18 to $75

Hats

OUR Wallach Hats are famous all over New York for their style and quality at $2. Our Wallach Silk Toppers at $5, $6 and $7 have the sort of style you would look for in a $10 hat.

As to Stetson Hats—there can be no better hats made at their prices than our Wallach-Stetsons—$3.50, $5 and $8.

$50 Dress Suits $32.50

THE recent changes in the tariff caused Hart, Schaffner & Marx to discontinue certain lines of dress suit fabrics. That is why we are able to offer these $50 dress suits made of imported cloths at $32.50.

Haberdashery

LIKE our hats and clothing, our furnishing goods offer superb values:

Shirts, Gloves, Hosiery, Underwear, Neckwear, Sweaters—everything in the way of haberdashery.

If you have no time to call—telephone—we will send anything you want.
